ARE MASSING FOR ATTACK

Guns of the Japanese Army Will Soon Roar on Mukden.

CZAR'S MEN READY

Reinforcements of Troops and of Artillery Have Been Rushed to Them.

CHINESE GOVERNOR SCARED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

SIN-MIN-TUN, Sept. 16.—The Japanese are gradually closing in on Mukden, and no movement will be made against Tie pass until the fate of Mukden has been decided. Strong parties of Japanese have been reported to the northeast of Mukden. Their object is supposed to be the turning of the Russian flank.

The Russians are manifesting great activity, and are strengthening the defenses at both Mukden and Tie pass. Reinforcements are continually arriving from the north, together with new guns and supplies of food and ammunition and heavy clothing for the troops, as if the campaign was expected to continue well into the cold season.

The Japanese center is still at Yen-Tai, although a strong force is located at Pai-Ta-Pu, a short distance south of Mukden. Another body of Japanese is reported near Shaho-Sze. This is thought to be a part of Oku's command, and is believed to indicate that a general movement to surround is already under way.

MUKDEN, Sept. 16.—Early this morning 26 wounded men belonging to Maj.-Gen. Mistchenko's Cossack division were brought into Mukden. Particulars of the skirmish are not available. It is not clear whether it was a simple outpost affair, or the beginning of the real Japanese advance on Mukden. It is reported here that the Japanese are advancing on Mukden from the east. A strong force of Russians is ready to meet them.

Japanese Are Massing.

Reconnaissances have established the fact that the Japanese are massing near Yen-Tai and Bentsiaputze. Bodies of Japanese are also moving in the Liao river valley.

According to information from Chinese sources the Japanese are leaving a garrison at Liao-Yang and the whole Chinese population is working on the Japanese defenses there.

The Chinese also report that the Japanese are running regular trains between Port Dalny and Niuchwang, the rolling stock having come from San Francisco. Mukden merchants who have dealings with Niuchwang say that if the Japanese occupy Mukden they intend to connect the railroad with the Sin-Min-Tin terminus of the Shang-Hai-Kwan and Tientsin railroad, about 35 miles west of Mukden.

Until three days ago the Japanese had not finished burying or burning their dead around Liao-Yang.

The chief Chinese official here remains outwardly friendly, but he no longer cooperates with the Russians, and the Chinese refuse assistance to the Russian transports or to furnish them with supplies.

Fears for Sacred Tombs.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Under date of September 14, the Daily Mail's correspondent at Mukden telegraphs as follows:

"On instructions from Pekin, the Chinese governor has made representations politely requesting both armies not to fight at Mukden, owing to the danger of the demolition of sacred tombs. No response has been received. Rich merchants here are preparing to escape to Sin-Min-Tin.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 17, 2:25 a. m.—The war office has heard the report of an apparent Japanese concentration against the flanks of Gen. Kuropatkin's army, preparatory to an advance toward Mukden. While it is not in a position to confirm or deny the report, it would surprise the war office should Field Marshal Oyama have been able in such a short time, to organize his forces for a serious advance northward.

A dispatch from Mukden says the Russian patrols up to the present time have repulsed all Japanese outpost attacks, and that communications with Sin-Min-Tin have not been interrupted. Practically all the Russian stragglers according to this dispatch have arrived at Mukden.

Samsonoff Is Promoted.

Gen. Samsonoff has been promoted to the rank of general of division.

It is announced that the Circum-Baikal railway will be opened at the end of September.

A rumor has been in circulation here for some time that Vice Admiral Doubasoff is to succeed Vice Admiral Avellan as the head of the admiralty department. In well-informed circles the change is regarded as quite possible. Should it prove to be true there are reasons for supposing it to be the outcome of the controversy over contraband, in which Admiral Avellan strongly opposed any concessions to the British and American protest.

Admiral Doubasoff is one of the three naval heroes of the Turkish war. Skrydloff, Shestakoff and Doubasoff were associated in the famous torpedo attack upon the Turkish monitors. Doubasoff is extremely popular in the navy, and is considered to be a man of great force and resolution. He is at present a member of the consulting council of the navy.

BULL FIGHTERS MAY PROCEED WITH SHOW

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—Judge McElhinney of the Clayton circuit court today sustained a motion to dissolve the injunction obtained by Attorney General Crowe of Missouri to prevent further exhibitions at the buff fighting ring at St. Louis. Attorney General Crow will carry the case to the supreme court.

Kuropatkin Wants Officers.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—(Copyright Cable.)—Gen. Kuropatkin telegraphs that he wants officers, and great efforts are being made to provide the same. An official order has been issued relieving employes of the state railways qualified to serve as officers.

ORDERS TO STOP RUSSIAN BOATS

Are Issued to the Wyoming of the Pacific Squadron.

TWO COMING HERE

Can't Enter Puget Sound Until They Declare Their Intention to This Government.

LENA AT MARE ISLAND YARD

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.

The navy department received today confidential information that there were two more Russian cruisers off the Pacific coast near the United States. The news was conveyed to San Francisco and also to Bremerton. Orders were issued for the Wyoming to be held in readiness.

It is understood that the Russian vessels are to be stopped if they try to enter Puget Sound, and that they can neither coal nor have any facilities until this government is advised of their intentions.

Admiral Goodrich today reported the result of the investigation of the Lena by United States naval officers. The report stated that the officers found 12 of the 22 boilers on the Lena unfit for use, and that the repairs to boilers alone would require 10 weeks.

Minister Takashira called upon Acting Secretary of State Adee today to make inquiry concerning the terms of parole to be granted to the Russian crew of the Lena. He was informed that the details of the parole would be arranged at San Francisco by Admirals Goodrich and McCalla, but that generally it was proposed to allow the men within the limits of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—The Lena was taken to Mare Island navy yard late this afternoon under escort of the United States cruiser Marblehead.

RUSSIA WILL ALLY HERSELF WITH JAPAN

Muscovite Statesman Makes Startling Prediction Regarding Manner in Which Conflict Will Terminate.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent declares that a Russian statesman, whose name, if revealed, would wing his utterance with lightning rapidity over the globe, asserted Friday that it was his impression that the war might end sooner than people imagine, not through mediation, but through mutual recognition of the ruinous nature of the conflict, which would lead to negotiations that would result in a Russo-Japanese alliance.

He contended, the correspondent says, that although Russia in the end could exhaust and crush Japan, yet Japan could hold out long enough to place an intolerable and useless strain upon Russia. Russia, therefore, was confronted with the alternative either of Japan's ruin, purchased by ruinous sacrifices, or of a treaty of cordial friendship, followed in the fullness of time by that offensive and defensive alliance which for years constituted the ideal of the Japanese government.

IN 13 DAYS RUSSIA LOST 22,058 MEN

This Includes Two Generals and 256 Officers, and Fortifications Estimated to Have Cost $30,000,000.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Sept. 17.—Exact figures of the Russian losses in killed, wounded and missing in the operations before Liao-Yang, from August 13 to August 26, have been received by the general staff, according to the Journal's St. Petersburg correspondent. These amount to two generals, 256 officers and 21,800 soldiers. In addition 133 guns were lost.

The material losses include fortifications costing $30,000,000.

JOHN BARRETT'S ACTIVITY IS CAUSE OF JEALOUSY

Minister to Panama Seems to Figure Too Prominently in the News from the Isthmus.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

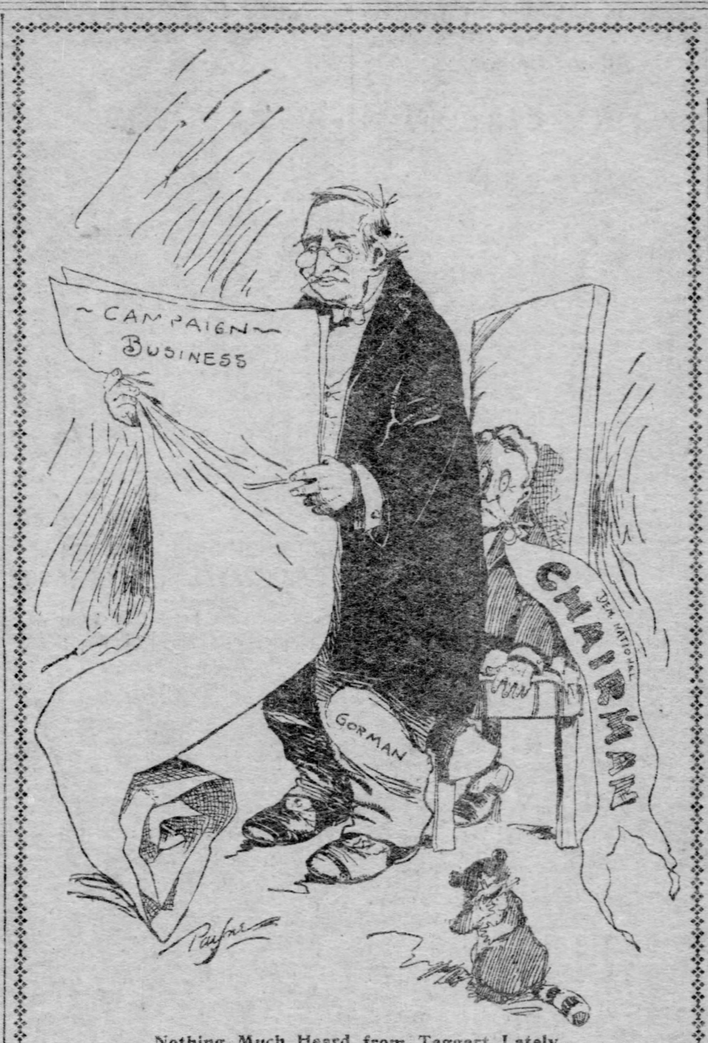
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—John Barrett, United States minister to Panama, has been extremely active since reaching his post. The prominence with which he figures in news from the isthmus has caused some dissatisfaction on the part of other persons engaged in the work of making the canal a reality. The efficiency of the work has not, however, been badly affected by this.

Mr. Barrett is giving a series of dinners and entertainments at the American legation in an effort to get the best people of the republic into intimate friendly relations with the United States. He recently made a trip to inspect the qualifications of Chiriqui lagoon for an American naval base and now, according to dispatches from him to the state department, he has undertaken to solve the question of ownership to a strip of land lying on the border between Panama and Costa Rica. One American fruit company claims the land under concession from Costa Rica, the other a grant from Panama. This land lies in the tract involved in a boundary dispute arbitrated by President Loubet.

R. M. Arango, graduate of an American technical school, has been appointed a consulting engineer on the staff of Chief Engineer Wallace, now at Panama.

Bismarck's Condition Critical.

HAMBURG, Sept. 16.—Prince Herbert Bismarck is very weak and his condition is most critical.



Nothing Much Heard from Taggart Lately.

RUSSIA'S REPLY IS CONCESSION

Accedes to American and British Views on Question of Contraband.

PROTECT NEUTRAL COMMERCE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—The Russian government today, through Count Lamsdorff, minister of foreign affairs, orally presented to British Ambassador Hardinge, its answer to the American and British notes regarding contraband of war.

In principle Russia meets the views of the American and British governments regarding foodstuffs, coal and other fuel, as being conditional contraband of war, distinctly placing them in the category of articles susceptible of uses both in war and peace, and as such, only confiscable when consigned to blockaded ports or destined for the military or naval forces of the enemy. Shipments in the ordinary course of trade by private persons or firms, even to an enemy's port, may be considered prima facie not contraband; but upon this point distinct reservation is made.

The simple fact of consignment by private persons does not preclude the possibility that the articles are not ultimately destined for belligerent forces, and Russia insists that it be not necessarily regarded as conclusive evidence of the innocent character of the goods. In other words, irregular ships' papers, or other suspicious circumstances, might vitiate the assumption of innocent character; but where such suspicion is raised, the burden of proof to warrant legal seizers is to rest upon the captor. Count Lamsdorff pointed out, however, that captain of merchantmen also owed a duty in such cases.

Russia's reply will not involve public amendment of Russian contraband and price regulations, but in effect it becomes an official interpretation of the original regulations, and as such will hereafter govern naval commanders and prize courts. In this way, Russia preserves her dignity by not making an open surrender in the interest of the rights of neutral commerce. In some respects, however, there is good ground for the belief that the contention of the United States that railway material and certain kinds of machinery be classed as conditional contraband will not be acceptable. To that extent Count Lamsdorff's reply may not be satisfactory to the United States. Count Lamsdorff's victory in this controversy, while not absolutely complete, is noteworthy as having been achieved against powerful adversaries.

LONDON, [illegible]—The foreign office, it is understood, considers Russia's reply on the question of contraband satisfactory, inasmuch as the concessions are a distinct yielding to the claims of Great Britain. According to the British view there are still open certain questions of principle, but it is believed that these will be arranged in the course of further negotiations.

SEAMAN FROM OHIO WASHED OVERBOARD AND DROWNED

WOODS HOLE, MASS., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—While Admiral Baker's fleet was maneuvering during yesterday's gale, C. C. Young of Ohio, an ordinary seaman on the Missouri, was washed overboard. Two of his fellow seamen jumped in to save him, but he was quickly swept out of reach by the terrific seas and drowned. The two sailors who sought to rescue Young were picked up in an exhausted condition.

JAPANESE WILL CALL OUT NEW ARMY OF VETERANS

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Shanghai reports that the Japanese scheme to raise a first national army of men from 32 to 40 years of age, a majority of whom have previously served with the colors, will provide a total strength of 120,000 men, who will be ready for service within a month.

RAILROAD MEN TRAP ROBBERS

Engineer Runs So Fast They Can't Jump—Operator Telegraphs for Officers.

PLACED IN BLOOMSBURG JAIL

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Sept. 16.—After robbing and threatening to kill two railroad telegraph operators, two robbers were cleverly captured this morning on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, owing to the presence of mind of Engineer William Bickert and Operator James Johnson. In their effort to escape they boarded [illegible]ert's engine and he kept it running [illegible]pidly that they were afraid to jump.

The [illegible]s occurred at Lofty at midnight, [illegible]high Valley and the Philadelphia [illegible]eading operators being attacked and robbed. As the thieves broke in upon him, however, Operator Johnson of the Philadelphia & Reading was in communication with the Tamaqua operator and gave him the alarm.

After robbing Johnson, the thieves climbed into Bickert's engine and ordered him to speed down the road. As they did this, Johnson sent word of the robbery to Tamaqua, and orders were flashed back for Bickert to run full speed to Catawissa. Johnson gave him these orders as the engine passed the station and Bickert put on a full head of steam. The tracks were cleared rapidly and he was given the right of way to Catawissa. The engine sped along so rapidly that the thieves were afraid to jump and before they realized what was happening the engine had reached the Catawissa station, was surrounded by officers and the two were captured.

They are John Singer and George Snyder of Centralia. They were taken in a special train to the jail at Bloomsburg, Pa., today. The railroad officials believe the men are guilty of several railroad holdups in this part of the state lately.

Prince Passes Examination.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Prince Adelbert, third son of Emperor William, after three and a half years' service as a sailor, has passed the examination for naval officers and will shortly begin a year's service on the Asiatic station as a lieutenant on board the cruiser Hertha.

First Frost Experienced.

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The first frost was experienced here last night, and much damage was done throughout the rural districts, according to farmers. The thermometer was below 45 degrees.

PENROSE IN A PROPHECY

He Looks for Roosevelt to Carry New York and Maryland.

MAJORITY OF 60,000

It Will Be Given Republican Ticket in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

SO PREDICTS M. M. GARLAND

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 16.

Chairman Penrose made his first official prediction tonight when he said:

"Sentiment favorable to Roosevelt and Fairbanks is growing stronger every day. President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance has strengthened him in New York city, and, while it is a little early to make predictions, I rather look for him to carry New York state. In my judgment he will also carry Maryland. The sentiment for him in Maryland is growing stronger right along."

Plans are now under way for the meeting of the Republican state committee in this city on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The committee will fill the vacancies on the electoral ticket. Wednesday Congressmen Bingham, Castor, Morrell, Adams, Moon and McCreary will go to Baltimore as a committee on reception, and will accompany Senator Fairbanks from that town to Reading, where he will speak that night before the convention of Republican clubs.

Garland Also Predicts.

"Pittsburgh and Allegheny county will give 60,000 majority for Roosevelt and the Republican national ticket in November."

This prediction was made by Surveyor of the Port M. M. Garland of Pittsburgh in the course of a talk at the Republican state headquarters.

"The mass meeting to be held in Pittsburgh on September 30," said Mr. Garland, "will open the active campaign in Allegheny, and there is every indication that it will prove a big affair. Allegheny and Pittsburgh are loyal to the Republican party, and I look to see a majority of 60,000 given the ticket in November.

"Sentiment has already been aroused throughout our section for the ticket, and the campaign promises to be a hustling one. The ticket and platform appeal to all Republicans, and the county and city organizations are confident of bringing out the biggest vote for Roosevelt that has ever been given a Republican candidate."

Among the callers at headquarters today were ex-Representative S. A. Kendall and Eugene Floto of Meyersdale, John Matthias of Oil City; Dr. T. L. Flood and son, Col. N. A. Flood of Meadville, M. M. Garland, Pittsburgh; F. R. Schofield, Clearfield, and Judge Cyrus Gordon of Clearfield.

Swope's Chances Good.

The senatorial contest to fill the Patton vacancy will probably go to Clearfield, the county in which the dead senator resided. Clearfield has but two candidates, R. D. Swope and Col. E. A. Irvin. Swope's chances are said to be good. Clinton county has no candidates, and Center, the other county composing the district, offers either Capt. H. Quigley or E. R. Chambers.

The primaries will be held tomorrow, the conventions September 22, and the conferees will meet at Lock Haven September 23. CHESTER. D. POTTER.

PREACHER CAME BACK, GOT A HOT RECEPTION

Minister Who Eloped With a Doctor's Wife Was Promptly Ordered Out of Town on His Return.

BROKEN BOW, NEB., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Rev. S. P. Morris, who deserted his wife and children several months ago and eloped with the wife of Dr. Day, returned to the city yesterday, and was met with outstretched hands by Dr. Day. Mrs. Day returned home several days ago and was forgiven by her husband, and it is supposed that it was through her intercession that her husband was led to forgive the preacher.

Last night a mob formed and prepared to tar and feather the minister and ride him out of town on a rail. The mob was finally dispersed by officers. This morning 30 prominent citizens called on Morris, handed him a ticket to Omaha and saw to it that he left on the first train.

CAN SEE AS WELL AS HEAR OVER THE TELEPHONE WIRE

Oregon Man Has an Invention by Which the Face of the Person at the Other End of the Line Can Be Seen.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 16.—A telephone arrangement by which those speaking may also see the face of the person at the other end of the line has been invented by a Portland man, J. B. Fowler. Ever since 1878 Fowler has been working upon a device by which two persons at a distance might see one another's features. Two months ago he hit upon the idea, which, followed out, has resulted in the apparatus exhibited by him today for the first time.

How far it will be possible to see faces over the wire must yet be ascertained, for Fowler has kept the entire line within his own residence. To the observers there appears an apparatus much resembling the front of a large camera. There is also a telephonic transmitter. To see over the wire one puts his eyes to the tube which corresponds to the lens of a camera.

Miss Lillian Fowler went to the other end of the wire, 25 feet away, in another room and any reflection by mirrors was out of the question. The face showed up as distinct and clear as a miniature painting. As she spoke her lips were seen to move. The observer was in darkness that he might see the more clearly. Fowler has not yet doubled his apparatus so that both persons may observe one another as they speak. He believes that this can be easily done.

WEST VIRGINIA IS AROUSED

Republican Hosts Greet Fairbanks in Triumphant Tour.

CROSSES THE STATE

The Candidate Makes Twelve Speeches and Is Cheered by Enthusiastic Multitude.

EVIDENCE OF PROSPERITY

By WALTER J. CHRISTY.
(Staff Correspondent.)

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 16.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican candidate for vice president, made a trip across West Virginia today and is tonight satisfied that there is no reason for believing that this is a doubtful state. Thousands of enthusiastic Republicans attended the meetings he addressed and there was nothing to indicate party apathy or dissatisfaction. Tomorrow he will speak at a big rally in this city.

Most of the speechmaking today took place in the Second congressional district, represented by A. G. Dayton of Philippi. The congressman managed the trip. When it was arranged to have Senator Fairbanks come here to open the state campaign, Mr. Dayton decided to take advantage of the vice presidential candidate's presence in his district. He planned 12 meetings, 10 of them composed of his constituents, all of which Senator Fairbanks addressed from the rear end of a train.

It was hard work, but the big Hoosier stood it well and showed great ability for this sort of campaigning. He has been pictured by Democrats as cold and distant. The opposite is the case. He has an easy manner, is a pleasant talker and takes well with the crowd. It is wonderful the amount of hands he can shake when he works both of his long arms.

Always Gives a Clear Answer.

Interruptions do not worry him and the man in the audience that asks a question gets a prompt and clear answer. During the entire day, with one exception, the kindliest treatment was accorded the senator and his party. It was when the journey was almost ended, as the train was speeding toward Salem, in the gas belt, that some one fired on the train. Congressman Dayton and a brakeman were sitting on the rear platform. The railroader had his hand burned by the explosion. Senator Fairbanks was resting in his stateroom at the time.

The run today was through Jefferson, Berkeley, Morgan, Mineral, Preston, Taylor, Harrison and Wood counties. Stops were made at Harpers Ferry, Martinsburg, Paw Paw, Cumberland, Md., Keyser, Piedmont, Terra Alta, Rowlesburg, Tunnelton, Grafton, Clarksburg and Salem. The route led through a picturesque country and one that has developed greatly under the last eight years of Republican rule. On every hand was evidence of prosperity and contentment.

Compliments from Davis.

The party left Washington one hour late this morning, but made up the time before Parkersburg was reached. It so happened that Senator Henry G. Davis, the Democratic candidate for vice president, was in the Washington station at the same time Mr. Fairbanks was preparing to start on his stumping tour of West Virginia. "Uncle Gassaway" sent his compliments to the Republican nominee.

In the party on the special train were Senator Fairbanks, his son Frederick C. Fairbanks, Senator N. B. Scott, Congressman Dayton, Charles F. Teter, Senator Ira E. Robinson of Grafton, Charles Robinson of Fairmont, Fred Blue of Grafton, W. E. Glasscock, secretary of the West Virginia state committee, and Track L. Jeffords of Harpers Ferry.

Senator Scott and Congressman Dayton took turns in presenting the vice presidential nominee to the audiences. In nearly all of his speeches Senator Fairbanks urged the Republicans to return Mr. Scott to the senate and Mr. Dayton to the house. He said that they are two of the strongest members of the lawmaking bodies.

Little Boom for President.

At one point Mr. Dayton introduced Senator Fairbanks as the next president of the United States. Someone laughed and the congressman corrected the statement by saying, "I mean in 1908."

Senator Scott and Congressman Dayton say that they are satisfied that Roosevelt and Fairbanks will have 25,000 majority in West Virginia and that Republican governor and legislature will be elected. "The Republicans have been educated to vote a straight ticket down here," said Mr. Dayton. "They never cut and will not do it this year. They believe as old John Randolph did. He was a party man even to supporting his worst enemy. After he had cast the ballot and the enemy wanted to shake hands Randolph said:

"No sir, be heaven my hand is my own, but my vote belongs to my party."

Senator Fairbanks, Senators Scott and Elkins, Col. Dawson, the nominee for governor, Charles E. Teter, Congressman Dayton and others will make speeches here tomorrow afternoon at the great Republican rally to be held in the park. Tonight the city is filled with Republicans from all over the state. The ovation accorded Mr. Fairbanks on his arrival here this afternoon was one of the greatest demonstrations in the history of the town.

Bitterness Has Faded Away.

There were about 400 persons at the station in Harpers Ferry, the first stop made by Senator Fairbanks in his rapid tour of West Virginia. A short speech was made by the vice presidential candidate from the monument which marks the spot where John Brown made history in 1859. When Senator Scott had introduced Mr. Fairbanks the candidate said:

We stand upon historic ground. Here occurred one of the tragedies in American history. A few years ago upon the occasion of my first visit to Harpers Ferry I saw standing yonder a modest building. It was John Brown's fort. It stood there in a serious and tragic hour, but it is no longer the scene of conflict. It has disappeared, and with its disappearance there has faded away the old bitterness and the old hates, and I am glad to see that in God's providence they have faded away forever.

We stand here near the junction of three great states of our common country. Republican policies are good for all states. They are good for Virginia, for Maryland and for West Virginia. Fellow citizens, Republican policies have served us well in the past; let us stand by them loyally and they will serve us well in the future.

Mr. Fairbanks complimented the state on giving the nation two such able representatives as Senator Scott and Congressman Dayton. "I am glad to observe," said he, "that you propose to recommission both men."

Problems for the Fireside.

Martinsburg and the country round about were well represented at the station. At least 600 persons waited for almost two hours to greet the next vice president. In his brief address he touched on politics, saying in part:

Our Democratic friends differ with us vitally upon the tariff question. They believe that the tariff is a system of robbery. They believe it is wrong, and so believing, they are in favor of its overthrow. Are you in favor of its overthrow, fellow citizens? I adress that question to the farmers of this great agricultural community: Are the manufacturers in favor of overturning the present protective system? If so, they have one way in which they can go about it; they can declare their opposition to the protective system at the ballot box next November. It is at the ballot box these great public questions are settled. It does not matter what I say about them or what I think about them. It does not matter what you say about them or what you think about them. It does matter, however, what each of us does at the ballot box. It is there and not in the national capitol that these great questions are to be settled.

Take these problems home to yourselves. Deliberate upon them at the fireside and make up your potent judgment as to what you shall do to best promote the interests of yourselves and families.

Paw Paw furnished a large assembly of workmen from the tanneries. Senator Fairbanks made a brief talk and then tried to shake the hand of every person, but the eagerness of the engineer to make up lost time cut short their pleasure.

McKinley Policy Indorsed.

One of the first men to greet Senator Fairbanks when his train reached Cumberland, Md., was ex-Gov. Lloyd Lowndes. With him were Mayor King of Cumberland and C. Breiz, one of the Maryland candidates for elector-at-large. There were fully 1,000 people in the crowd that grouped itself around the rear end of the train. A brass band played "Maryland, My Maryland," as the vice presidential candidate stepped on to the platform and doffed his white hat. Senator Fairbanks, after a few remarks concerning the late President McKinley's administration and the part Maryland took in his election, said:

President McKinley's constitutional successor is an able, patriotic and broad-minded American. We should not overturn the policies under which so much has been accomplished during the last seven years. They have been eventful years, filled with great problems which have challenged the patriotism and capability of the Republican party. Would you know how well the Republican party has administered the affairs of this government? Would you know how well it has done? Then go into your great manufactories, go into your centers of industry—there you will find ample evidence of the virtue of the Republican policies upon which we are willing to stand in contrast with Democratic policies and leave the verdict to the intelligent judgment of the American people.

He asked if anyone regretted having voted for McKinley, and there was a great chorus of "Noes." Senator Fairbanks then stepped down and shook hands with all who could get near him.

Promised Big Majority.

The special train was hurried through to Keyser, W. Va., where a short stop was made. There was a large crowd eager to hear the candidate. He was introduced by Senator Scott as a mountaineer and made a brief speech.

In a few minutes Piedmont, at the foot of the mountains, was reached. Congressman Dayton, in introducing Senator Fairbanks, promised that West Virginia would give the national ticket a majority of 25,000. At Piedmont, the old home of Senator Henry Davis, the Democratic candidate for vice president, there were at least 1,500 voters at the station to welcome Senator Fairbanks. He told the people of Piedmont that the Republican party stands for those policies which are as broad as the ample limits of the republic. "It stands," said he, "for those policies which are for all of the people, no matter what their vocation. Our Democratic friends are not constructive; they are destructive. In order to prosper you must have a market, and the policies of the Republican party have reassured you that market."

Terra Alta, the highest point in the West Virginia mountains, was reached shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. Congressman Dayton, in presenting Mr. Fairbanks, said that the people of Terra Alta enjoyed the privilege of being nearer to heaven than most persons. He also informed the senator that he was in Preston, a banner Republican county of the state. Here, as in Rowlesburg and Tunnelton, Senator Fairbanks made short speeches.

Banners That Tell Tales.

At Tunnelton a number of banners were carried by enthusiastic Creston county Republicans, among them were the following:

"It's a shame to take the money—Uncle Henry's." "The coal center stands pat." "Did you hear from Maine?" "What's the matter with Vermont." Another banner read, "Parker's Speech," and a sheet of white cardboard was exhibited.

One of the largest meetings of the day was held at Grafton, the home of John T. McGraw, the Democratic boss of the state. Several thousand persons crowded about Senator Fairbanks' train and a brass band was on hand. It was 6 o'clock when that town was reached and the audience that greeted the candidate was made up principally of the toilers on their way home from work.

Congressman Dayton talked with his constituents about voting a straight ticket. He told them to vote for every Republican candidate from president to school officer. He predicted a big majority in the state.

Senator Scott in a speech of a couple of minutes' duration, answered the recent utterances of Candidate Davis on public expenses. Mr. Scott said that the reports from all over the union indicated an immense majority for Roosevelt and Fairbanks and promised that the majority in West Virginia would be as large as in the past.

Senator Fairbanks talked of prosperity and of the bad policy of changing administrations when there is no cause for a change. "We believe," said he, "our future interests can be subserved by supporting our present president, a brave American who comprehends in the fullest degree our national needs."

An Ovation at Clarksburg.

Clarksburg gave the vice presidential candidate an ovation that he will not forget. The whole town seemed to be out to greet him, and there was no evidence that West Virginia Republicans are ready to desert the old party. Senator Fairbanks had just time to say a few words, shake hands with those closest to the car and the train started for Salem, the last stop of the night.

The railroad from Clarksburg to Salem was lighted on either side by natural gas torches. As the train sped by little towns the citizens came out to wave and shout. The only unpleasant thing of the day occurred between Wilsonburg and Wolf Summit. Some one fired at the train. A brakeman standing on the rear platform had his hand slightly burned by powder. Congressman Dayton was by his side.

Salem, a hamlet, when William McKinley went into the White House, now a thriving city, sent several thousand persons to the railway station to greet Senator Fairbanks. The candidate remarked to the people of the town that Salem is a magical city, a product of McKinley and Roosevelt prosperity. At this point some Democrat asked, "How about the open shop?"

Instantly Mr. Fairbanks replied: "The open shop is the fruit of Republican policies and contrary to Democratic practices. More shops were opened under McKinley's administration than during any other period of the country's history, affording constant and remunerative employment to thousands of toilers.

An immense crowd which filled several blocks in and around the Baltimore & Ohio station welcomed Senator Fairbanks to Parkersburg. Every noise-making thing, from a tin horn to a cannon, was used, and great quantities of red fire burned. The senator thanked the enthusiastic crowd from the balcony of the Chancellor hotel and then went to bed to prepare for the hard work of the morrow.

SAYS WEST VIRGINIA IS A PROTECTION STATE

Senator Ira E. Robinson Predicts That Roosevelt and Fairbanks Will Get the Electoral Vote.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—State Senator Ira E. Robinson of West Virginia predicted today that West Virginia's electoral vote would be given to Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

"West Virginia," he said, "is essentially a protection state and quite as deeply interested in a protective tariff as Pennsylvania and Ohio. Our local dissensions, which threatened a few weeks ago to be troublesome, are gradually disappearing and in my judgment will affect the result in only one or two counties. The situation in the Third congressional district is now unsatisfactory, but the national congressional committee will settle it on September 20 and with the decision all parties will agree. There is no doubt whatever about the success of the state and national tickets.

"We all esteem Henry G. Davis highly, but his personal popularity will not materially affect the result in West Virginia. Mr. Davis' nomination at St. Louis was brought about by John T. McGraw, West Virginia member of the Democratic national committee. McGraw's interest in Davis was a selfish one because he wanted to be elected to the United States senate, having been a candidate against Senator Scott six years ago. He thought by having Davis put on the ticket as vice president, that Davis and his brother, Col. Tom, would supply the Democrats of West Virginia with a large amount of money and he hoped to use a goodly portion of it in trying to elect the legislature." FRANK A. PARKER.

REPUBLICANS WILL GET INDIANA BY 40,000

Chairman Cortelyou Leaves Western Headquarters With Assurance of Roosevelt's Election.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee, returned to eastern headquarters today, confident that Roosevelt and Fairbanks would have a large margin in the electoral college. Mr. Cortelyou spent a week at western headquarters in Chicago and conferred with the Republican leaders of the western states. They furnished him with encouraging reports of conditions in their states, and this is said to have been true particularly of Indiana and Illinois.

H. S. New of Indiana, one of the members of the executive committee at western headquarters, was told by one of the leading Bryan Democrats of his state that the Democratic canvass of that state showed that it would give a plurality of at least 40,000 for President Roosevelt. In spite of these optimistic reports, however, Mr. Cortelyou requested his representatives in Chicago and those in charge of the campaign in that part of the country to waste no time in bragging, but to keep hard at work in every state in their territory.

As soon as he returned he summoned the members of the executive committee to eastern headquarters to a conference, and the afternoon was spent in reviewing the progress of the campaign in this section of the country.

A. G. DAYTON MAY SUCCEED TO UNITED STATES BENCH

West Virginia Congressman Might Fill Vacancy Caused by Judge Jackson's Retirement.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 16.—Congressman A. G. Dayton of the Second district may be called to the bench of the United States court for the Northern district of West Virginia. The retirement of Judge John Jay Jackson, who is over 80 years of age, is expected before long. It is not likely to occur, however, until after the election and Mr. Dayton will not be taken out of the congressional race.

"I have long hoped for an appointment on the bench when Judge Jackson retires," said Mr. Dayton. "I have not heard that he intends to retire at once. If I could secure the appointment, I would be willing to leave congress. I am of the opinion, however, that my race for congress will not be interrupted."

C. F. Teter of Philippi, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for governor by Dawson, is looked upon as a likely successor of Dayton in congress if the change is made. Tracy L. Jeffords of Harpers Ferry and Senator Ira Robinson of Grafton are also probable candidates. WALTER J. CHRISTY.

OYSTER BAY DEMOCRATS TO VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT

Local Pride and Old Friendship Will Change Political Complexion of President's Home Town.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt is taking advantage of the remaining days of his vacation, which expires on the 22d, when he will return to Washington on a special train. President Roosevelt will return on the morning of election day. He votes in the Fifth district. The polling place is located in Fisher's hall, over a Chinese laundry, and is reached by a narrow flight of stairs.

The district is normally Democratic, but it has always given a substantial majority for the president, and the indications are that it will give him a majority in November. Many Democrats here have announced that they would vote for President Roosevelt. The old Democrats have known him since he was a boy and the young Democrats will vote for him out of local pride.

DEADLOCK STILL HOLDS.

Candidate Welch Refuses to Withdraw from Contest in the Thirty-Third District.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The Republican conferees of the Thirty-third district have again failed to nominate a candidate for state senator to succeed Alexander Stewart of Franklin county. Another attempt will be made at a meeting here next Wednesday.

Before the conferees went into session this evening it was thought the deadlock which began at St. John would be broken by the withdrawal of Allen S. Welch, Huntingdon county's candidate. Mr. Welch, however, declined to withdraw, and after taking 15 fruitless ballots the conference adjourned. Meanwhile it is expected that the candidates will reach an agreement by which Stewart shall be nominated and Huntingdon county conceded the nomination in 1908.

Unless a nomination is made before September 27, the last day for filing certificates of nomination in the state department, the candidate can get on the ballot only by nomination papers.

PARKER FAILED TO BRING PEACE

Even Presidential Candidate Could Not Effect Harmony Among Democrats.

WILL RUN HIS OWN CAMPAIGN

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.

Prolonged conferences of the Democratic leaders, in which Judge Parker participated, failed today to bring about a harmonious agreement upon a candidate for governor. The conferences were adjourned to Saratoga where a final attempt will be made to avoid a renewal of factional warfare. With Tammany Hall blocking the choice of either Edward M. Shepard or Edward M. Grout, John B. Stanchfield, backed by David B. Hill, took the lead in effective strength before the convention. Brooklyn will present Mr. Grout's name, and there is probability of a three-cornered contest between the upstate Democrats, Tammany and the Brooklyn Democracy, each without a sufficient number of votes to nominate.

Judge Parker spent the day consulting with the national and state Democratic leaders concerning the plan of campaign. He held a conference of nearly three hours with Charles F. Murphy and returned to Esopus tonight. He will come back to this city next week, and until the end of the campaign he will remain in the Democratic foreground. His letter of acceptance is said to contain an appeal to the Democracy.

An incident of Judge Parker's visit was the failure of his reception to the Bankers' Association of America. Only 12 of the 2,700 bankers attended it.

Pilgrimages of delegations to Esopus are being arranged by the national Democratic committee. The delegations will be addressed by Judge Parker. This method of reaching the public was adopted at Canton by the Republicans during the campaign of 1896.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Judge Parker arrived at Rosemount at 9:30 p. m. A special buffet car was attached for the judge and he enjoyed the first real lunch he had today, not having had time while in the city to dine at noon or later.

DEMOCRATS ARE FAILING TO MAKE NOMINATIONS

Deadlocks Are on in York-Adams and Stroudsburg Congressional Districts. Judicial Conferees Differ.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YORK, Sept. 16.—The Democratic conferees of the York-Adams district made a further attempt to nominate a candidate for congress today at Hanover and failed. Harry N. Gitt of York county expressed a willingness to withdraw if Charles Duttera of Adams county would withdraw also and unite on J. L. Butt of Gettysburg, but Mr. Butt declined to run, and Duttera declared he was in the fight to stay. The conferees will meet again on Tuesday.

STROUDSBURG, Sept. 16.—With reference to yesterday's split in the Twenty-sixth congressional district Democratic conference over the nomination to succeed Congressman Shull, Mr. Shull today made this statement: "The question of representation in the Twenty-sixth district is to be settled now, even if the matter has to be taken to the courts. The Monroe and Pike conferees will not go to Mauch Chunk on Monday."

TUNKHANNOCK, Sept. 16.—The deadlock between the Democratic judicial conferees of Wyoming and Sullivan counties was broken today when Charles Terry, a dark horse, was nominated for president judge. The deadlock was between Charles W. Platt of Tunkhannock and John G. Scouten of Dushore. Mr. Terry's residence is here, but he has a law office in Wilkesbarre and is attorney for the Lehigh Valley railroad company.

CREASY OF CATAWISSA CALLED FROM HIS PLOW

Democratic Cincinnatus Is Wanted by Chairman Hall to Help Conduct State Campaign.

HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 16.—"Farmer" William T. Creasy of Catawissa has been called from his plow by Chairman Hall to assist at the Democratic state headquarters here during the remainder of the campaign.

Creasy will move to Harrisburg on Monday, prepared to stay until election day. It is expected that he will assist Secretary Meek in the routine work. He has served two years as state chairman, and Hall has an idea his experience during that time will be a great help to him.

Creasy has again been nominated for member of the house of representatives by the Columbia county Democrats, but as his election is conceded he is not giving his candidacy any concern.

The Democratic conferees of the Dauphin-Cumberland - Lebanon congressional district this afternoon unanimously nominated John L. Saylor of Annville for congress.

TOOK THE WHOLE FAMILY.

Three Generations in Sharpsburg Jail Through Relatives' Row.

As a result of a row at the home of E. J. Bulger, 1512 Main street, Sharpsburg, three generations of the Harding family, neighbors of Bulger, spent last night in the Sharpsburg lockup. Mrs. J. E. Harding and her daughter, Mrs. James McDowell, were arrested on a charge of felonious assault and battery, preferred before Justice Schrandt by Christ Widimer. Four of Mrs. Harding's children and two of her grandchildren were also housed in the jail, as they had no one to care for them.

The women under arrest are alleged to have gone to the Bulger home in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Bulger and attempted to remove some silverware. When 16-year-old Edna Bulger tried to prevent them they are said to have attacked her. Christ Widimer, a son-in-law of Mrs. Bulger, returned home from work and interrupted them. He claims Mrs. McDowell threw a tea cup at him striking him in the head and cutting him. Dr. G. A. Kelly, borough physician, was called to remove a piece of the cup from Widimer's skull.

RUSSIAN SPIES TRAILED GERMAN NAVAL ATTACHE

Caught Him Betraying Port Arthur Defense Plans to Japanese Agents.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—The St. Petersburg Press accuses Capt. Hopmann, the German who, at the begining of the war, was sent by his government to Port Arthur as naval attache, of giving valuable information to the Japanese. The captain, the Press says, spent much time, up to the very day when he was recalled by the kaiser, in studying the fortifications of the fortress. When he left he was thoroughly familiar with the position of every large gun of the forts.

Capt. Hopmann did not travel overland, on account of the congestion of the trans-Siberian railroad, but boarded an English steamer at Hongkong. Unknown to himself he was watched by Russian spies from the moment he left the beleaguered fortress. Two of these spies are said to have reported to the Russian war department that the captain repeatedly met and associated with Japanese whom they knew as agents of the mikado's government.

Capt. Hopmann, when he arrives, will then be requested by the navy department to defend himself against these accusations, which have evidently been printed with the full knowledge of the czar's government.

WIDOW OF BULL FIGHTER MAKES ATTACK ON MATADOR

Senora Cervera Lunges at Him With Sharpened Stick in Court House Corridor.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—The bad blood which has existed between Senora Mariano Cervera, widow of the murdered bull fighter, Don Manual Cervera, and Felix Robert, the chief matador of the bull fighters now being tried in the St. Louis county court in Clayton, culminated this afternoon in a sensational encounter between the two.

Senora Cervera, attired in deep mourning, had been testifying before the court on the second floor of the court house. She came out of the court room, and in the corridor outside the door, Robert, the matador, and several other bull fighters were seated on a bench. They were in conversation, and Senora Cervera eyed them with hatred and distrust.

In her hand she carried one of the sharpened sticks used by the bull fighters to hold the capote with which to enrage the bull.

"What are you saying about me?" she snapped in Spanish to Robert, and without waiting for a reply she made a lunge at the matador's head.

He threw up his hand to ward off the blow and the sharp point missed his left eye but half an inch.

In an instant the corridor was in an uproar and in the midst of the melee Senora Cervera went back into the court room and Robert walked away without saying anything to her.

Russians Hold Up British Collier Off Cape St. Vincent—Intimidate the Captain.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—The British steamer Margit Groedel, with a cargo of coal from Cardiff to China, reports that she was stopped by the Russian cruiser Terek on September 6, off the coast of Cape St. Vincent. Two Russian officers and two armed men boarded the vessel and overhauled her papers. The captain of the Groedel was asked to sign a statement that he had not been put to any inconvenience by the delay. He at first refused, but when told that his steamer would be detained until the arrival of the Russian admiral, the declaration was signed and the collier was allowed to proceed.

One of the Russian officers informed the captain of the Groedel that there were nine other Russian cruisers in the vicinity.

HAS TIDEWATER OUTLET.

Western Maryland Railroad Runs Its First Through Train Over the New Extension.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Vice President F. S. Landstreet of the Western Maryland railroad came to Baltimore today. While here the final details for opening for traffic the tidewater extension of the Western Maryland will be made.

The Western Maryland railroad this morning opened this extension and ran the first through train over the new road, extending from Walbrook Junction to its new pier at Port Covington. The completion of this line is the realization of the dream of the Goulds, which will furnish a tidewater outlet for their Wabash system.

FATHER IS BADLY BURNED WHILE RESCUING HIS BABY

In rescuing his baby from his burning home in Hays borough, Murray McGibney, a traction motorman, was badly burned yesterday afternoon. The flames started in the kitchen while McGibney and his wife were outside. When McGibney discovered the fire he rushed through the kitchen to a sleeping room and carried the baby out safely. His own clothing was ignited and he was burned before neighbors could reach him. The damage to the house amounts to about $200. McGibney will recover.

COMBES HAS ORDERS TO PUSH THE CLAIM

He Is Trying to Secure $100,000 from Honduras for Renton Murder.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Leslie M. Combes, United States minister to Guatemala and Honduras, is under instructions vigorously to press the latter for payment of the claim of $100,000 for the murder of Charles W. Renton. The claim was first formally drawn by Judge Penfield, solicitor of the state department, months ago.

Before presenting it to the Honduras foreign office, Mr. Combes came to the United States on his annual leave. At the department of state he manifested, officials say, a keen desire to bring the claim to settlement without delay. He was sanguine that a satisfactory indemnity could be obtained. Because of his disposition to make Honduras pay, no specific instructions were given Mr. Combes, who reached Guatemala City on August 18. Since that time no report has been received from Mr. Combes. It is assumed by officials of the state department, in the absence of advices to the contrary, that Mr. Combes is making as rapid progress as is possible in the foreign office of a Central American government.

PORT OF KIAO-CHOU IS A MENACE TO PEACE

Great Britain Is Warned Against Evil Possibilities of Russo-German Agreement.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Spectator today contains an article discussing the reported agreement between Russia and Germany concerning Kiao-Chou, the German concession in China, saying it has every reason to believe the story is "based on facts." The Spectator warns Great Britain against complacency, in view of the possibility of France also being drawn into the understanding, in which case a situation might arise resembling the intervention which robbed Japan of Port Arthur.

The article asks whether Emperor William was wise to run the risk, in the event of Japan being victorious, of receiving a politic Japanese reminder that Kiao-Chou belongs to China, and that to surrender the lease of that port would greatly conduce to the peace of the world.

OIL MAKES MILLER RICH, NOT POETRY

Found on Land Held by the "Poet of the Sierras" in Texas.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—From poet to millionaire, that is the position in which Joaquin Miller, the "poet of the Sierras," finds himself, but it is because of oil, not poetry. Now the poet is wondering what he will do with his newly acquired wealth. The information has reached Mr. Miller within the last few days at his home at the heights back of Oakland. He says:

"I have been informed that oil has been found in and around the land that I have held in Texas for so many years, and I am supposed to be worth a great deal of money. This is what they tell me from the place where the land is located. There are Texas gushers all around there, and a Texas gusher, I believe, spouts wealth in the shape of the oil of commerce.

"It is not often that a poet steps from the most ordinary of circumstances to wealth, and I am wondering what I will do with so much money. I shall use it for my fellow men and for my friends who occasionally come to me at my little place on the tops of Oakland hills."

DAVIS CATCHES TRAIN WITH SPECIAL ENGINE

Candidate Reaches Elkin, W. Va.—Is Much Worried Over Son Who Is Ill With Fever.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Sept. 16.—Ex-Senator Davis, Democratic vice presidential nominee, came here today en route to his home at Elkins. He walked to the West Virginia Central depot. When he arrived at the depot he found that the West Virginia railroad train had pulled out. His car was cut off the outgoing train at Ridgely and was brought back by a special engine. Senator Davis boarded his private car and overtook the regular train at Pinto, W. Va., where it was again attached to it.

ELKINS, W. VA., Sept. 16.—Mr. Davis returned tonight. He was feeling well, physically, but shows much worry over the conditions of his son, John T. Davis, who is very ill with typhoid fever at Davis Memorial hospital.

Charged With Abduction.

Alderman James Sherran of the South Side yesterday held J. Faeth of Allegheny for court on the charge of abducting his 6-year-old granddaughter. The suit is brought by the child's father, Charles Bradley, who lives in a house-boat at the foot of Twentieth stret. The child had lived with her grandparents for several years and was taken from the Sixth ward school several days ago by her mother. It is said Faeth a few days later spirited her away.

Nine Upright Pianos At $125 Each

A prominent institution in Pittsburgh exchanged nine upright pianos after using them for several years, and took from us nine new Hamil-Tone pianos.

We placed the nine exchanged instruments in our shop, where they underwent a thorough overhauling.

And the reputation of this house now stands behind each of these instruments as a piano worthy of any of our customers.

Price $125 Each

This is most exceptional value.

In fact we would not offer such pianos at such a price but for the reason that our warerooms are very much crowded. The addition of this lot to the usual number of exchanges which we handle from week to week makes a greater demand upon our exchange room than we can comfortably accommodate.

We urge you to come here immediately if interested—$125 for any one of these nine pianos.

Among the lot, and including some other particularly low priced pianos in our exchange room, are such makes as Decker Bros., Hardman, Weber, Fischer, Chickering, Howard, Huntington, Willard, Mendelssohn, McPhail, Sterling, Hamilton and others.

Of course, there are some higher priced used pianos in this department, but the majority are priced AWAY BELOW their actual value in order that we may dispose of them quickly.

We shall be glad to furnish a complete list to any who cannot call, but a personal visit is urged in all cases of those who are looking for really great bargains in pianos.

Exposition visitors are invited to make this Temple of Music their resting place while in the city.

See special Sheet Music offers in other columns of this issue.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Allegheny Preparatory school reopens September 21, 1904. The Headmaster will be at the school office after September 8, between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m., to meet and classify pupils, to talk with attending parents and to show those who may wish to see them the building and equipment. The school provides instruction for boys and girls from the first year of school life till they are ready for any American college or university. The work is done by 15 expert teachers.

A well equipped gymnasium and a large playground, under the exclusive control of the school, offer ample opportunity for sports and games. These are individual "corrective work," under trained directors, give the physical development of both boys and girls its due emphasis. Oral expression, singing, reading aloud, public speaking and debates have their proper place in the curriculum.

Owing to its non-commercial character, the entire income of the school can be applied in making the school better. The building has just been redecorated throughout.

For our new circular and any further information, address the Headmaster, Wilmot R. Jones, 900 Lincoln Avenue, Allegheny, Pa.

LARKIN CASE IS BEING STUDIED

Court to Take Another Week to Investigate Merits of Filtration Mandamus Case.

SERIES OF SUITS IN BOND CASE

A decision in the mandamus case against Controller Larkin, to compel him to pay the salaries of employes of the filtration bureau, which was expected to be handed down today, has been postponed for another week, much to the surprise and alarm of the city administration officials, who now fear that the opinion of the court may be against them. The case was heard last week, and it was expected by both sides that a decision would be forthcoming today, as the decisions in the county courts are handed down on Saturdays.

It was believed that a week's time would be sufficient for the court to arrive at an opinion in this case, but it developed yesterday that the court is probing deeply into the matter. The judges are examining all documents and the municipal law bearing on the subject and making themselves thoroughly familiar with the municipal system. The suit is regarded as highly important, because of the precedent it will establish in relation to annual appropriatons. Controller Larkin contending that if the decision is adverse to his cause that it will remove all barriers to the expenditure of public money, particularly bond money, and permit public funds to be spent without any specific appropriation.

It is also believed that the result of this suit will also affect the litigation on the bond issue case which the administration is preparing for. For this reason the administration is delaying the filing of the second suit until the first is decided.

From information coming from the city's legal advisers, it appears that more than a series of suits are expected in the bond case. The administration's plan is to first ask for a mandamus to compel the controller to show cause why he has not complied with his ministerial duties in not advertising the bonds for sale, seeking by this suit to confine the controller's answer to this particular question and to exclude him from going into the question of the legality of the bond issue, which he offers as his reason for refusing to advertise.

The law states that it shall be the duty of the controller to advertise all bond sales, and he is to be asked why he has not performed this duty. He will later have the opportunity of refusing to countersign the bonds and to open up the question of legality and all other issues which he may choose to raise. This program will lead to a long litigation and may put the result of the bond case off for a year.

It is reported upon good authority that if the controller finally loses in the bond case on the points he has raised that another suit will be filed in the United States court on different questions by a non-resident property owner, and that if the lower federal court decides adversely to the plaintiff that then an appeal will be taken to the United States supreme court, probably delaying the whole matter for two years longer.

BLUE LAW DETECTIVES WILL BE BUSY TOMORROW

Sabbath Observance Association People Look for Quiet Sunday—Drug Stores Will Remain Open.

Blue law detectives will be out in force tomorrow, and all sections of the two cities and suburbs will be closely watched for merchants who may presume to violate the Sunday statutes of 100 years ago. The force of watchers of the Sabbath Observance association will be increased over that of last Sunday. Harry W. Starkey, the detective, has just been released from jail, where he was held as an accessory in the killing of Harry D. Knox, and will again enter the employ of the crusaders. Starkey is making an effort to secure bail for his brother, Nelson D. Starkey, who is directly charged with the crime. Starkey's attorneys will go into court next week and ask for his release, a bondsman being expected to arrive here by that time.

Powers T. Gamble, who is conducting the crusade, hinted yesterday that evidence would be rather difficult to secure tomorrow. He said that the majority of the violators had closed their places on Sunday. This is taken to mean that the crusade will be circumscribed and that many dealers who were caught in the meshes at the first prosecutions will not be disturbed. All the drug stores will remain open as usual, and the cigar dealers downtown will continue to do business.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Sabbath Observance association, together with the advisory committee and representatives of several of the ministerial associations, will be held Monday afternoon. The pressing question before the committee is the raising of funds to prosecute the undertaking and to provide for the defense of Starkey.

VICTIM OF STARVATION.

Young Actor Became Insane and Wrecked His Hotel Room.

Edward Ravelle, a young actor, became violently insane in his room at the Hotel Metropole, Fourth avenue, yesterday morning and almost wrecked his room before he was got under control by the night clerk and others who went to his assistance.

Ravelle has been a member of the Herald Square Opera company. About 6 o'clock yesterday morning people in the hotel were awakened by his screams. They found he had turned his bed on end and was using it for a sailboat, with the bed clothing for sails. His clothing he had hung about the bed for signal flags.

Ravelle has a wife living in Albany, N. Y., but he claims that his home is in Canton. To Magistrate Stewart he declared the night clerk tried to kill him and that a woman crawled through the gas pipe into his room. His condition is said to be the result of starvation.

Ravelle, it is said, had not eaten since last Sunday. The members of "The Yankee Consul" company, playing at the Nixon, will send him to New York today, as his condition had improved last night.

What Mrs. Forrest Said.

In The Gazette's report of the annual convention of the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance Union, held last Tuesday, it was stated that Mrs. H. H. Forrest, president of the union, "condemned Bishop Potter's underground saloon, and said she wished to heaven that the bishop's saloon was a thousand miles underground," etc. Mrs. Forrest says that this is what she said: "As to the Bishop Potter saloon, it is rightly named Subway, which means an artificial passage under or below the level of the ground. The only trouble is it is not far enough under ground."

Will Go to Fair in Special Cars.

The German Beneficial union has decided to attend the world's fair at St. Louis and has arranged to leave Union station over the Pennsylvania lines in special cars Sunday, September 18 at 2 p. m., city time. Messrs. Louis Valz and A. F. Weidemyer, the supreme president and supreme manager, have completed all arrangements for taking good care of their friends who desire to accompany them. Members of the German Beneficial union who would like to join the party can do so by calling upon either of the above gentlemen at the union's headquarters, Sixth avenue.

New Auto Company Formed.

A certificate of incorporation was filed at Dover, Del., yesterday for the Auto Repair Company, limited, of Pittsburgh, to manufacture, sell and deal in automobiles and other like vehicles, and to repair the same. The incorporators are Rex Remertson, Pittsburgh; Jefferson D. Thompson, Crafton; Trueman W. Campbell, Wilmington, Del. The capital stock is fixed at $5,000.

Reunion and Picnic.

The Sunday school of the Sixth Presbyterian church, at Murray avenue and Forbes street, will hold a reunion and picnic in Highland park today. It is proposed to gather together as many of the old attendants at the church and Sunday school as possible and make the affair a unique and pleasant one.

RADICAL CHANGES IN SCHOOL RULES

Amendments Proposed in Allegheny Which May Cause Dismissal of Many Teachers.

STRIKES POLITICAL SYSTEM

Radical changes are proposed in the school rules of Allegheny which, if adopted, will revolutionize the system of teaching on the North Side and, it is claimed, will cause the dismissal of many instructors. George D. Lyon, president of the Eighth ward school board, introduced at the monthly meeting of the board of school controllers last Tuesday night a resolution which provides for a number of changes in the rules. The changes proposed caused somewhat of a sensation among the teachers and members of the various local school boards.

The resolution changes the rules so as to require that the semi-annual and annual examinations in all the schools shall be alike and shall be held on the same day, that no teacher shall examine her own pupils, and that unless a teacher advances 75 per cent of her pupils to the next higher grade she shall be discharged. It also provides that no teacher shall have her pupils examined by the teacher whose pupils she examines, thus preventing the teachers having any understanding with each other that might be to their mutual advantage—that is to say the passing of the required 75 per cent of each other's pupils in order to hold their positions. The examination questions are to be delivered at all the schools, sealed, on the morning of the examination.

Teacher Can Get Rehearing.

If a teacher fails by reason of 75 per cent of her pupils not being advanced, she can ask the city superintendent of schools for a rehearing, but such application for a rehearing must be signed by the principal of her school and four directors of her local school board. Upon the receipt of such application the city superintendent shall appoint a committee of four principals, one of whom shall be the principal of the teacher's own school, who shall investigate her case and if a majority of the committee shall so decide, she shall again be placed on the list of those eligible for election by the local directors of the ward.

Mr. Lyon proposes the immediate application of these rules and in his resolution he asks that the secretary of the board of school controllers, at its next regular meeting, report the names of all teachers who have not had over 25 per cent of failures in their regular examinations. In order to pass from one grade to another, a pupil must make a general average of 75 per cent in all the subjects examined, with nothing less than 50 per cent in any one subject.

Expects Strong Opposition.

"These rules, if adopted, will certainly revolutionize the Allegheny schools," said Mr. Lyon yesterday. "They will fix a certain standard which all the teachers of the city must reach or else they cannot hold their positions. It will make uniformity among the different schools, which does not now exist. It will make a teacher's position depend upon her ability instead of upon a political 'pull' as is the case in more than one local school board of the city.

"I know the resolution will be bitterly opposed and I fear it will be defeated because in some wards whole school boards, the members of which favor the political system, will fight it and I believe that a good many teachers will be against it, that is those who cannot come up to this standard. The resolution was referred to the committee on rules and regulations and if it meets, as scheduled, the resolution will be reported at the next meeting of the board of school controllers."

MORE DEMANDS MADE ON THE PENNSYLVANIA ROAD

Pittsburgh Division Employes Have Grievances—Grand Master Morrisey Talks on Ft. Wayne Trouble.

It now develops that members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen employed on the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, between Pittsburgh and Altoona, have several grievances with the company and a committee has been selected to confer with Superintendent C. S. Long with a view of having them adjusted. The union men admit that the grievances are not of a serious nature and they expect the committee will gain the concessions asked for. Nine locals belong to this division.

The statement of the railroad officials of the Pennsylvania lines that the trouble between the company and the Trainmen's union is caused by a few disgruntled men, is not borne out by a statement issued yesterday in Cleveland by Grand Master P. H. Morrisey. Referring to the ballot now being taken by the organization on the question whether or not to strike, he said:

There are no issues between the employes and the company which could not be readily adjusted if the officials would meet the committee representing the men, on the same basis and in the same spirit that prevails on railroads generally, including the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company east of Pittsburgh and Erie. The question of strike rests entirely with the employes and the officers of the brotherhood will not attempt to influence their decision one way or another. The Pennsylvania company has ordered a majority of our committee to return to their work under pain of dismissal. Five members of the committee, including the chairman and secretary, have been notified by the company that their services are no longer required, but giving them the privilege of resigning. The questions involved are simply the adoption of working rules similar to those in force on other trunk lines in the territory.

Want Pastor Returned.

The fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Braddock was held last evening. The congregation extended a unanimous call to the pastor, the Rev. Dr. William Pitt Turner, to remain with them another year. He was appointed to the Braddock church two years ago, previous to that time being presiding elder of the Blairsville district. The membership has grown during his pastorate from 550 to more than 700.

HAYS HAS CHANCE TO QUIT HIS JOB

Declares He Is Tired of It and Wightman Is Willing to Succeed Him.

REMEDY IN NEW CHARTER ACT

"If Mayor Hays should resign I would have no objections to acting as his successor as the new charter act provides. I am ready to step in and fill the place should an emergency arise," said J. Smiley Wightman, president of select council, yesterday. "I have not heard that the mayor intends to resign, but I was in his office yesterday and I know that he is worried a good deal. If he should resign it would create a vacancy in the position I now hold and a new member of select council from the Twenty-second ward would have to be elected," added Mr. Wightman.

Mayor Hays declared yesterday that he was tired of the job of being chief executive of the city and that he would not take the office again for $50,000 a year, which is five times his present salary. He also asserted that he gave away more than his salary and that he was anxious to be relieved of the worry and responsibility of the office. He made these statements in the most positive language.

The new charter act, which Mr. Wightman mentions, provides a remedy for the mayor's case. It provides that in the event of a vacancy occurring in the office of mayor, except in the last year of his term, that the president of select council shall fill the vacancy until the next municipal election, when a successor shall be elected to complete his term. This section of the new charter act is as follows:

When a vacancy shall take place in the office of the mayor, a successor shall be elected for the unexpired term at the next municipal election occurring more than 30 days after the commencement of such vacancy, unless such election should occur in the last year of said term, in which case a mayor pro tempore shall be chosen by councils, in joint convention, by the votes of the majority of the members elected, and the person elected mayor shall hold office until the expiration of said term, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified; and it shall be the duty of the president of select council to issue a proclamation for such joint convention, to be held not less than 10 nor more than 20 days after such vacancy shall take place.

Until the vacancy is filled the president of select council shall act as mayor.

If Mayor Hays should resign now, President Wightman would be sworn in as mayor and would fill the position until next February, when a mayor would be elected to fill the remainder of the unexpired term, which would be for one year, and then another mayor would be elected.

Mayor Hays was asked yesterday if he would accept a renomination if the law allowed it. He said:

Not on your life. I wouldn't have the office if the salary was $50,000 a year. I never wanted it and I want it less now. I am simply bothered to death. I can hardly move without somebody standing me up for money or some favor. The only protection I can get is to lock myself in my office, or in my room at home. They even walk with me between the office and the house, and I cannot step out on the pavement without being held up by somebody. If somebody would give me $2,000 it would just about make up the amount in excess of my salary which I have handed out since I became mayor. I believe that I am entitled to the $1,000 a year that the former mayors received as members of the prison board. This amount is due me as back pay as member of the prison board. The salary here is $30 a day, but it does not begin to meet expenses. I seem to be a mark for everybody. Persons come in here representing charitable institutions, societies, clubs, one thing and another, and they tell me wonderful tales. There are always raffles for something or other and I am always urged to buy tickets or contribute money. I cannot even go out for a breath of fresh air without being "maced" for something or by somebody. Last night, for example, I thought I would go out for a little fresh air, about 9:30, and I found two women at the door waiting for me. One had raffle tickets to sell and the other had a sick son she wanted to send to Colorado and asked me to get her a pass to Chicago. I expected trouble when I took this office and I think that I have had more than any other mayor ever had.

MORMONS ARE AT WORK.

Seeking Converts to Joseph Smith's Religion in Western Pennsylvania.

While the Christian churches are sending missionaries to far lands to win the heathen, the Mormons have established missions in Western Pennsylvania for the conversion of Christians. The missionaries of Joseph Smith's religion have been at work in Allegheny and surrounding towns for some months and claim to have made many converts. Elder Clarence Snow, who has charge of the work in Allegheny, has returned to Salt Lake and another elder will take charge of this district.

In the meantime the work has been handed over to Elder George Cole, who is at present on a missionary tour in Franklin county. The elders state that their most effective work is done in the rural districts. During Elder Cole's absence in Franklin county, Elder J. H. Glover has taken charge of the Allegheny headquarters, at 1305 Allegheny avenue, and will conduct the work here. Elders J. N. Daly, John E. Butterfield, I. E. Thorson and L. R. Wooley are assisting Elder Glover.

FINE MUSIC AT DINNER.

Hotel Henry Has Made Arrangements for an Attractive Evening Feature.

Orchestral music of a high character will be a feature of the Hotel Henry's main dining room from 6 to 12 p. m. on and after next Wednesday. The plan is a novelty here on the scale that D. F. Henry, owner, and E. E. Bonneville, manager of the Henry, propose to introduce this week.

The Hungarian Gypsy musicians, under the lead of S. Schneurer, have been engaged by Manager Bonneville for the entire winter season. There are eight members of the orchestra, or "band," as they term themselves, and the instruments include the cello, clarionet and dulcimer. The repertoire of the band embraces over 100 selections. One of the features will be the rendering of selections requested by the patrons of the dining room. The orchestra will play from noon to 2 p. m., in the ladies' crystal dining rooms on the parlor floor.

Morganza Boys' Drill.

Officers of the local national guard will go to Morganza today to witness a drill by the regiment of Reform School boys. There are eight companies at the school, under the training of Maj. James H. Bigger of the Eighteenth regiment. They range in age from 10 to 18 years. To a company of 10-year-old boys has been assigned the honor of doing guard mount for the visitors. The guests will leave here at 12:30 and return at 6 o'clock.

Company I's Medal Shoot.

Company I, of the Eighteenth regiment, will hold its annual shoot for the Capt. E. E. Sleppy medal at the Salt Works station range today. The medal was won last year by Sergt. John A. Blatt. According to the terms under which Capt. Sleppy presented it to the company, a man must win the medal three consecutive years to gain ownership of the trophy. There is a lively contest on for it and some fine shooting is looked for.

FOREIGN SERVICE MEN NOT READY FOR UNION

Postponed Action Toward Uniting With Western Organization—Next Meeting at Niagara Falls.

The eastern and western organizations of the American Veterans of the Foreign Service will not be united for next year's annual meeting. James Romanis, president of the western organization, yesterday addressed the members of the Pittsburgh convention of Service Veterans in Allegheny Carnegie hall, urging the amalgamation of the two organizations, but action in the matter was postponed until next year.

The next annual convention will be held at Niagara Falls. The ritual which governed the association during the last year was adopted with a constitution and by-laws. One exception made was that only persons who were actually engaged in the foreign service are eligible for membership.

It was decided to strike from the roll of national officers those of quartermaster sergeant and sergeant major. The election of officers will be held this morning. The convention will adjourn at the close of today's session, and the remainder of the day will be devoted to sightseeing. The sham battle which was to have been given in Schenley park this afternoon has been declared off. No action was taken toward adopting a regulation uniform.

Yesterday's festivities closed with a bean bake in Old City hall. While not largely attended, it gave the soldiers a chance to swap yarns and to renew old acquaintanceships.

Our Fall Clothing for Men and Boys.

It's the Totally Different Kind. First—because the man with the shears is an expert and knows how to cut and fit; second—the little details of sewing are given careful attention, just as much so as those outward essentials that do so much for the appearance and set of the clothes; third—the best cloths only are used—no better anywhere in the country for the money.

That's a summary of our Totally Different Clothing for men and boys to which this fourthly is added: Lowest prices in the greater town.

Youths' Autumn Suits, $10.00 to $25.00;

Seven wrecks strewn along the Atlantic coast testify to the severity of the storm that swept over this country and passed out to sea during the week. The disaster wrought was probably greater because storms of such great energy are not usual at this season and mariners were not prepared for it, as they would have been a week or two later. However, there is no anxiety for the safety of the great vessels that ply across the seas, as there would have been years ago. The improvement that has been wrought in trans-oceanic carriers has been so great that no amount of wreckage along the coasts now causes any fear for the lives and property entrusted to the liners.

The grand jury at Huntsville, Ala., has found indictments against several well-known citizens for participation in a lynching and against the mayor of the town and the sheriff of the county for dereliction of duty in permitting the mob to secure its victims. This is a gratifying sign of awakening conscience in the south, but it will have small effect unless followed by convictions of some of the persons indicted. That will be more difficult to procure than the return of the indictments. Nevertheless it marks progress in the black belt to find a grand jury capable of perceiving the enormity of mob vengeance. Respect for law and order was never yet instilled in the minds of the ignorant or vicious by flagrant violation of the laws. Nor will it ever be.

Count Lamsdorff, Russian minister for foreign affairs, has delivered to the British ambassador at St. Petersburg the formal decision of the Russian court in the matter of contraband of war. The official text confirms the previous reports that Russia has accepted the British and American contentions that food and fuel shall be only conditionally contraband—that is, only when consigned to blockaded ports or to governments at war, for the use of their military forces. This concession on the part of Russia is most gracious and the standard thus set up should be accepted by all nations for the future. It was accepted and proclaimed by the United States before the war with Spain and is so reasonable it cannot help but appeal to all humane governments.

While there has been most gratifying activity in the capture of burglars in this city during the past two days, we note a recurrence of the suburban safe-cracking. All last winter and spring the gangs were active in this line of marauding until The Gazette was moved to call the attention of the police to their duty to prevent the cracksmen from making the two cities a center for such operations. There has been a long lull in this branch of criminal activity. Whether the safe-breakers have been on summer vacation, or have merely been lying low, we know not, but the burglary at Monessen should rouse the front office men of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to a renewed sense of their duty to look up the rendezvous of the fellows who do that class of work. It is not improbable they may have spent the warmer months as highwaymen upon the road, but there is reason to believe they have returned to winter quarters in the cities and need sharp looking after.

Sir William Ramsay, the eminent English chemist, who has been in Pittsburgh the past two days, remarks on the fact that America has not yet availed itself of the commercial services of the chemist to as great an extent as have Great Britain and Germany. This is true. It is, however, not due to any lack of enterprise or intelligence among American business men, but to the absence of necessity. England and Germany are compelled to make the most of their crude resources. They must employ economic processes. As yet America is too busy carving in the rough—scratching the surface of its sources of wealth—to give attention to details. But the time is soon coming when American genius will turn to by-products with the same energy it has gone in for larger operations, and Germany and England may be sorry when it does. The American manufacturer and business man have reached the stage where they have begun to appreciate the value of high technical education, and progress has been made in laying the foundations for schools superior to those abroad. In another generation the results will be seen. The American chemist and microscopist will have joined hands with the electrical, mechanical, mining and constructive engineers.

A better authenticated piece of news than we have had from Port Arthur for some time is contained in a private letter from a Chinese interpreter in the commissariat department at Port Arthur which has reached Shanghai and obtained publicity. Writing at the end of August, he said that there were only five weeks' rations left, only small stocks of ammunition and the sick and wounded numbered 24,000 men. He added that the troops were very anxious to surrender. The letter tallies with known facts and probably accurately represents the situation. The character of the Russian fire lately has indicated that the ammunition is being exhausted, and that now in use is of old and poor quality. The defense of Port Arthur has been extremely stubborn, but although fighting behind fortifications deemed impregnable the Russians have been forced into their central positions and the Japanese triumph cannot long be deferred. Since the battle of Liao-Yang there is no prospect of relief and the Russians cannot hope to accomplish anything more than to make the Japanese victory as expensive as possible. This they have abundantly succeeded in doing and have probably materially assisted Kuropatkin by keeping the Japanese occupied by a double objective and preventing a concentration of all their available troops upon the main Russian army. Even if Port Arthur now surrenders, the long defense is vindicated as sound tactics.

Pittsburgh's Greatness.

While the publications of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce are always interesting, the latest product of its enterprise is particularly so. Based upon the relief map of the Pittsburgh region on exhibition at the St. Louis exposition, the booklet presents the position of this industrial center, its resources and its tonnage in a most impressive manner. The St. Louis exhibit, including the magnificent relief map, is largely due to the persistent energy of the chamber and is doing much to explain to the world the financial standing and industrial pre-eminence of a city that figures in the census returns as having a population of only 321,000.

We have all heard that the tonnage originated by Pittsburgh is the largest in the world. The chamber of commerce booklet illustrates that statement in a manner that gives it new interest and significance. It compares the Pittsburgh tonnage with that of London, Paris, New York, etc., so it appears at a glance how much it exceeds any one of these among the world's greatest marts. The booklet makes plain why it is so. There is a statement of our furnaces, mills and factories in a form to portray graphically the tremendous concentration of industrial work in this district, where the materials of manufacture and fuel are assembled more cheaply than anywhere else in the world.

This little book should make every Pittsburgher feel proud that he lives in the most remarkable city on the globe. Foreigners have begun to appreciate the fact, as is indicated by the regularity with which this city is included in the itineraries of visiting delegations of engineers, chemists, manufacturers, economists, statesmen and industrial organizations of all kinds. The chamber of commerce is entitled to great credit for preparing and presenting this comprehensive exhibit, to make clear to these and all others the reasons for Pittsburgh's present greatness and the fact that it is yet in the infancy of its development.

Brown and Black.

"All men under the American flag," says the Democratic platform, "are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is." Commenting upon this in his speech of acceptance, Judge Parker remarked, "Can we hope for the respect of the civilized world while proudly guaranteeing to every citizen of the United States that no law shall be made or enforced which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States or deny to any person the equal protection of the laws, and at the same time * * * deny similar rights to the inhabitants of the Philippines?"

Of the practical value of this enthusiasm for equality of personal rights illustrative interpretations are frequently supplied by occurrences in the southern states. In this very campaign in which the Democratic party poses as the special champion of the rights of the brown man, the issue upon which the Democratic party is carrying on the Maryland campaign is the suppression of the political rights of the black man. We find in the Baltimore Sun a report of a speech by ex-Gov. Frank Brown, which opens in this wise:

Every man you meet now is either for Parker or Roosevelt. Here in this state we have an issue which Roosevelt has forced upon us. You know that he has gone against public sentiment in the south in appointing negroes to federal office, and that he has gone out of his way to recognize that element.

The shotgun policy may not be possible for us in Maryland. No man wants to resort to it, but we must concede that something has got to be done if we want to maintain the supremacy of the white race in Maryland. Over in Southern Maryland the negroes can completely dominate the situation whenever they wish. They can elect negro legislators and any other officials they want. They have the votes.

We want to find out where this state stands; whether it is a Democratic or Republican state; whether we shall avert all the threatened dangers of negro supremacy and social equality or shall have to submit to them. I believe we can carry Maryland this fall by 20,000, and it may be much more. If we do this, then next year, when the constitutional amendment comes up, we will be able to win with it, and do away with this evil of the negro in politics.

This is the keynote of the campaign in Maryland and is frankly admitted to be so. The Baltimore Herald, an organ of the straight Democratic party organization, editorially remarks:

"Ex-Gov. Brown evidently struck the keynote in this campaign when he drew the color line and made the negro the paramount issue. The Democrats in the counties on the eastern shore, in which he spoke, applauded his utterances and promptly proceeded to organize Parker and Davis leagues, as he had advised. In no other way, they say, could the ex-governor have aroused any interest. He might have talked tariff and imperialism for a month, without making an impression."

Such is the practical value of the high-flown sentiments of the Democratic platform. The Democratic party throughout the south is taking away from the black man the rights which they condemn the Republican party for not conferring upon the brown man.

The Business Situation.

Corn and steel have been the recipients of even more than their usual proportion of public attention during the week just closing. The two great staples, upon which so much depends in the United States, have been the subject of great speculation themselves and have been the cause of speculation equally as heavy in the interests to which they are of primary importance.

It is gratifying to note that each stands at the end of the week in a strong position. Killing frosts to extend into the heart of the corn belt had been forecasted for Tuesday and again for Wednesday nights, but the old adage that hindsight is better than foresight was proved true of government weather forecasts. Except for slight damage on the western edge of the corn-producing region the crop escaped, and each day of moderate temperature is ripening the cereal by hundreds of thousands of bushels and placing it permanently out of harm's way.

Steel came into prominence as a stock market leader last week, assuming this position after months of depression of the most discouraging character. At the close of this week it had assumed an activity in the transactions of the country's stock exchanges that aroused much curiosity regarding the cause of the demand. Under the stimulation of buying that seemed beyond the power of the supply to satisfy it has maintained that leadership, and when the exchanges closed yesterday afternoon the preferred issue of the United States Steel Corporation was but fractionally below 70, with no indication of a weakening. "I had no idea there were so many people who wanted Steel," said one of the leading Pittsburgh brokers yesterday.

Steel's leadership in the stock market has made September, 1904, take a position just midway in the financial records of the country between the two Septembers which have made themselves memorable in the same annals. This month of 1902 produced the highest range of stock values recorded on 20 of the active stocks. This month of 1903 produced the lowest recorded prices. Up to the end of this week the recovery, largely a product of September, in these stocks averaged about 20 points, bringing prices halfway back from the lowest to the highest level.

Reasons are demanded for everything that takes place in the world of industry and finance, and the search for reasons why Steel should advance as it has done has been a careful one. The one accepted most generally is that a year of prosperity in the steel business is being discounted. The public uniformly waits until the prosperity has arrived and stocks have risen to a high level before buying. The gentlemen of foresight see the indications ahead and "load up" on the securities that will inevitably be affected.

Indications are not lacking that their belief is well founded. The great majority of the furnaces in the Pittsburgh and central west districts are in blast. The coke region's output is restricted only by the shortage of labor. Steel mills that were accumulating rust shine brightly now. Pittsburgh has been the mecca throughout the week for brokers and consumers of iron and steel. They are watching the new price lists and their effects eagerly, and if the prices are shown to be firm orders are assured. There is much delayed business. The total may be of unusual magnitude.

If the buyers of steel stocks are discounting a year of activity in that industry, it may be said that the business community of this country is discounting the result of the election. There is an assurance over the outcome that is notably strong. The elections held so far point the way that business men throughout the country are looking. The return of a Republican president with a business-like administration is admittedly certain.

Notice of dismissal has been given a Philadelphia teacher on the ground that her voice is too loud and harsh. As she has been teaching for 50 years it is safe to say Philadelphia is the only place in the world that her fault would have been so long undiscovered.

Another Russian auxiliary cruiser is approaching. All right. It can find asylum during the war and safety from Japanese pursuit.

A little early for an equinoctial storm, but the weather bureau may have other important business scheduled for the conventional dates.

Judge Parker and Candidate Davis do not appear to understand that good government is cheaper at any price than bad.

Czar Nicholas should be prompt in sending congratulations to King Victor. "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

There is little comfort for the "aunties" in the news that the army in the Philippines is to be reduced at once.

Kuropatkin has been thanked by the czar for his successful retreat. Autocracies are not wholly ungrateful.

Thief-catching has become popular. It will continue so as long as the police can keep up the record.

Stock exchange prices today make an interesting contrast with those of a year ago.

Judge Parker took care to not mix the dates for the calls of McCarren and Murphy.

They have begun to indict lynchers in Alabama. Wonders will never cease.

Sir William Ramsay has found a weak spot in the American business armor.

American control on the isthmus is marked by an order for 1,000 steel cars.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—What should have been the political event in New York this evening proved a very ordinary affair. Judge Parker has come and gone, and he made not even a ripple on the surface of the city's life. Perhaps his visit brought results that are kept secret for the present, but certainly there was no appearance that there was a presidential candidate in town. The "madding crowds" we read about were not in evidence at the Hotel Astor, where the judge was stopping. A Sunday calm pervaded the lobbies of the hotel and the street. The judge had such callers as Charles F. Murphy, Congressman William Sulzer, Senator Gorman and other prominent Democrats, but "the people" held aloof. One cannot help but contrast the visit of Judge Parker with those made to the city by Col. Bryan. On such occasions the streets were jammed with cheering crowds, and the silver champion was followed wherever he went by hundreds of his admirers.

But Judge Parker could go anywhere in New York, apparently, without receiving more than passing notice. He has given us nothing to arouse enthusiasm, and he is considered a cold, practical, judicial sort of a man. It is, therefore, not to be wondered at that his comings and goings created no little interest. Also, now we can better understand why it is that the Democratic leaders have not urged their standard bearer to meet more people, to get out among the voters and to make a few speeches. He lacks that magnetism that is the chief stock in trade of the ideal campaigner. He cannot draw people to him by the magic of his voice. It is hard to enthuse when there is no leader.

Around the Headquarters.

To really appreciate the difference in the methods of the managers of the national headquarters of the two parties one should visit both on the same afternoon. It is really a revelation. At one we find the theorist, and the other the practical. System is the watchword of every move at Republican headquarters, and seemingly every person about, from the office boy to the man in charge, knows what his duties are and promptly does them. There is no confusion, no apparent hurry, but everything moves with clockwork precision. There is, too, an appearance of permanence about the place, as though these busy men were there to conduct a permanent business from year to year.

At the Democratic headquarters it is different. Everything has a temporary air, and all is confusion. It is difficult to find the particular man you may happen to want to see, as many of the ushers seem not to know who is in charge of the different departments. It would be a great scheme to win votes for the Republican ticket if all the voters of the country could be shown through the two national headquarters.

The Elusive Prize That Women Seek.

Mrs. William Hunter Workman has arrived in New York with a new prescription to put the beauty doctor out of business. Mrs. Workman says the way for a woman to gain beauty is along mountain paths and up almost unsurmountable steeps. She has the record as the champion woman mountain climber, having reached the summit of Mount Chogo Longrua in the Himalayas, a little matter of 22,568 feet, consequently, according to her own logic, she should be very beautiful. As every woman cannot have a mountain in her back yard, Mrs. Workman's advice is a little difficult to follow, but it is simply in line with the prescription that doctors have been handing out to us since Methuselah was a boy, that there can be no beauty without health, and an open-air life is most conducive to health. We can all have more or less of the open air, and it doesn't cost a cent.

Something About Figures.

The dressmakers' convention is keeping sister woman very busy these days. Today a group of modistes surrounded the most bewitching dream of a gown that was worn by "a figure" in the convention hall, and suddenly one began to make a sketch of the gown with the evident intention of duplicating it for some customer. Suddenly "the figure' gave one of its most bewildering smiles, and asked: "Wouldn't you like a sample of the goods?" Then followed a sudden exodus of curious modistes. They hadn't seen that "the figure" was very much alive.

Figures of a Different Sort.

Speaking of figures, the way the delegates of the bankers' convention juggle with them seems positively disconcerting. One of them said today that there are more than 24,000 $1,000 bills floating around the country, also that there are 19,388 $500 bills in circulation and $100 bills are comparatively plentiful, there being 109,616 of them. The $10 bill seems to be the most popular, as there are 24,544,001 of them to be had by the industrious collector of curios. Still, as there are some 70,000,000 people in this country, one can reflect when he is short on such things as $500 and $1,000 bills that there are several others in his fix, as there are not enough to go around anyhow.

No Race Suicide Here.

A glance at the school enumeration in New York will convince the most skeptical that there is no race suicide problem to be solved in this city. There have been registered in the public schools of New York city 568,232 pupils, an increase over last year of 38,720. The chief problem is how to give these pupils the proper school advantages. There are now 81,318 children who can go to school only part of the day, but despite the increase in the number of pupils in the city the "part time" list has been cut 6,239 since last year. The superintendent says this number will be still further decreased. He says it is very difficult to solve the problem, as the population of New York is very nomadic and it is impossible to tell at the end of one school year whether there will be an increase in the number of pupils at the beginning of the following year.

The Ruling Passion.

It would be difficult to place a life insurance agent in a position where he would not attempt to get a little business. One of them was up before Magistrate Moss today in Jefferson market, charged with failing to pay his room rent. When asked his business he said: "I am a life insurance agent. Can I write a policy for your honor?"

A long time ago, when Mr. Bryan had just returned from Europe, he announced that he had picked up a new idea while he was abroad. He is still hoarding it. Maybe he will tell what it is in 1908.—Albany Journal.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Were one to be dropped into this place or to awaken suddenly without knowing how long he had been en route, he would conclude that he was in a suburb of Pittsburgh.

Almost every other name on the hotel registers is credited to Pittsburgh or some of the outlying towns.

And why not call it a suburb? Because it is four hours distant need not change the fact that it is the suburban resort of hundreds of Pittsburghers.

Cleveland sends quite a lot of good people, but it is far behind the Smoky City. Erie and Cleveland send a good many "over Sunday" visitors, and so do the other nearby towns, but the stayers are largely from our town.

While Cambridge Springs is a sure enough summer resort, a large majority of all who resort here do so for rest and not for fun and frolic. It is gay enough for tired folks, and yet quiet enough to suit the more sedate as well as those who are in quest of health.

It is a fact, if what everybody says may be taken as conclusive evidence, that no man can drink of these waters and booze at the same time. For some unexplained reason they won't mix. And they do say, also, that visitors invariably cut booze out and stick to water.

That may account for the scarcity of boozers and those who travel as sports.

* * * * *

In addition to being a summer resort this is a health resort, but apparently not the sort to which "chronics" take so kindly, for you do not see many invalids at the Springs or elsewhere. The natives say that invalids do not remain such very long after their arrival.

A better explanation is that this is a rest resort where folks can get rid of that tired feeling in the shortest time and without contracting a more tiresome tired feeling.

The hotels are comfortable, tables abundantly supplied with the products of their own gardens and dairies, and provided with flowing fountains of the healing waters, so that those in search of rest and renovation of body can be accommodated.

And then there are cottages and private houses for those who prefer being out of the crowd and confusion common to hotels.

As for amusement and pastime there is enough, such as bowling, billiards, dancing, driving, rowing, fishing, golf and the like. But somehow the people busy themselves most in visiting the springs, drinking from the fountains and resting.

Going to see the cars come in is one of the regulation stunts, and one that is well worked.

Pittsburghers complain at first on account of not having their morning papers for breakfast, but after a few days they take kindly to the last edition of the evening papers of the previous day.

* * * * *

In these ripping, tearing times rest is the thing.

But how to get it, that's the question.

Idleness, you know, is neither restful nor helpful to one who is tired. In fact idleness is more tiring than active employment.

Many imagine that knocking off work for a few days will afford them the rest they need, but after trying it for a day or two they are willing to begin work again, although they are not rested, much less recuperated.

If our busy people knew how to do it they could rest without losing time, or rather without lessening the amount of work accomplished, for what they might lose in time would be more than compensated for by efficiency.

However, this is a rushing, bustling age, consequently not conducive to rest. The fact is that there is so much to be done, and the desire for wealth is so great, that anything like rational rest is out of the question save for the few who not only take time to think, but time to do the things which they know or believe to be necessary to health.

It may be a long time, a very long time, before we learn to live rationally, and until we do we will not live well, nor will we enjoy life in the fullest sense.

* * * * *

Strange as it may seem the hustlers and bustlers usually seek hustling, bustling places in which to spend their vacations rather than places that are noted for quietness and restfulness.

Maybe it is better so, for a change to a quiet place might be too great for their nerves. And yet nothing short of such a change will afford the rest they need. Nor will a few days suffice, because they will have to first become inured to resting which in some instances might occupy their entire vacation.

Among those who are giving close attention to resting are many who had once thought they could work day in and day out year after year. They know better now, and are trying to make amends for their wrong living.

In this they are not unlike those who neglect their moral natures and allow their animal tastes and passions full swing during the best years of their lives, and when they discover they are nearing the close begin trying to make amends for their wrong living.

Whether these can recover their morals more effectually than the others can recover their physical health is a question that may be worth while thinking over.

Mr. Loeffer was 79 years old and had resided in Pittsburgh since early in the '40's. He was one of the famous "Forty-niners" and went from Pittsburgh to the Pacific coast in an ox cart. He met with little success in the gold fields, but was successful in the meat business. He retired at the age of 45 and had not been actively engaged in business since then. He was a butcher for several years in Eleventh street and later in the old market. He is survived by Mrs. Russ, wife of Frank J. Russ, also by one sister, Mrs. Anna Schultis, who resides in the Lawrenceville district. Mr. Loeffer was born in Baden, Germany, and came to this country when a boy. His wife died 11 years ago.

Mr. Hoffman was a son of Daniel Hoffman, a pioneer innkeeper and owner of the old Hoffman house on the Greensburg pike. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Hoffman is survived by his father, widow and two children.

Mrs. Ida Hopkins.

Mrs. Ida Hopkins, aged 25, of West Sharon, Pa., died yesterday of consumption at the home of her brother, Capt. James Wilson of the Allegheny police department. She is survived by her husband and two small children. The remains will be buried in Uniondale cemetery tomorrow.

PERSONALS

The Rev. J. D. Wishart of the United Presbyterian church of Ingram has resigned his charge to accept a pulpit at Pasadena, Cal. He has been at Ingram for 10 years.

Gen. John A. Wiley of Franklin, passed through Pittsburgh last night on his way to Antietam. He will be present at the formal transfer of the monuments erected in commemoration of the Pennsylvania volunteers who took part in the battle of Antietam, the bloodiest conflict of the civil war, which occurred September 17, 1863. The monuments were erected by the state and today will be turned over to the government. Gen. Wiley was a member of company C, Eighth regiment, Pennsylvania reserves, during the civil war. On the night of September 16 they arrived at Antietam and as dawn appeared were ordered to the firing line and during the day Wiley was kept in the thickest of the fight. His regiment arrived at Antietam 400 strong and before 10 o'clock in the morning 110 were killed or injured. His present visit to Antietam is the second one he has made since the battle in 1863. The previous visit was made in filling an appointment made by ex-Gov. Pattison to select the spot on which the monuments are erected. Before leaving last night Gen. Wiley said: "One of my particular reasons for attending the transfer of the monuments is to ascertain why company C was not accorded a monument. The law authorizing the monuments stipulated that any company participating in the battle of Gettysburg is entitled to a monument, and that any company in the battle at Antietam is entitled to one. But no company shall have two monuments erected to its memory." Gen. Wiley learns that no monument at either place has been erected for his company. A special train will leave Harrisburg this morning to take the delegates to Antietam.

"The principal discussion on Wheeling's streets these days is the coming presidential election," said John S. Tighe of Wheeling, last evening. He spent the day in Pittsburgh and left for home last evening. "Because the Democratic candidate for vice president is a West Virginian many people think he should receive the vote of his home state. The election will show, however, that Davis cannot carry the state."

"The assertion that the strike of the longshoremen at the lakes was not detrimental to the shipping industry is an error," said Joseph Morrison of Cleveland, when seen at the Union station last evening. Both the steamship companies and the railroads are doing all in their power to hurry coal across the lakes, but the cold weather will be upon them before the markets are supplied. However, sufficient coal has been delivered to prevent a coal famine."

PROMINENT MAN SUDDENLY CALLED

Robert M. Holland, a Braddock Business Man, Dies in Mercy Hospital.

WAS A WELL-KNOWN MASON

Robert M. Holland, aged 54, a prominent Braddock business man, and for the last 18 ytars a member of the borough council, died at 12:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Mercy hospital of pneumonia after an illness of a week. The announcement of Mr. Holland's death caused much regret in Braddock, as few of his friends knew he was seriously ill. His wife was at his bedside when death came, but his only child, Mrs. Marie Lacke of Washington, D. C., was not summoned, as her father's condition did not appear serious until a short time before his death.

Mr. Holland was born in Malvern, O., and was a son of William A. Holland, Sr. The family moved to Braddock in 1858, when Robert was a child and when there were only seven houses in that vicinity. Mr. Holland received his early training in the old First ward school of Braddock. Later he took a business course in Pittsburgh. Mr. Holland accumulated a fortune in the real estate and insurance business and other enterprises. For some years he and his brother, William A. Holland, conducted a real estate and insurance business in Braddock, but for the last 25 years Mr. Holland had had an office in Pittsburgh.

In 1883 he was elected a justice of the peace in Braddock and served for five years. He represented the Third ward in council and for 16 years served as chairman of the finance committee of council. About eight years ago Mr. Holland founded the State Bank of Braddock and served as president of the bank since.

Mr. Holland was a "life member" of Braddock's Field lodge 510, Free and Accepted Masons of Braddock. He was also a member of Shiloh chapter 257, Royal Arch Masons; Tanered commandery 48, Knights Templar; Pennsylvania consistory of S. P. R. S., Valley of Pittsburgh, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry. He was one of the oldest members of Syria Temple, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. He was a promoter of the new Syria Temple in Webster avenue, this city.

Mr. Holland was a member of the First Christian church, Braddock, and of Braddock's Field lodge, I. O. O. F. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Sarah E. McCune of Braddock, mother-in-law of Prof. Samuel Hamilton, county superintendent of schools. Mr. Holland occupied an elegant house in Second street, near Holland avenue, Braddock. He returned a fortnight ago with Mrs. Holland from a month's stay at Georgian bay, Canada, with the Kenankaymunk Fishing club of this city, of which he was a member.

Mr. Holland was a brother of the late William Holland, who lost his life on the steamer Fred Wilson, which blew up near Louisville on May 26. Mr. Holland spent several days at the scene of the accident assisting in the recovery of the bodies of his brother and of Capt. Joseph Price of Braddock, whose guest Mr. Holland was at the time of the explosion.

A sister, Mrs. Levinia Remington of Braddock died of pneumonia last April.

WHERE WAS SHE KILLED?

On Matter of State Boundary Line Hangs an Alleged Murderer's Fate.

PAWTUCKET, R. BURGLARS' BOLD WORK DOWNTOWN

Broke Into Johnston's Gun Store, but Were Captured by Policeman's Quick Wit.

LOADED DOWN WITH GUNS

Through the cleverness of Policeman Daniel Sullivan, two burglars were caught looting the gun store of John A. Johnston, 529 Smithfield street at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The officer noticed the men in the store as he passed and realizing that a single-handed attempt to capture them would prove useless hurried to Central station and there enlisted the assistance of other policemen and detectives. The officers after surrounding the gun store captured the two thieves easily. They gave their names as Frederick Stevenson of Harrisburg, and Albert Berry of this city. Both are 21 years old and Berry is known to the police. They had about $1,500 worth of plunder ready to remove from the store.

The men entered the building through the roof which they reached by entering the buildings at Oliver avenue and Smithfield street, which are being torn down. Reaching the roof they tore the trap door open and entered. They went to the first floor and ransacked the building for revolvers, knives and razors. They had 10 44-caliber Colts revolvers in their pockets when captured.

Policeman Sullivan passed the store about 4 o'clock. He saw the men at work and they noticed him. In order not to arouse their suspicion he passed the store. The men thought he did not see them and continued at work. After Sullivan had secured assistance the front door was tried and found to be locked. The burglars heard the officers and ran to the upper floors to hide. Detective Aymer and Capt. Robinson mounted a ladder and entered a second story window.

Both had pocket electric lights which they flashed through the room. They noticed several rifles lying on the floor and thought the burglars were prepared to defend themselves. They were unable to find anyone on the second floor and went to the third and found Berry hiding in a closet in the rear of the building. The officers covered him with their revolvers and ordered him to surrender. Stevenson was found hiding behind a stove on the third floor.

The two men were arraigned for a hearing before Magistrate Stewart and committed to jail for court on charges of entering a building with intent to commit a felony. They told the police they had never been arrested before.

"Shadow" Thomas and "Kid" Clark, the two burglars who were caught robbing the Beatty street house of Harry J. Daschbach, in broad daylight Thursday afternoon, were before Magistrate Negley at the Frankstown avenue police station yesterday morning and each was held in $1,000 bail to answer at court felony charges made by Inspector Milton E. Bailey.

The East End police found all the valuables stolen from the Daschbach residence. Beside the property the robbers tried to take away in a bundle which they returned for the day after the burglary and thereby got caught, they pocketed a gold watch, gold medals, a silver toilet set, three pairs of ladies' gloves and three necklaces. The watch was found in a pawn shop in Wylie avenue and the rest of the property was unearthed in the storage yard of a telephone company in Center avenue, near South Highland avenue. Inspector Bailey said last night that Clark's brother is now in jail for entering a store in Grant street.

Brought Him Back from Cleveland.

Frank Henningman, a roller of Cleveland, is alleged to have stolen $80 from Frank Leichel of McKees Rocks, at whose home he was boarding, last Saturday, then escaped to Cleveland. Detective James Ramsey found him in Cleveland and brought him back yesterday. Last night Justice Barnhart sent him to jail in default of $1,500 bail to await court trial. Of the amount stolen, $46 was recovered.

Boy's Miraculous Escape.

Eddie Clarey, 7 years old, of 2321 Sidney street, had a miraculous escape from death last night at South Twenty-third and Carson streets. He attempted to cross in front of a Carson street car and was struck and thrown to the tracks. The car passed over him and he rolled out from under the rear of the car. Beyond a few bruises he was uninjured.

NERVOUS, DYSPEPTIC WOMEN

Made Well and Strong by Pe-ru-na.

Diseased Nerves are Directly Traceable to Poor Digestion—Poor Digestion is Directly Traceable to Catarrh.

MAMIE L. RAWLINGS.

MRS. A. E. RICHTER.

"I have always found your remedy to be just right. I can only express my thanks for your kindness."—Mrs. A. E. Richter.

Mamie L. Rawlings, No. 412 10th St., N. W. Washington, D. C., writes:

"I took several bottles of Peruna, on the advice of our druggist, to cure me of catarrh in an aggravated form. This had taken such a hold on my system that I feared that I would never be able to rid myself of it, but I certainly have eradicated it from my system entirely, and this with the aid of Peruna.

"I consider it a very fine tonic, and shall always be pleased to recommend it to the many who suffer with this common trouble—catarrh.

"With the very best wishes and hearty thanks to you, I am, Mamie L. Rawlings."

Mrs. A. E. Richter, 378 Hastings St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Whenever I caught cold it settled in my left side. It started always with headaches and dizziness. I had no appetite and was very nervous. I take pleasure to inform you that through your suggestions and advice I am in good health today."—Mrs. A. E. Richter.

Catarrh of the head is liable to spread to other organs. It is the direct cause of many severe stomach derangements. Catarrh of the stomach and nervousness go hand in hand.

Nervousness is a vague term which covers all of those ailments which result from a bloodless condition of the nerve centers. Systemic catarrh is very frequently the cause of this condition. Every mucous membrane in the body is slightly deranged by systemic catarrh. This leads to a complete demoralization of the digestive and assimilative organs, and a bloodless condition of the nerve centers ensues. Nervousness is the result: fretfulness, irritability, worry, complaining—all of these mental conditions result from starved nerve centers.

The only cure is to remove the catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane.

Peruna is the remedy that will do this.

Peruna is not a nervine nor a quieting medicine. Peruna cures just the condition—catarrh.

Peruna cures catarrh of the internal organs, and the nervousness disappears.

The more nervines one takes for nervousness the more nervous he is. There is always a cause for nervousness. This cause should be discovered and remedied. Nervines are unnecessary. Peruna has cured more cases of nervousness than any other medicine in existence, simply because it cures the conditions upon which nervousness depends.

A Letter From a U. S. Senator's Wife

Mrs. Verona E. Roach, wife of the late Senator Roach of North Dakota, writes from Larimore, N. D.:

"I can cheerfully recommend your excellent remedy, Peruna. Indeed, I know of no other remedy as good as yours. It is a grand tonic."—Verona E. Roach.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the ones given above. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited indorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

LATTA LOOMS UP AS A CANDIDATE

Sends Three Conferees to the Democratic Twenty-Second Congressional Confab Here.

LOCAL DEMOCRATS BUSY, TOO

Three Democrats will come to Pittsburgh today, prepared to demand that ex-Lieut. Gov. John W. Latta be selected as the Democratic nominee for congress in the Twenty-second district, composed of Butler and Westmoreland counties. Mr. Latta's conferees are Capt. John B. Keenan, James K. Clarke and C. Ward Eicher. They will meet the Butler county conferees at the Seventh Avenue hotel today. They are instructed to secure the nomination of Latta, if possible.

The Democratic conferees of the Twenty-fourth district, composed of Washington, Beaver and Lawrence counties, will meet at the Monongahela house to choose a candidate to run against Ernest F. Acheson, the present Republican congressman. There is no competition for the honor, as it is a foregone conclusion that Acheson will be re-elected.

Local Democrats will also be busy today. The county executive committee will meet at the headquarters in Diamond street to name that important adjunct to Democratic campaigns, a finance committee. The committee on speakers will hold a preliminary meeting, ascertain the names of those spellbinders who are willing to speak during the campaign and prepare a program of meetings. Democrats have been slow in paying their taxes this year, and the committee on taxes will try to devise means and raise money with which to enfranchise their brethren.

The Democratic county chairman, Thomas B. Alcorn, said yesterday that he knew of no other proposed meetings, but it was asserted from other sources that several committees appointed by the Democratic legislative district conventions to fill vacancies might meet to nominate candidates, the conventions having adjourned without making nominations. Because of the absence of several members from town, the Fourth district committee may not meet. That is the only district in which Democrats are willing to sacrifice themselves, as it has on former occasions gone Democratic at elections. There is a fight on between the First and Fourth wards, the Democrats of the First demanding that the nomination be given at last to one of them, and the Fourth warders wanting one of themselves nominated again.

The Francis L. Robbins Republican association met yesterday in the Monongahela house and elected delegates to the State League of Republican Clubs to be held in Reading. Oliver P. Chase, Robert Hamilton and E. W. Lindsay were elected delegates and L. B. Young, Arthur S. Thomas and B. J. Farrell alternates.

P. C. KNOX MARCHING CLUB ORGANIZED IN ALLEGHENY

North Side Republicans Will Send a Big Delegation to Reading Under the Junior Senator's Name.

More than 300 Republicans gathered last night in Schwerd's hall, McClure avenue, Allegheny, to organize a campaign marching club. This was accomplished in a very satisfactory manner. The name chosen is the P. C. Knox Marching club. The organization is the first to adopt the name of Pennsylvania's new senator and it promises to be a very popular one to rally about.

The enthusiasm manifested last night was evidence of the fact that scores of Republicans who were misled in recent campaigns by the Citizens organization have repented and will turn in to make Allegheny the Republican stronghold it has been for years.

Harry S. Lydick presided and Ralph Miller acted as secretary. Senator Charles A. Muehlbronner and William T. Bradberry made addresses. Senator Muehlbronner said the object of the marching club was to arouse Republican sentiment and to give a rebuke to the mongrel politics that have caused disruption in the old party on the North Side for the past three years.

It was decided to call the new organization the P. C. Knox Republican club. William T. Bradberry was elected president; J. W. Anderson, Samuel J. Grenet and George T. Davis, vice presidents; David Cadugan, recording secretary; Emmet Webster, corresponding secretary; John Dunn, Jr., financial secretary; Robert S. Orr, treasurer, and Harry S. Lydick, captain.

The club will have its first regular meeting and drill next Monday night. Senator Muehlbronner wants the club to attend the state convention of Republican clubs in Reading September 21. Arrangements will be made Monday night for transportation for all those who can attend. By that time it is expected about 300 names will have been enrolled on the club roster, and the officers are urging everyone to go, that Allegheny may be well represented.

LIKE HERBERT'S ORCHESTRA.

Germans Appreciate Its Work at Saengerfest—E. P. Werner Gives Visitors a Reception.

AKRON, O., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The streets of the city were ablaze with red light tonight, when 800 singers, members of the many German singing socities here taking part in the saengerfest of the Central Ohio Saenger-Bezirk, marched from Music hall to the home of E. P. Werner, president of the Werner Company, where they were given a reception. Although the new music hall is the largest in the city, many were turned away this afternoon and tonight.

Victor Herbert's orchestra has captured the city and is a pleasing feature of the saengerfest. The matinee concert Saturday afternoon ends the musical feature of the saengerfest. Saturday night the three days' program will end with a grand ball and promenade. Officers will be elected Saturday morning.

EMPLOYES HONOR WIGHTMAN.

Present Retiring Manager of Glass Plant at Monongahela With Tea Set and Pocketbook.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Today the employes of the American Window Glass Company, factory No. 4, presented S. R. Wightman, who has just resigned the position of manager, with a silver tea set and tray and a morocco pocketbook. Thomas Gantley, who has worked for the Wightman family for the past 35 years, made the presentation speech on behalf of the men, to which Mr. Wightman replied, after which the men were photographed, together with the present.

Mr. Wightman entered the glass business in 1869 as clerk in his father's office in East Pittsburgh, later being promoted to sales agent, in which position he gained many honors, and in 1882 became manager of the Monongahela plant of the Thomas Wightman Glass Company, which was merged into the American Window Glass Company in 1900.

HAYS ASKS FOR COUNTY SALARY

Mayor's Stated Case to Collect for City Hearings Was Argued Yesterday.

HOMELESS WAIF IN COURT

The suit of Mayor Hays against the county, a stated case to recover $1,000 salary alleged to be due the mayor under the act of May 1, 1861, for trying disorderly conduct and vagrancy cases and those involving drunkenness, was argued yesterday before Judge John M. Kennedy in court of common pleas No. 3. The mayor was represented by Attorneys William Rodgers and George H. Calvert, the latter arguing the case.

Mr. Calvert contended that the decision of the supreme court in the proceedings by which Mayor Hays was given his seat on the prison board decided that the present charter act did not repeal the laws under which former mayors collected salaries for the same service; that the "ripper" bill did away with fees, and inasmuch as the county is relieved from liability for costs in these cases which arise in the city, it must pay the salary. The costs are always paid in cases outside of the city.

County Solicitor Alcorn argued that the act of May 1, 1861, was repealed by the "ripper" act, and also that the mayor does not personally try these cases and, therefore is not entitled to any remuneration. Both submitted briefs to the court, which reserved its decision.

At a session of the juvenile court, Judge S. A. McClung presiding, several cases were disposed of. The case of Mabel McCafferty, 6 years old, who was before the court some time ago to be given a home, was heard. About a year ago the child's father was killed and not long ago the mother dropped dead, leaving the child alone in the world. Mrs. Shannon of 537 Collins avenue took charge of the little one and has since had her, the order to that effect being made by Judge Elliott Rodgers. At the time two other families wanted the child, but could not get her. Yesterday a petition was presented by Catherine Swaney, cousin of the child, asking that a home be secured for the little one, as the woman who was given the child, it was said, had tired of her. No disposition was made.

The Sterling Manufacturing Company has entered suit in the United States circuit court against John R. Whittemore, formerly one of its salesmen, of Erie, Pa., to recover a book furnished the defendant when he was working for the plaintiff. An injunction is asked to restrain the defendant from disposing of the book, as it is claimed to contain valuable information regarding the construction of boilers.

In the equity suit of John B. Lovatt against M. B. Johnson, executor of C. B. Lovatt, a deceased brother of the plaintiff, for an accounting of a partnership, the defendant filed answer. He states that no accounting can be had until certain suits now pending are determined.

Frank Gallant, a well-known Penn avenue hotelkeeper, by Attorneys O'Brien & Brawner, entered suit against Andrew Kasiminowski for $1,000 damages. He alleges the defendant charged him with assault and battery before an alderman, and that there being no case made out against him, he was discharged.

Judge James R. Macfarlane filed an opinion in the equity suit of William Miller & Sons against Kaufmann Brothers and Charles Bickel, dismissing the case at the plaintiffs' cost, as they were not present to offer evidence in support of the bill when the case was called for trial. The question arose over the erection of a building. Bickel, the architect, was the umpire on questions, and the court decides he was not disqualified.

In the suit of G. & J. Riesick against J. K. Lanahan, Judge Elliott Rodgers filed an opinion on the question of the defendant's right to defend. The question was raised by the failure to file the transcript from the alderman's office within the required time. A verdict of $164 was found for the plaintiff with the question reserved for the court. The court refuses to interfere with the verdict.

Paul Librarakis and Gust Lampros, doing business as the Jeannette Confectionery Company of Jeannette, filed a petition in bankruptcy. Their liabilities are given as $9,157 30 with assets of $6,547.

The following executions were issued yesterday: James Hartrey, assignee, vs. Christian Weiss, administrator, et al., $668; the Savings Fund Building and Loan Association of Pittsburgh vs. Anson H. Mickey, $1,006 13; William Reed vs. Herbert H. Jefferies, $1,008 98; the South Twelfth Street Building and Loan Association vs. James W. Neeley, et al., $1,840 87; Henry H. Negley, et al., executors, vs. Jacob J. Speck, $1,083 58; John M. Patterson vs. George Hazlett, administrator, $596 28; Investors' Land Company use, vs. Annie McDowell, et al., $ 1,062 82; the Anchor Building and Loan Association of Mansfield, Pa., vs. Frederick Lewis Seller, $1,301 41; J. W. Hall vs. Elizabeth Hamilton, $1,924 40; Standard Building and Loan Association vs. A. Fabian, $1,046 50; Springdale Building and Loan Association vs. Albert F. Rhodes, et al., $1,702 70; Life Protective Savings and Loan Association vs. Ann Gibbs, $1,545 56; Veronz Building and Loan Association vs. William D. Wilson, $1,189 65; Thomas F. Stewart, use, vs. Robert Marshall, $3,887 50; Prudential Trust Company, use, vs. James J. Leahy, $4,191 38; Ferdinand Pollock vs. Margaret Kelly, et al., $2,768 36; Harriet R. Anderson vs. Bella C. Davis, et al., $896 50; Harriet R. Anderson vs. William Allshouse, $2,108 24; same vs. same, $2,530 50; Dr. C. F. Keyser vs. Ed. F. Williams, et al., executors, $1,949 81.

The execution reported against Attorney R. B. Scandrett and others by William Zoller, in a mortgage foreclosure proceedings, is not against the personal estate of Mr. Scandrett, but against some property which is passing through his hands as attorney, and of which he was made trustee.

Moose Hunting.

There is a region in Canada, located in Northern Ontario, where the Moose, "the monarch of the forest," is to be found in great numbers. This territory is known as "Temagami," and is reached from Buffalo, Chicago and Detroit by the Grand Trunk Railway System to North Bay. The open season in this region is from October 16th to November 15th, both days inclusive, and by applying to G. T. Bell, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Grand Trunk Railway System, Montreal, all information concerning routes, guides and full particulars can be had.

The March of Improvement Disturbs the Rest of More of Pittsburgh's Old Inhabitants

The bones of fully a score of skeletons have been removed from the embankment in Oliver avenue in the rear of the new First Presbyterian church building, a part of the old Fort Duquesne and Fort Pitt burying ground, which was located there in the days long since past, having been dug up within the past couple of days by workmen who are leveling the earth to meet the grade of the street. A skeleton of a woman was found yesterday with red hair clinging to the skull. The bones, some of persons buried 150 years ago, have been placed in rough boxes and, together with other skeletons found in the part of the cemetery fronting in Sixth avenue, will be placed in a crypt under one of the towers of the new church. Among the bones yesterday was also found a comb. Nearly a dozen tombstones were also dug up, the majority of which were so worn by age that the inscriptions could not be deciphered. Six large boxes and one barrel of bones are in the rear of the new church awaiting reinterment.

SOUSA'S FAREWELL WILL BE OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Special Matinee Arranged for This Afternoon at Exposition and Large Crowd Is Expected.

This is Sousa's last day at the exposition, and it is proposed to make it one long remembered. The Saturday afternoon crowd at the exposition is usually composed of great throngs of women and girls, with such men as have the afternoon off. In view of this fact, Sousa has arranged this afternoon's program accordingly, and it is expected that a crowd equal in size to any evening audience will attend. The soloists will be Miss Liebling and Jessie Strauss, the new violinist, who joined Sousa yesterday. Miss Strauss is a Cincinnati girl. This is her first engagement in Pittsburgh, and she is making a decided hit at each appearance.

Sousa leaves tonight for Chicago, where he plays a week at the Auditorium and then goes on across the continent to San Francisco, playing through much new territory on the way.

Last night was Sousa's second "symphony and society night, the programs for his two concerts containing some of the choicest master compositions. Miss Strauss' Sarasate "Zapateado" aroused tremendous applause. Miss Liebling's solo in the second concert was David's "Pearl of Brazil," with flute obligato by Marshall Lufsy.

The special farewell matinee programs for today follow:

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 16.—Stage of the river at 6 p. m. today was 4.8 feet and stationary. Clear and pleasant. Friday's departures were: Courier, Maysville; Ben Hur, Louisville; Indiana, Louisville. There is a question among rivermen as to the correctness of the gauge for the stage of the river as used by the United States government which is stationed at the Front street pumping station of the Cincinnati water works. They claim that private marks and the shore show that the river has fallen at least an inch during the last 24 hours. Coal men and harbor masters, who have loaded barges at the upper landings, are much perturbed at the stage of Craw Fish bar, which is opposite the upper end of Dayton, Ky. This is the shallowest place in the river and loaded barges cannot be brought over it without great danger, even if lightened. Capt. Joseph B. Crowthers of Coal Center, Pa., well known in coal circles, was a visitor on 'change yesterday as the guest of his brother, R. C. Crowthers. Capt. Fred Hartweg of the Huntington and St. Louis Towboat Company, is on a visit to the fair at St. Louis.

HUNTINGTON—River three-eighth feet, falling. Heavy fog. No Cincinnati boats today.

PT. PLEASANT—River one foot four inches and falling. Weather clear and cool.

LOUISVILLE—River falling, three feet in canal, eight inches on falls, four feet two inches below docks. Weather clear and pleasant.

STEUBENVILLE—River one foot 11 inches and stationary. Weather clear and cool.

WHEELING—River 2.4 and stationary; cloudy and warm. Departed: Bessie Smith for Parkersburg.

GREENSBORO—River six feet and stationary. Weather clear and cool. Columbia down Saturday and Woodward up.

OIL CITY—River four inches and falling. Weather clear and pleasant.

WARREN—River .9. Weather clear and warm.

GALLIPOLIS—River two feet 10 inches and falling. Weather cloudy and warm.

MORGANTOWN—River five feet nine inches and stationary. Weather clear and warm.

PARKERSBURG—River 2.8 feet and falling. Weather clear and warm. The Bedford left at 6 a. m. for Wheeling.

RIVERS ARE VERY LOW.

Excursion Boats Quitting and Up-River Packet Line Boats All That Is Left.

The stage of water in the local rivers is lower now than it has been at this season for several years, and the water is still falling gradually. The stage in the local harbor is only about five feet and falling. Unless there is rain next week, there will be very little navigation.

Excursion boats will do little work after this week. The Francis J. Torrance will close its season tonight. She will take out a big party of delegates to the convention of the Society of Chemical Industry today, and the boat will go into winter quarters at Moss Side park on Sunday. The entire crew except Capt. John Ward will leave the steamer there. The Mayflower and Beauty will do very little from this time on.

The Morgantown boats, however, will run as usual until prevented by severe winter weather. The Columbia got out yesterday with a good trip of freight and passengers, and the Woodward will be here on time this morning. The repair work at lock No. 3 has been completed.

Local River Notes.

At 9 o'clock last evening the marks on the gauge at the Davis Island dam indicated a stage of 2.1 feet and the river was stationary.

Harbor No. 25 will meet this morning.

The Tom Rees is receiving a new shaft and the Twilight is at the Manchester docks waiting her turn to go on the docks.

Capt. Max Sebolt, in charge of the transportation department of the River Coal Company at Louisville, was in the city yesterday. He was called here by the illness of his mother, who resides in Glenfield.

Glenshaw Glass Company Resumes.

The Glenshaw Glass Company has resumed operations after being closed during July and August. About 150 men are employed at the works and enough orders have been booked to keep the plant busy for months.

CHEMISTS MADE MERRY IN JEST, SMOKE AND SONG

Distinguished Visitors Enjoyed an Informal Evening After a Day of Strenuous Sight-Seeing. Women Attend the Theater.

A "chemical smoker" was the novel function that kept half a hundred men merry at the Hotel Schenley last night. Although the adjective, "chemical," suggested a very unusual ingredient for clay pipes, the jolly members of the Society of the Chemical Industry who participated in the festivities, solemnly declared that they smoked nothing but the pure dried weed from Cuba and Kentucky. Nevertheless they made clouds of blue rings that made the banquet room of the hotel look like a block of Newfoundland fog. The German chemist here could not distinguish the "mution chop" whiskers of the English chemist on the other side of the table, and the kaiser mustache of the German was equally obscure to the Englishman.

When the range of vision was so short it was not to be expected that those who had something to say would speak in whispers—and they didn't. They sang some, they jested a great deal, they told endless yarns and talked shop very little. Those who had parched throats from the smoke did not drink H—2—O. It was forbidden. Pittsburgh has no filtration plant. There were no formalities and the man who suggested formulas was fined three pipes for each offense.

The "chemical smoker" ended a day of strenuous sightseeing, and while the chemists were enjoying song and story and righteously avoiding H—2—O, their better halves were being amused by Raymond Hitchcock as "The Yankee Consul" in the boxes of the Nixon theater.

The day began at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning when the men of the party left the hotel to visit the big plants of the Westinghouse interests at East Pittsburgh. They took luncheon at Kennywood park and spent the afternoon at the Carnegie mills in Duquesne and Homestead. The ladies started an hour later and drove in carriages through Schenley park, the East End residence district and Highland park to the Country club, where luncheon was served. They spent the afternoon in a drive around the boulevards.

Today will be spent in much the same fashion. Both gentlemen and the ladies in the party will divide into small groups and visit various industrial plants about the city and will take luncheon at the Union club. The afternoon will be spent in an excursion up the Monongahela river on the Francis J. Torrance, the boat going to McKeesport. The party will leave for the west at the East Liberty station at 10:10 o'clock tonight.

ILLINOIS WILL INCREASE THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

Canvass of the Country Districts Shows a Possible 150,000 Outside Cook County.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The new Republican state committee held its first meeting today to receive reports from the country districts, and the tenor of the returns indicates that Illinois belongs in the safely Republican column this year. State Chairman West, who has been sounding notes of alarm over alleged Democratic activity, was confronted with statements showing that the state is in no danger, from all present indications, and, of course, he received the news with great satisfaction.

"If I were chairman of the committee I presume I, too, would try to scare the party workers, but the fact is Illinois will give a larger Republican majority this year than ever before," said Maj. "Dan" Hogan of Mound City. "I look for 150,000 outside of Cook county. Mr. West's policy is a good one, but from all I can learn the Democrats are losing ground each day."

"The Republicans will come up to Cook with at least 100,000," said Secretary of State Rose, who was at the council.

"At the lowest estimate we will have 75,000 outside of Chicago," said Food Commissioner Jones.

WEDDING IN ALDERMAN'S OFFICE PUT AN END TO A TRIP

A wedding occurred in the office of Alderman P. B. Reilly yesterday afternoon, the alderman performing the ceremony. The principals were Stanislav Balcer and Marajona Dojek, both of Snowden. Balcer spent Thursday night in the Central police station and rather than face certain charges decided to marry the girl.

On Thursday Balcer suddenly left his boarding house at Snowden, came to Pittsburgh and secured a steamship ticket for the old country. He had no sooner made the purchase than the girl and her father, Joseph Dojek, arrived and requested Detective W. A. Pulket to intercept him. Pulket found Balcer shortly after and placed him under arrest.

CHURCH NEWS OF SISTER CITIES

New Series of Sermons by Rev. W. J. Russell on Things for Christians to Believe.

ARUNDEL'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The Rev. William J. Russell, pastor of the East End Christian church, has prepared a series of sermons which will commence tomorrow and continue each Sunday until the first of the year. The mornings will be devoted to the discussion of what a Christian should believe. The evenings will be taken up with historical sermons, beginning in October with the reformers. November will be devoted to the poets.

Mr. Russell's sermons are always thoughtful and filled with meat for the church-goer, and the new series on what to believe, it is expected, will prove one of the most popular he has yet delivered. The first sermon fo the new series will be delivered tomorrow morning on "What to Believe with Respect to God."

The First Congregational church, Franklin and Manhattan streets, Allegheny, of which the chapel and adjoining rooms have been closed while undergoing repairs, will reopen that part of the building by holding rededication services on Sunday evening, September 25. An interesting program has been arranged. A special committee of nine has been appointed to look after revival services, which are to commence shortly after the rededication services.

The Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Sixth avenue, returned from his vacation last week and resumed services last Suday. Dr. Arundel will conduct both services in Trinity tomorrow. In the morning he will speak on "A Great Helper Who Needed Help," and in the evening on "Gideon and His Picked Men." During the Sunday evening services of October and November Dr. Arundel will give a series of addresses on "The Beatitudes Applied to the Conditions of Twentieth Century Life," discussing "True Poverty," "True Mourning," "True Meekness," "True Hunger," "True Mercy," "True Purity" and "True Peacemaking."

A meeting will be held in the West Etna public school tomorrow to organize a new Presbyterian mission. Students from Allegheny Theological seminary will have charge of the work.

Both the morning and evening services of the Second Presbyterian church will be held for the first time in the Bijou theater tomorrow, and will continue there each Sunday during the fall. Basso Alexander Bevan of London, England, fresh from opera triumphs in Europe and the British isles and South America, will be chief soloist at both services and will be supported by the Second Presbyterian church chorus under the leadership, for the time, of Benjamin Franklin Butts, as Prof. Tali Esen-Morgan, the precentor for the coming year, will not take charge of the choir until the middle of the week. Pastor S. Edward Young will deliver a discourse on "What Is Man?" in the morning, and in the evening his topic will be "Hard-Working Mary."

Highland park is the place for the only park service tomorrow, which will take place at 3:30 on the site of the green sward between the zoo and the North Highland car entrance. The instrumental music will be furnished by the Braddock Library band under the direction of W. L. Mayer. Basso Alexander Bevan will be chief soloist, and Benjamin Franklin Butts will direct the vocal portion of the music. Paster S. Edward Young will deliver the address. Should the weather be stormy, arrangements have been made to hold the service either under the shelter of the zoo or in the new shelter house.

WIVES AND SWEETHEARTS GOING TO PHILIPPINES

Twenty-Five Additional School Teachers Have Been Supplied by the War Department.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Twenty-five sweethearts and wives of school teachers in the Philippines have also been appointed school teachers and will soon arrive in the archipelago. School will soon open for 25,000 little brown youngsters.

Some of the schools are located in remote districts where it is unsafe for maiden teachers to live, not on account of insurrection, but because of the menace to any woman on the rough borderland of civilization. To these posts only men or husbands and wives in the school service will be assigned. There will be many marriages in the islands when the last contingent of 150 teachers, just supplied by the bureau of insular affairs, war department, arrives.

Killed by Fall of Slate.

John Miller, aged 30 and married, of Oakdale, died yesterday at his home of injuries received earlier in the day by a fall of slate in the Cherry mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Iffley station.

PARALYSIS CURED

MR. JOHN KENNEY'S CASE YIELDS TO TREATMENT.

His Condition Had Been Thought Hopeless. His Recovery a Great Wonder—Some Details Given by Himself.

Mr. Kenney has actually escaped from the paralytic's fate to which he seemed a short time since hopelessly doomed. The surprising report has been fully verified and some important details secured in a personal interview with the recent sufferer.

"The doctor," said Mr. Kenney, "told me that if I wanted to live any length of time I would have to give up work altogether, and he told my friends that the paralysis which had begun would in time involve my whole body."

"Just how were you afflicted at this time?" Mr. Kenney was asked.

"Well, I had first hot and then cold and clammy feelings, and at times my body felt as if needles were being stuck into it. These sensations were followed by terrible pains, and again I would have no feeling at all, but a numbness would come over me, and I would not be able to move. The most agonizing tortures came from headaches and a pain in the region of my spine."

"Were you able to sleep?"

"No. That was one of the worst features of my case. Night after night I could not get any natural sleep and my system was wrecked by the strain of the torturing pains and the effect of the opiates I was forced to take to induce sleep. As I look back on the terrible suffering I endured during this period I often wonder how I retained my reason through it all."

"Have you got rid of all these troubles?"

"Yes, indeed, I am entirely rid of them, and am daily working at my trade as a hat finisher, but relief came from an unexpected quarter. My help came from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I read one day in a paper an account of a case like mine which had been cured by these wonderful pills for the blood and nerves. I bought a box and began to take them. The very first box seemed to help me, and seven boxes made me entirely well. There can be no doubt about the thoroughness of my cure, for I have worked steadily ever since and that is nearly four years."

Mr. Kenney is at present employed by the Merrimac Hat Company and resides at 101 Aubin street, Amesbury, Mass. The remedy which he used with such satisfactory results, is sold by all druggists throughout the world, and is offered as a specific for all nervous troubles, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured neuralgia, nervous prostration, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia, as well as common ailments such as headaches, insomnia and debility.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR INDUSTRIES

State Bureau of Statistics Reports Good Conditions of Output and Wages.

A BIG GAIN IN ALL LINES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 16.

Official reports to the state bureau of industrial statistics show how much more prosperous are the industries of Pennsylvania under the Roosevelt administration than they were at the close of Cleveland's second administration.

Without any desire to make political capital for the Republican party much valuable information along this line has been collected by the agents of the bureau and embodied in the latest annual report of Robert C. Baer, chief of the bureau.

The advance sheets of the report were issued today and they show that notwithstanding the loss of many plants on account of going out of business and failure and some plants removing from the state the remaining 784 plants considered indicate that 1903 was a prosperous year.

There was a gain in capital over 1902 of $28,069,926 and over 1896 an increase in capitalization of $96,196,729. Basic material used also shows a gain over 1902, although the gain is more noticeable when compared with 1896 business. There was $115,709,327 more raw material used last year than in 1896.

The manufactured product in the industries reporting had a market value in 1896 of $172,906,167. The value of manufactured product has grown steadily year by year until now it represents a total value of $393,448,052, a gain of 127 per cent.

The most important result in the comparative series appears in the employment of labor. In 1896 124,563 people were employed; in 1903 266,311 were engaged in the same establishments, a gain of 65.6 per cent. In 1896 labor was paid $47,530,-623; in 1903, $57,740,260.

Big Increase in Wages.

It will be noticed that while the increase in employes was 65.6 per cent over 1896 the increase in wages for the same period was 105.9 per cent. This increase holds true as to the yearly earnings. In 1896 the average yearly earnings were $381 58; in 1903 they were $481 17, or a gain of 26.1 per cent.

The report shows that there were produced in this state in 1903 8,181,652 gross tons of pig iron, having a market value of $121,775,616 and 8,894,501 gross tons of Bessemer steel, open hearth steel and crucible steel, a grand total of 16,567,913 gross tons, having a market value of $458,097,248.

In the furnaces, the steel mills and the rolling mills there were employed 121,663 working people, not including superintendents and office force, yielding earnings for 1903 of $78,666,310. There was a slight falling off in the production of iron and steel in 1903, but in spite of apparent checks the steel industry, Mr. Baer says, is not languishing and men of successful plans and experience are under no apprehension regarding its future.

The total output of anthracite coal for 1903 was from collieries 64,595,664 gross tons and from "washeries" 3,358,190 gross tons. Another industry that has sprung up in connection with anthracite coal is dredging the rivers for coal that is carried down the streams by high water. From this source was redeemed last year for commercial purposes 177,528 gross tons, making a total gross tonnage of 68,111,-382 and having a market value of $154,-098,673.

Large Anthracite Production.

The average number of people employed in the production of anthracite in 1903 was 157,955 and the wages paid amounted to $77,624,281. The washeries employed 1,715 working people and they earned $808,401. In the dredging of coal from the rivers there were employed 317 working people, earning $68,890. This makes a total of persons employed in the production of this fuel 159,985. The total earnings received by the anthracite wage workers amounted to $78,391 682.

The total tonnage of bituminous coal in Pennsylvania in 1903 was 101,113,290 net tons, a gain over 1902 of 7,938,995. The amount realized in the mines in 1902 was $96,725,939 and in 1903 the operators received $128,991,363, making an increase to the state's wealth for last year of $35,-265,424.

Although there was only 8.5 per cent increase in the tonnage of bituminous last year the increase in value was 37.6 per cent. This is accounted for by the scarcity due to the strike in the anthracite industry and as anthracite and bituminous come in competition the bituminous operators were unable to realize a considerable advance in prices.

In comparing 1902 with 1903 as to the number of persons employed there were 111,229 engaged in the bituminous industry in 1903. In 1903 the bureau's report showed 145,880 wage earners, an increase of 34,651. The total amount of wages paid in 1902 was $46,100,170. In 1903 the wage earners in the bituminous fields received for their labor $78,858,002.

Coal Miners' Earnings Larger.

By the bituminous mine workers taking out the coal work by contract, the average number of days worked in 1902 was 235 days and in 1903 234 days, but their earning capacity was largely enhanced in 1903 as their tonnage was greater. Had there been the same number of workers in 1902 they would have earned an increase of $13,850,229.

When considering the value of the coal and the amount of wages paid, Mr. Baer says, it should be remembered that the wages of the coke workers are counted in the total wages paid, while the value of the coal is given before it is coked. There were 19,459,682 net tons coked coal for which the bureau has no record of value nor of the sum for which it was sold.

In 1896 when the bureau began gathering statistics on the tinplate industry in this state there was invested capital in this industry amounting to $3,627,275, while in 1903 it showed $7,942,754. In 1896 the black plate works produced 97,-814,762 pounds of black plate tinned, as compared with 517,015,081 pounds in 1903, or an increase of 428.6 per cent.

In 1896 the entire production of black plate, tinned and untinned, was 158,306,-490 pounds. In 1903 it amounted to 577,-283,812 pounds, a gain over 1896 of 418,-926,822 pounds. The increased value of the Pennsylvania tin plate product naturally follows: For 1896 the value was $4,637,811 and for 1903 $18,790,562, a gain in eight years of $14,152,751.

The average number of people employed in 1896 in this industry in Pennsylvania was 3,194. In 1903 the average was 8,261.

In 1896 the amount of wages earned was $1,437,226, while in 1903 the earnings reached $5,688,188, an increase of $4,250,-962. The continued production of tin and terne plate by the black plate works and dipping works in 1896 amounted to 139,-588,703 pounds, having a value of $5,045,-097 and in 1903 it is shown that there were produced 554,234,702 pounds, an increase of 414,645,999 pounds over 1896, with an increased value for the same years of comparison amounting to $15,675,832.

It Is First in the Production of Eighteen Commodities and Its Thousands of Plants Employ a Quarter Million People.

Visitors to the Mines building at the St. Louis fair are amazed at the exhibit of the resources of the Pittsburgh district, as shown by the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce. The big relief map of the district is the first thing that catches the eye, but the array of figures showing the greatness of this territory is a source of amazement. To impress the figures on the mind of all who see them the chamber of commerce has issued a pamphlet containing a photographic reproduction of the map and the figures relating to the industries of the Pittsburgh district. An item concerning this pamphlet appeared in The Gazette Wednesday last, but in order that the thousands of readers of this paper may have the figures for reference they are reproduced herewith with the diagrams.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR FIGHT AGAIN APPEARS IN COURT

Simon Burns Wants John H. Hayes and Others Adjudged in Contempt and Enjoined.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The factional fight in the Knights of Labor again appeared in court today when a petition was filed in the district supreme court by Simon Burns and others against John W. Hayes and others, alleging disregard of the court's recent decision in favor of the former and asking that the defendant be adjudged in contempt of court and made to pay penalty. The court immediately issued an order requiring the defendants to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt.

The complaint says that notwithstanding the fact that the defendants were enjoined from pretending to be officers of the Knights of Labor, incorporated, Hayes, Chamberlain and Mansion have issued and distributed what they call the "Official Journal and Convention Book" of the general assembly of the Knights of Labor, to be held at Milwaukee November 15 to 20, 1904. It is charged that the defendants also have issued what purports to be the official organ of the order, entitled "The Journal," with the words "Knights of Labor" immediately underneath, and that although Hayes and Chamberlain were enjoined from interfering with the order, they have corresponded with the officers and members and with the local organizations to induce them to withhold support from the order and to assist Hayes in the publication of his journal.

Other allegations are made tending to show that the defendants have claimed to be running the paper in the interest of the order and the court is asked to enjoin the defendants from issuing any further copies of the paper.

ONE FEATURE OF GLASS FIGHT GETS INTO COURT

Maj. McCandless Sues the American Company—Contest for Place on Directorate Grows Still Warmer.

A suit has been entered by ex-Treasurer William G. McCandless of the American Window Glass Company, against that company, but the papers in the case have been withdrawn from the files at the court house and little is known of it except that it has its basis in a contention over machine stock. J. Scott Ferguson is representing Major McCandless.

The fight over the directorate of the company is growing warmer as the time of the stockholders' meeting approaches. Who will win out is undetermined, although the friends of James A. Chambers are making a good fight for him. The opposition is lead by T. Hart Given, who recently succeeded Mr. Chambers as president of the American Window Glass Machine Company.

It is claimed that Mr. Given holds proxies for about 85 per cent of the stock and that he can win out with all ease. The inability of the Chambers' faction to place their representative on the board will not be definitely demonstrated, however, until the meeting is held and votes are counted.

TOOK A FLYER IN WHIZ CART

Found Shopping Dead Easy Enveloped in Aristocratic Odor of Gasoline.

THEN BILKED HIS CHAFFEUR

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 16.

A flyer was taken by Harry B. Kramer, 36 years old, of 1101 Norris street. A Land Title Trust Company's check-book and an automobile went with him. He paraded Chestnut street, enveloped with the aristocratic odor of gasoline, and shopped.

In the City hall police court today Kramer's chauffeur, William Laws, charged him with being a swindler. Law's employer, Banker Bros., on North Broad street, lost $17, but Laws was more grieved at his loss of a $3 tip.

Kramer picked out the biggest car in the shop and the neatest chauffeur.

"Run up and down Chestnut street," he ordered. "There will be a lot of my friends parading."

Kramer bowed to the right and left, but many haughty damsels gave him a sub-cellar freeze. Nothing abashed, Kramer steamed up to a boot shop and left an order. The automobile gave him an air of distinction, and the service in the shoe store so pleased him that he went on a general shopping tour.

At Twelfth and Chestnut streets Kramer gave the shover of the machine one bell to stop, and hailed three young men.

"Boys, I want you to try my new machine," said Kramer. They climbed in and held on with both hands while the car coughed and strangled on its way out to Broad street. Gasoline is hard on the throat unless one is to the manor born, and the quartet made many stops at Broad street cafes.

Kramer returned his friends to Chestnut street, and then asked for his bill.

"For two and a half hours?" asked the chauffeur.

"I'll want this wagon two hours longer. How much?" asked Kramer.

He was told $17. He wrote a check for $20, and ordered to be driven to Broad street and Montgomery avenue.

"I'll not need the machine for a couple of hours. Take it home. The bill is $17. Here is a check for $20. You take the $3 and blow yourself," said Kramer.

At the automobile stables the chauffeur was told that checks were not good. The check came back from the Land Title Trust Company marked "no funds."

Kramer was arrested at his home today. He was held for a further hearing to give the detectives time to learn how many checks he passed during his shopping tour. CHESTER D. POTTER.

Total accumulated surplus of three companies on June 30, 1904, was $12,376,-455.

The total production of anthracite coal from lands owned and leased by the Coal and Iron company was 10,410,849 tons, an increase of 2,827,870 tons over the previous year. The cost of coal mined and purchased during the year was 4 1-19 cents per ton higher than for the previous year, and the price realized on all sizes was 11 6-10 cents per ton less, making a total decrease in the net amount realized of 15 7-10 cents per ton compared with the previous year.

OFFICER'S STORY SOLVES BIG DYNAMITE SENSATION

Explosive Was Played With by Little Children—Taken to the Police Station.

Discovery of dynamite at the East End police station yesterday caused a sensation for several hours. It was left in the stable office through oversight, which was explained when the night force went on duty.

An Italian woman found her children playing with two sticks of the explosive in River avenue Thursday afternoon. She called Officer Elmer Twineman, who investigated and picked up four more sticks of dynamite in a vacant house in the same street and took the stuff to the station house.

Upon reporting the matter the officer was told to place it in the adjoining room. It was handed to Charles Lanyon, son of George Lanyon, the watchman, who laid the bundle in storage. A coil of wire with two caps was laid nearby and when found yesterday afternoon it was deducted that there must have been some plot to explode the dynamite. The night force did not mention the matter to the day force, and this is how the scare came about.

The explosive was the property of the Columbia Construction Company and had been stolen and placed in the vacant building in River avenue.

RUNNING EMPTY TRAINS.

Men Are Learning the Road and the Schedule Is Being Arranged in the New York Subway.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Unknown to the men and women who are clinging to straps on the surface cars and elevated every morning and evening, empty trains are now running at night on schedule time in the rapid transit tunnel.

For more than a week both way trains and expresses, full length and fully manned, have been covering all four of the subway tracks. The contractors who are now putting on the finishing touches to their work say that they must be up and out of the subway before October, and that the public service will surely begin then. The object of running these empty trains is both to break in the new men and to arrange the schedule.

SHOULDN'T FIRE UPON WHITE MEN

National Guard Captain Is Defended for Permitting Mob to Take Negroes.

INTEREST IN COURT-MARTIAL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.

The court-martial proceedings in the case of Capt. Hitch and his lieutenant, of the Georgia militia, for their course at Statesboro in supinely allowing a mob to take two convicted negro criminals away from them, will be awaited with great interest. Gov. Terrell has called the court-martial, which will convene at Savannah in about two weeks.

Here the opinion of representative Georgians is somewhat conflicting. An officer of the regular army who was reared in that state and belongs to one of its most respected families, says it is useless to look for any radical action in this case.

"Georgia will not permit her soldiery to fire into white men in defense of negro criminals," said the Georgian. "Capt. Hitch could not have done far differently and withstood public sentiment. He may have to become a scapegoat and receive some light punishment, but it would be with the tacit understanding that he had become a victim of unfortunate circumstances. We think too much white blood has already been spilled for the negro, and we want no more of it."

When asked about the view expressed by an intelligent Georgian the day before, that if Hitch were punished he would be carried into the chair as governor of the state by the tide of popular feeling which would be aroused if it were managed with only ordinary political sagacity the officer replied:

"That is all nonsense. Georgia is a conservative state. We put our best foot forward. We want no Vardamans. We have sufficient regard for the opinion of the rest of the country, even though they do not understand our race question, so that we would not put into the governor's chair a man whose only title to popular gratitude was that he had failed to uphold the arm of authority against a mob. Nothing of that kind will ever happen. But you may be equally sure that at home we shall not do anything to convince white officers of our national guard that we really want them to fire into white men, when only negro criminals are involved."

WARD'S FATHER COMING TO TAKE HIM BACK HOME

Police and Jail Officials Are at Loggerheads Over Case of a Mental Unfortunate.

Warden Lewis of the Allegheny county jail received a telegram from Gilbert Ward, the great oarsman of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, whose son is being held in the jail without a commitment, because of his alleged mental condition, that he will be in Pittsburgh today to take him home. The case is an unusual one and has resulted in a tilt between the jail officials and public safety department of Pittsburgh.

P. L. Ward, the young man, was sent to jail about four weeks ago by Magistrate Vitchestain, who was acting at Central station, during Magistrate Stewart's absense. The charge against Ward was disorderly conduct. He was given a 10-day sentence but before its expiration it was discovered he was suffering from mental trouble of some kind, according to a statement of the jail physician who examined him. He seemed to have no friends here and no place to go, and the jail officials were in a dilemma. They said they did not wish to turn him loose, fearing he might come to harm, so while endeavoring to find his relatives or friends, he was held 14 days longer than the commitment called for.

As his condition finally seemed improved he was released, but a few days ago he applied to the jail officials to take him in again. His father was located and a letter sent to him, which brought a telegram to hold him until he came on. The jail having no commitment for young Ward sent him to Central station, from which place he was first received. The Central station officials refused to have anything to do with him and sent him back to the jail, with a message to the effect that the jail officials had no business to send him to the station house. They refused to keep him for even one day, or until his father came on. Under the circumstances, the jail officials locked young Ward up without a commitment. Considerable indignation has been aroused among the jail deputies because of the treatment Ward is alleged to have received at the station house. Gilbert Ward was to have arrived last night, but at a late hour no word was received from him.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a farmer's wife sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. That's the tiredness of a healthy woman. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. Just as in profound silence a discord jars the ear more forcibly, so now that she has stopped moving about, this tired woman feels more acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Words cannot tell what I suffered for thirteen years with uterine trouble and dragging-down pains through my hips and back," writes Mrs. John Dickson, of Grenfell, Assiniboia Dist., N. W. Ter. "I can't describe the misery it was to be on my feet long at a time. I could not eat nor sleep. Often I wished to die. Then I saw Dr. Pierce's medicines advertised and thought I would try them. Had not taken one bottle till I was feeling well. After I had taken five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was like a new woman. Could eat and sleep and do all my own work."

ASPHALT COMPANY WILL SEIZE LOADED SHIP

Hopes to Force United States to Make Decision Regarding Castro's Confiscation.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Representatives of the New York & Bermudez Asphalt Company assert that they will seize, upon its arrival at this port, the Earn line steamer Kennett, loaded with asphalt from Permudez lake. By this action they hope to force the United States government to make a decision, which will settle the controversy caused by President Castro's confiscation of their property in Venezuela and his revocation of their concessions.

Agents of the Earn line in this city received notification today that the Kennett had started for the United States loaded with 1,200 tons of asphalt, but that her landing port here is to be kept a secret. Officials of the New York & Bermudez Asphalt Company assert, however, that they know the Kennett's destination and will seize her on arrival, claiming that she is carrying asphalt stolen from their land. This, it is admitted, will be the beginning of a long legal battle in the courts, as it is the first opportunity the company will have to bring President Castro before the courts in this country.

President Castro, it will be remembered, some months ago, had a receiver appointed for all the property of the New York & Bermudez company in his country on a claim for $10,000,000 damages, which he asserted his country suffered by the help he asserted the company gave the revolutionists during the Mateo revolt.

MYSTERIOUS WONDER WORKER PERFORMS MIRACLES OF HEALING

Restores Health to Hopeless Invalids Given Up to Die by Doctors.

STRANGE STORY OF A WOMAN

Says Phenomenal Power of Panopathic Professor Brought Her Back to Life When Prepared for the Grave.

HUMAN HEART MADE TO BEAT AGAIN

Hundreds Healed by This Man, Who Has Discarded Useless Drugs and Medicines Since He Has Made Wonderful Discovery of Life's Law

NO DISEASE HE MAY NOT CURE

Yet He Offers Services Free of Charge to All Who Are Sick and Afflicted—Cures Them In Their Own Homes—Believes It His Duty to God and to Man to Help All Who Stand in Need.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(Special Correspondence.)—The seeming miracles of healing performed by that famous scientist and panopath of this city, Dr. Wallace Hadley, his startling cures of men and women given up to die by doctors, have been so wonderful in both method and results, that they have awakened universal praise, astonishment and mystery among professional men and the general public alike.

In the face of doctors' verdicts and apparent impossibilities, this man has taken invalids pronounced hopelessly incurable and restored them to life and health when all other means had failed.

Considerable curiosity has been aroused by these phenomenal cures, both because they are so wonderful in themselves and also that this worker of wonders proclaims the fact that he has discarded the useless drugs and medicines usually prescribed by physicians. In partial explanation he states that he has discovered the greatest of life's laws, that apparently has been overlooked by previous searchers after the secrets of nature. And it is evident beyond doubt that this discovery gives him a power over disease and death not possessed by ordinary mortals. So certain is he of his ability that he claims and offers to prove that there is no disease he may not cure. Astounding as that assertion appears to be, there is plenty of evidence to support it. In one case, if not in more, by means of the mysterious power he possesses, he is stated to have made the human heart beat again in a body prepared for the grave, reviving the flickering spark of life when all but extinguished, and curing diseases that baffled the skill of the best doctors and specialists. He appears to have complete control and mastery over the hydraheaded monster, Disease, under whatever form or name it may be known.

Yet, strange as it may seem in this day and age, with all this supreme power and command over the ills that human flesh is heir to, he does not use his discovery to fill his own pockets at the expense of the thousands of suffering men and women who appeal to him for the aid he gives so gladly and so freely, as he might so easily do, saying, during a recent interview: "I believe it is my duty to God and man to help all who stand in need without regard to any reward. I believe this power was given to me that I might be an instrument to cure the sick and afflicted. This being my earnest belief, I feel that I must give freely of my services to all who are ill. I do not want to pose as a philanthropist, but I have my own ideas as to the best use to make of the money I have, and I know of no better way to spend it than to make life easier for those that are in the grasp of pain and disease. I have made both my money and my discovery unaided, and if I choose to use both in laboring for the health of mankind, I am sure that it is nobody's business how or why I do it. True, there is almost no limit to the money I make if I choose to keep this wonderful secret to myself, as you can readily understand, but I feel that it belongs to humanity as much as it does to me. What right have I to grow wealthy out of my fellow-man's miseries? Just think of what it means, when I am able to say that there is no disease I may not cure. Just think of what a message of hope and salvation that is to hundreds and thousands of invalids throughout the length and breadth of the land who have given up hope of ever being well again.

"I do not care what doctors may say, I do not care what the disease is called, I am just as ready to cure the deaf man as the lame walk, to cure consumption, cancer, tumors, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, Bright's disease, organic weakness or any one of the so-called incurable diseases, as I am to cure stomach trouble, blood disorders, rheumatism, catarrh, or any other ill that human flesh is heir to. I do not care or want to know how much or how little money a man has, but only that he has been attacked by disease in any one of its many forms. No matter what it may cost me, I mean to go on curing anyone who asks of me any disease they may have, just as long as I am willing and able. When I have this power to save life and restore health, I could not let men and women, human beings like myself, go on suffering and dying for the want of that which I have to give. I know what I can do, because my power has been tested in thousands of cases.

"One case, a 'miraculous cure,' as the patient himself called it, was that of a Mr. Harry Williams of Traverse City, Mich. He had a terrible disease that threatened to rot his bones, make his teeth and hair fall out, destroy sight, taste, smell and hearing, and cover his body with ulcerous sores, a disease that makes a man a living corpse, like leprosy. He also failed to get help from his home doctors, and was in such misery of body and mind that he looked upon suicide as his only chance of escaping a more frightful death, was actually thinking of killing himself, when, luckily for him, his case was brought to my attention. I saved his life. I cured him. My treatment drove the poison out of his body, cleansed his blood of the loathsome disease germs, reached to the very root of the disease and restored the man to perfect health. And another was that of Mr. H. R. Hall of Snowville, Va. His physicians pronounced him beyond medical aid and wanted to saw an opening through his skull as a last chance. Pieces of bone as big as my finger and half an inch long came out from above his eye. His agony was terrible. He had abandoned all hope and thought nothing but the grave awaited him. All he expected was to have his last dying hours made as comfortable as possible, but I saved his life and cured him completely.

"Sometimes I myself would be inclined to doubt the reports that come from my patients, if I did not know the facts in each case. It is not long ago that I received a letter from one of them, a Mrs. Hattie McCully of San Pedro, Cal., in which she says: 'I was prepared for the grave, my body dead and lifeless, but you made my heart beat again and the blood flow through my veins once more. Doctors said that the end had come, but you proved that they were wrong by restoring me to life and health, reviving the vital spark and bringing back warmth to my wasted body. Is it any wonder that I was on the verge of the grave when I had heart, kidney and liver disease, rheumatism, bronchitis and catarrh? Isn't that enough to kill anybody? But when I heard of the wonderful work you were doing I said to myself: "Here is a man that can cure me by the help of God," and you did, blessed be His name! With your wonderful discovery you cured me, made me well and strong, free from the chains and pains of disease. You are a worker of miracles that rival those of the prophets, and I am your witness to all who are ill as I was, but am no more.' These are only random examples, but you see that they prove my power to cure, even in the face of what seems certain death. But these and the other so-called 'miracles' that I am credited with performing are not miracles in the same way as those described in the Bible. They may seem just as wonderful to the witnesses and to the men and women whose lives are saved and health restored, but they are in truth simply scientific phenomena that demonstrate and prove the power given me by the discovery I have made of life's law, the secret of what creates and maintains life and overcomes disease and death."

"But how do you find time to visit patients all over the country and yet treat so many thousands?"

"While it is true that I have patients in every state of the Union, in Canada, Mexico and foreign countries, I do not have to visit them in order to cure them. One of the peculiarities of my power is that I can and do cure them in their own homes just as easily and just as surely as if I went to them or they came to me."

"Then how"——

"All that anyone who is ill in any way and wants to be cured has to do is to write me, addressing Wm. Wallace Hadley, M. D., office 1082 G, 708 Madison avenue, New York, telling me the name of the disease they suffer from most, their principal symptoms, age, sex, and I will send them a course of home treatment absolutely free of charge. A letter does just as much good as a personal visit."

"Surely you do not mean that anyone who is sick can write to you to be cured without paying you any money?"

"But I do mean just that. Both my services and the treatment I send are entirely free to anyone who needs treatment. And I am especially anxious to cure those who think or have been told that their case is incurable, that there is no hope for them to regain their lost health and strength. If they will write to me there is not only hope, but an almost absolute certainty that they need be sick no longer."

MAN FLED CLAD IN NIGHT SHIRT

Farmers Found Stolen Chickens and Farm Products at His House.

ESCAPED FROM A CONSTABLE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Sept. 16.—More than 350 chickens, ducks and turkeys, besides a large quantity of wheat and other farm products, were stolen and hauled away in farm wagons on Tuesday night last from the hen house and farms of John Barton, Robert C. Wilson, Charles Harness, J. C. Cannon, Henry Kuleriem and Daniel Parker, all farmers residing along the Potomac river, several miles above this city.

Since the robbery the persons who suffered by this raid instituted search, and yesterday they succeeded in locating the chicken thief in South Cumberland, and in the rear of the residence where the thief was located was found a well-stocked chicken yard. One of the farmers, R. C. Wilson, followed the wagon tracks 15 miles, to South Cumberland, to the house and chicken yard where the fowls were found and many of them identified. The house was found to be the residence of Robert Earson and the grain and other stuff were found in the cellar.

With Constable William Hendrickson, Mr. Wilson went to Earson's home yesterday afternoon, and upon entering the place one of the first things Wilson saw was a bridle stolen from his place. They were met at the door by Earson's wife, who, when questioned, stated that Mr. Earson was away from home. The officers then began to search the house and immediately Mrs. Earson started upstairs.

A few moments later the officers and Wilson saw Earson jump out of an upstairs window, dressed in his night shirt, the officer and the farmer in pursuit. Earson ran rapidly to the river, where he had a boat in waiting, and rowed to the West Virginia shore and escaped. The officer fired three times at Earson, but the man only quickened his pace and escaped injury. The constable and Mr. Wilson went to the Earson home this morning and found the house deserted and all the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. Earson gone.

BLACK RACE'S SCOURGE.

They Are Lazy Negroes, Declares Colored Banker to White Associates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—John Mitchell, Jr., president of the Mechanics' Savings bank of Richmond, Va., the only negro delegate to the American Bankers' convention, today disclaimed that any color line was drawn between the better class of whites and the better class of blacks. "It is the black loafers in the south that cause the troubles and persecution of our race, and we despise them as well as do the whites," said he.

Col. Lowry, president of the Lowry National bank of Atlanta, Ga., said: "I am glad Mr. Mitchell has put on record that the bankers' association draws no color line and welcomes successful bankers, be they white or black, as members."

Officers were elected, the list as agreed on by the committee last evening being chosen without change.

It was officially given out by a number of the members of the executive council that Washington, D. C., will be the next meeting place of the association.

TOMBAUGH SAYS HE DIED AS HE ALWAYS LIVED

Note Found on Body, Which Was Buried at Expense of Washington County—Victim Living.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 16.—Unmourned and unattended, the body of Edward Tombaugh, the Centerville suicide, was buried in the Howe cemetery at Coal Center at the expense of Washington county today. Mrs. Tombaugh, when requested today to give her husband's body decent burial, absolutely refused and said she wanted to forget she was his wife. Hidden in a fold of Tombaugh's shirt was found today by the undertaker a letter which showed that Tombaugh had planned murder and suicide. The letter was penciled late Tuesday afternoon and is as follows:

To whom it may concern—No doubt when this message is found my form and that of the one I love better than life shall have gone back to earth. I love Dora dearly and always have. Her sweet face is always before me. By one oath, too black to be printed on paper, we are bound to die together. Poor girl, she does not know the fateful moment, yet knows it will come sooner or later. Circumstances have kept us apart on earth. We may be nearer in the next world. This evening two reports, a heavy fall and all will be over. Two souls shall have went to meet their maker. I hope all shall look on this crime (if you choose to call it such) with compassion and not hatred. I hope to meet all my comrades whether in heaven or hell as is case may be. I die as I lived, a regular devil.

EDDIE TOMBAUGH.

Tonight Miss Dora Waterall, whom Tombaugh tried to kill before he committed suicide, is still living. Dr. Wilmer Griffith, the attending physician, is puzzled over her case. He says that the wounds are necessarily fatal and does not understand how the girl keeps up. He expects her death at any time.

MARY JANE, PARKER'S PET LAMB, IS WANTED BY TOBY CLAUDE

Soubrette Feared the Animal Would Be Led to the Slaughter and She Offered It a Home. Judge Declined, However.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Toby Claude has just discovered that Judge Alton B. Parker proposes to keep his pet lamb, Mary Jane, and that she will still adorn the lawn at Rosemount, despite other stories to the contrary. That is one of the reasons the soubrette is sad. Miss Claude, who has a small place at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, saw in the papers that Judge Parker had decided that Mary Jane was altogether too frisky and that it was about time the lamb went to the butcher. The actress thought of her home on the side of Storm King and sent the following wire from the Hotel Webster to Esopus to Judge Parker:

Have read doom of Mary Jane in this morning's Sun. Will buy her at any price and guarantee her a good home. Please wire me. TOBY CLAUDE.

The reply came the day following, and its wording brought tears to the blue eyes of Miss Claude. And this is why:

Mary Jane is not for sale. Thank you for the offer. ALTON B. PARKER.

When the young woman learned that the Democratic candidate for the presidency was at the Hotel Astor she called there, determined to have Mary Jane if such a thing were possible. In response to her card word came from Judge Parker that he was sorry he could not see Miss Claude, as his time was all taken up.

KAUFMANN'S "THE BIG STORE"

Store closes 6:30 P. M. Saturdays

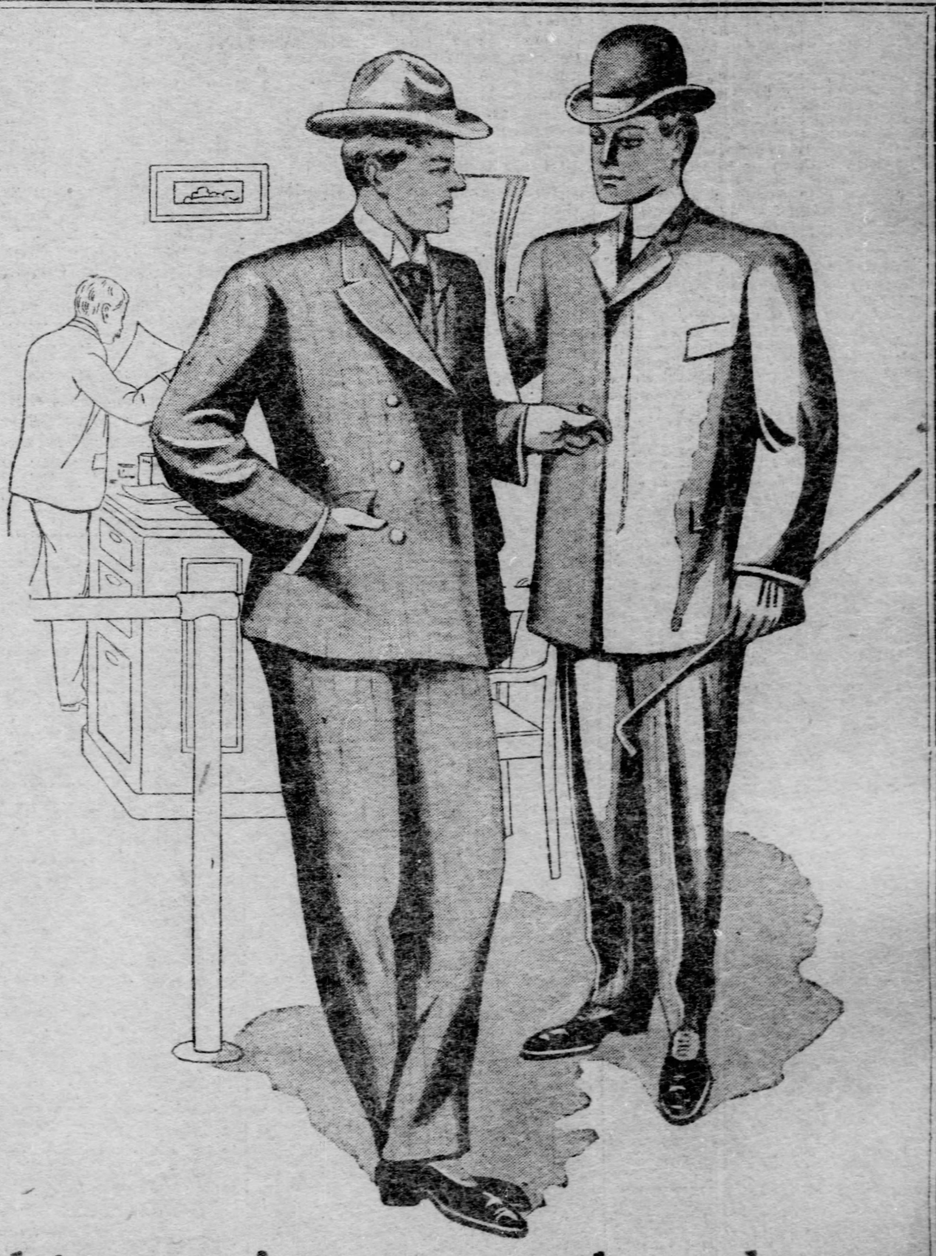
KAUFMANN'S "THE BIG STORE"

Kaufmann clothing for men

It's not hard to define why this store has grown as no other has. It all resolves itself into three words—BEST VALUE GIVING. They stand for a great deal—high quality—good service—greatest worth. We never believed in this matter-of-fact store-keeping. We never took things for granted. Take our clothing and our clothing business as a proof. Our clothing is the best that it is possible for human skill to produce. Our clothing business is one of the five great clothing businesses of this country. It's nothing for us to keep a staff of sixty salesmen a-going in our men's clothing section on a busy day—think of it. It took us years to develop this clothing business. Flaring or pretty advertisements did not do it. Business is operated here on a scientific basis. Yes, it's worth your while to give more study to the question of clothes buying. Our showing of men's Fall suits and topcoats will triple that of any other concern in greater Pittsburgh. It has to—because our business more than triples that of any other.

Our prices are 20% below those of all others for equal quality

Comparison will prove this. "Best for least" is one of the foundation stones of "The Big Store."



Men's suits and topcoats 10.00, 12.00 and 15.00

All sorts of stylish all wool fabrics are embraced in the lines at these prices. And every garment is tailored in first-class fashion. The collars and lapels are hand shaped—while the buttonholes in the coats are hand worked. Every correct style in both single and double breasted will be found. In topcoats the nobby covert material is more fashionable than ever. All the popular topcoatings in addition are embraced in our lines at 10.00, 12.00 and 15.00.

Our finest suits and topcoats range from $25.00 to $35.00

Men's suits and topcoats 18.00, 20.00 and 22.00

You have a right to expect superlatively good clothing at these prices. You'll not be disappointed if you come here. We show nigh unto a score of styles in suits at each price and about half that number in topcoats. And every garment is distinctive in style and character—looks as if it just came from a high-class custom-tailor shop. The nobbiest imported worsteds, cheviots and Scotch mixtures are the materials from which the suits are made. The topcoatings include coverts in a number of shades, the new gray cheviots and other stylish materials.

Men's trousers 3.50 to 5.00

We feature trousers at these prices as the average man pays about $3.50 to $5.00 for his pants. We can show you more than 30 styles at either price—and almost as many at 4.00. We carry a bigger stock at these three prices than the average clothier can count in all. And we assure you of a dollar to two dollars more value than you get elsewhere.

Auto raincoats 15.00 to 25.00

The chauffeur who wants something swell and swagger—something that will impart individuality to his attire—will find in these new automobile raincoats just what he's looking for. We show a splendid line—and all are made of absolutely rainproof materials, including light and dark shades of worsteds and cheviots—belted back, gusset sleeves, single or double-breasted.

Merchant tailoring

FOR those men who are not satisfied with any but a made-to-measure garment—our custom tailoring department is meant. We produce garments with a character and grace of line that the average to-order tailor man will find it impossible to equal. Our fabrics are the finest—our workmanship and trimmings ditto—our prices are on a most modest basis. Put us to the test.

Our chief cutter, Mr. Barney Middendorf, was formerly connected with Langenheim Bros., tailors.

Particular attention is directed to our new soft finished Buster Brown collar suits, also to the new leather trimmed suits. Prices range from 2.00 to 10.00, but we're particularly strong on our 5.00 line

Sailor suits are also extensively featured this fall. No previous season has shown so many pleasing innovations of this always popular style. Long trouser suits— the young man, 14 to 20 years old, cannot array himself in a sweller suit than one bearing the "Smartsag" label—these garments are equal in style and finish to the best custom-tailor work. The new browns and mixtures are prominently represented—both single and double-breasted coats with the broad, manly shoulders—prices 10.00 to 25.00

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., Sept. 16.—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of the series at League park today before 2,750 persons, 10 to 1. Fifteen hits, which netted a total of 10 runs, were charged against Jack Taylor, who displayed poor form. He was opposed by Sam Leever, who allowed the Cardinals only six hits and was effective.

Loose playing on the part of the locals, together with their inability to hit at the proper time, were the main causes of their defeat, while the Pirates hit the ball at will and, using many of the wallops for more than single bases.

Things were rather even until the seventh inning, when Taylor let down and let in four runs. He eased up in the eighth, but again in the ninth four more runs were placed opposite the Pirates' name on the ball board. Shay averted a shut-out with a single and a triple in the fifth inning. This one run is due to Shay's hit, which was muffed by Leever, and a triple by Grady. Danny scored on the catcher's hit.

The visitors started the fireworks in the first inning and scored one run. Leach, the first man up, touched out the first ball for a home run. The ball went for Smoot's territory and Homer went after it. He came in rather close and the ball hit his foot and bounded off and by the time that he had it in his hands Leach was rounding third base. Smoot probably could have shut off Leach's hit for a base or two had he better judged the ball, but coming up at a lively clip he missed and the sphere struck his foot.

And in the sixth inning Smoot misjudged a fly and Bransfield took two bases on what seemed to be an easy high one. In the eighth had Homer been a least bit faster in throwing he could have caught McCormick at first base.

Pittsburgh scored another run in the fifth inning. Kruger singled and scored on Ritchey's double. The Cardinals scored their run in this period with a single and triple by Shay and Grady. In the seventh Taylor let down completely. Kruger started the bunch around the circuit by knocking a home run. Phelps was out to Shay, Leever and Leach singled and scored on Beaumont's triple. Ritchey bounced an easy grounder to Shay, but the latter threw wide to third and Beaumont scored on the throw. Ritchey taking first. Wagner singled, but Bransfield fouled to Brain. Ritchey, who made his way to third then tried to steal home, but was caught at the plate.

Four more runs were scored in the last inning by the Pirates. Leever doubled. Leach flied to Brain. Beaumont doubled to left and Ritchey's free pass filled the bases. Wagner then flew to Brain and Bransfield doubled through Farrell's legs and scored the first two runners. McCormick singled and Ritchey and Bransfield scored on the hit. Kruger flew out. The score:

CHAMPION SCHOLES RETIRES

Famous Sculler in This City Declares He Has Quit Athletics.

Won Honors in This Country and Then in England.

Fred H. Scholes, champion amateur sculler of the world and winner of the Diamond sculls at the Henley regatta, England, last July, arrived in this city yesterday. He is a guest of Charles R. F. Swartz of 907 Mellon street, where he will remain for several days. Mr. Scholes' visit to this city is merely a social one, and on his departure from here he will go to his home in Toronto, Canada.

Mr. Scholes is a bright and genial fellow. In speaking of rowing yesterday he said he had given up the sport and athletics for good. Having achieved all the fame and honors on the water he has decided to retire as an unconquered champion. Mr. Scholes took up rowing about five years ago at his home in Canada. In a short time he proved himself an expert at the sport. His first important victory was to defeat Champion Titus on the Harlem river two years ago. That year he went to the Henley regatta and was defeated by Titus. On his return to this country that year he defeated Titus.

Last July he resolved to try to capture the Diamond Sculls event and crossed the water a second time. He easily defeated England's champion, Kelly, and established a new record for the Henley course, breaking the old record by six seconds. Scholes was the third American to win England's prize event, the other victors being Edward Hanlon, Ten Eyke and Charles Howell. The latter was a student, however, at Cambridge university at the time he captured that event.

Scholes has beaten all the fast oarsmen of this country, including Juvanel, Greer, McGuire, Titus, Bond and Wright and Thompson of Canada.

Scholes is a fine looking fellow, being about six feet in height and weighing about 190 pounds.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAMS ARE WORKING

Coach Mosse yesterday put the W. U. P. candidates through two hours' practice. Among the new candidates that reported were Dean Mason of W. U. P. and Springer of Franklin and Marshall. "Jack" Elder, quarterback of last year's State college team, assisted Coach Mosse. The feature of the afternoon was the work of Schmidt, Mehl and Rugh in the running back of punts. Rugh was tried at quarter and did well. Joe Thompson was able to resume practice yesterday.

The Pittsburgh college sophomores took advantage of the holiday given in honor of the visit made by the Irish parliamentary leaders, and for two hours and a half they worked unremittantly. Baum, last year's guard, has returned to school and will be out on Monday. Games are wanted with Washington High school, Washington and Jefferson academy, Beaver college, Steubenville High school, Oakdale High school and all strong school teams. Address manager or telephone 3421 Grant.

CALIFORNIA, PA., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Preliminary practice has begun at Southwestern State Normal school. New faces are in the lineup. Of the old team, McClary, Harmon, Martin and Burley remain. The schedule so far completed includes the following games at home: Shadyside academy, October 8; W. U. P., October 12; Grove City, November 9; Buckhannon college, November 12; Waynesburg college, November 19. The out-of-town games include Morgantown, October 1; W. & J., October 15; Waynesburg, October 21. Four dates yet remain open—October 22 and 29, November 5 and Thanksgiving day.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The practice of the Washington and Jefferson football squad this afternoon consisted chiefly in tackling the dummy which was injured this morning. Several new men reported today, including Cook, a big guard on the Washington and Jefferson academy team last year.

Lew Graham, a former Washington and Jefferson quarterback, will coach Beaver college.

Cumberland Outhits Millvale.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The game today with Millvale was characterized by heavy hitting. Cumberland knocked Kinsey out of the box. Hines was touched up pretty lively at times. Score:

ITALY EN FETE OVER ROYAL HEIR

Pope Pleased With Name and Sends Congratulations—Birth Blow to House of Aosta.

WARSHIPS TO FIRE SALUTES

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Sept. 16.—All Italy is en fete over the birth of an heir to the Italian throne. All business has been practically suspended. Everybody is rejoicing over the fact that the castle Racconigi holds a future king.

The vatican is especially gratified since the new prince has been called the prince of Piedmont and not the prince of Rome or of Naples. The giving of this name to the new heir is taken to be an indication that the government is not as decidedly opposed to the church as heretofore. Cardinal Richelmy, archbishop of Turin, will be asked to baptize the little prince, the ceremony being held at castle Racconigi.

It is reported that the pope has transmitted his congratulations to King Victor and Queen Helena through Cardinal Richelmy. The king and queen are being inundated with telegrams. The Italian warships throughout the world have been ordered to dress with flags and fire salutes in honor of the new prince. Throughout Italy there were extensive illuminations tonight.

By the birth of the prince the continuance in power of the direct line of the house of Savoy, represented by the present king, Victor Emmanuel III., is assured. It is a blow to the house of Aosta, as in the event that no male heir should have been born to the present king the son of the duke and duchess of Aosta would have succeeded to the Italian throne after the death of the present king. The situation was understood by both sides and there was a rivalry existing between Queen Helena and Duchess Helena. On June 1, 1901, the queen's first child, Princess Yolanda Margherita Milena, was born.

There was joy in the royal household, as well as throughout Italy, over the birth of an heir to the throne, for it has always been the dearest wish of the young king and queen to have a son. Apart from the official glamor that surrounds them, however, they have always been more of a "happy young couple" than most sovereigns, simple in their home life and as unostentatious as the rigors of court etiquette will permit.

Queen Helena of Italy.

SENTRY STICKS TO POST TILL HE IS CAPTURED

His Russian Officer Had Forgotten Him in the Evacuation of Liao-Yang.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Sept. 16.—The evacuation of Liao-Yang was productive of many deeds of heroism and self-sacrifice. By an oversight a sentry at the commissariat store was not relieved, and remained at his post until captured. A similar fate almost overtook a little guard of engineers at a warehouse close to the Chinese wall, who were not relieved until the commander of the garrison, making a final round, ordered them off. The building had already been set on fire by Japanese shells. The men marched out carrying their tools under a hail of projectiles.

The evacuation of the railway station was also carried out under a heavy fire. The railroad men showed admirable coolness and discipline. There were not enough trains to carry all the artillery. At the last moment the First Siberian flying artillery procured an empty truck, upon which the soldiers loaded their six-inch mortars by hand, and then pushed the truck across the river under a direct fire of shells, just before the bridge was destroyed.

There were many narrow escapes owing to the similarity of the Russian uniforms with those of the Japanese. Serious results were prevented, however, by the Russian officers directing that the men must not shoot except on specific orders. The Japanese, on the other hand, destroyed the whole of their own Forty-first regiment by firing upon it in mistake for a Russian force.

M'KEES ROCKS DEMORALIZED.

Policeman's Pockets Picked While He Is Arresting Carnival Visitor.

Thirty-two arrests for disorderly conduct have been made by the police of McKees Rocks since Tuesday, when the Morley Entertainment Company opened its street carnival and fair. Many complaints have been made to the burgess and chief of police alleging that some of the attractions are immoral.

The latest formal protest came from E. J. Dunlap, general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. of McKees Rocks. The charges are that the public streets have been blocked in violation of a city ordinance and that pickpockets and gamblers are following the shows.

James Brennen, a special policeman, had his pockets picked while arresting James Anderson, who created a disturbance and said he had been cheated by fakirs. Brennen lost $23.

THINK THEY HAVE LANDER.

Philadelphia Police Certain They Have Caught a Noted Crook and Hotel Swindler.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—In the person of "W. H. Sibley," who was arrested by detectives from this city in Passaic, N. J., Thursday on the charge of passing a bogus check at the Hotel Walton, the police are convinced that they have bagged none other than W. H. Lander, a swindler of national reputation, who is wanted for many crimes in this country and Canada.

Unless information in the possession of Acting Captain of Detectives Tate is incorrect, Detectives Gallagher and Lynch have executed a coup in running down the man, whose daring and cleverness have been seldom equalled in police annals.

"NEVER FORGETS FALLEN SONS"

Gen. Blackmar's Tribute to Pennsylvania on Eve of the Antietam Dedication.

WILL ACCOMPANY COMRADES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 16.

With Commander-in-Chief W. W. Blackmar, the new leader of the Grand Army of the Republic, as their honored guest, several hundred of Philadelphia's most prominent veterans of the civil war and the families of many of them departed today for Antietam, where tomorrow, on the famous battlefield, 13 monuments are to be dedicated in commemoration of the Pennsylvania regiments which participated in that historic battle.

Gen. Blackmar's home is in Boston now, but he is a Pennsylvanian by nativity, so he received a warm welcome from his old comrades today. Gen. Louis Wagner and Col. Robert B. Beath took charge of him and they and a score of other veterans put in most of the afternoon at the Walton giving him a sort of informal reception.

There's nothing very war-like about Gen. Blackmar now. He's a ruddy-faced, portly gentleman with white hair and old-fashioned white side whiskers—the soul of good humor. He was born in Bristol 69 years ago, and served in the Sixteenth Pennsylvania cavalry.

"I'm very glad to be able to participate in the unveiling of these monuments," the general said. "The men who fought and fell for their country at Antietam did a work that well deserves any commendation their commonwealth can give them. Pennsylvania, though, never forgets her fallen sons."

At 11:40 Gen. Blackmar and a large group of veterans and their families took sleeping cars at Broad street station. With this party was a young West Point cadet—Frank Lincoln Nagle, Jr.—whose father commanded the Forty-eighth regiment, and, who will unveil the Forty-eighth's monument tomorrow, having received permission from President Roosevelt. It was estimated that between 300 and 400 went away on this train.

Another special and several trains in the morning will take out 1,000 more veterans and their families.

The Rev. Dr. Richards Boyle will make the address of the day—"Pennsylvania at Antietam"—the Rev. Dr. Holman will offer the prayer and the Rev. Joseph Evans, who was chaplain of the Forty-eighth regiment, will pronounce the benediction. After the exercises there will be an informal reception.

The 13 regiments and their commanders who are to be honored are: Forty-fifth volunteer infantry, Lieut.-Col., John S. Curtin; Forty-eighth, Lieut.-Col. J. G. Seigfried; Fiftieth, Col. Edward Overton; Fifty-first, Col. John F. Hartranft; One Hundredth, Lieut.-Col. David A. Locke; One Hundred and Twenty-fourth, Col. Joseph W. Hawley; One Hundred and Twenty-fifth, Col. Jacob Higgins; One Hundred and Twenty-eighth, Col. Samuel Croasdale; One Hundred and Thirtieth, Col. Henry S. Zinn; One Hundred and Thirty-second, Col. Richard A. Oakford; One Hundred and Thirty-seventh, Col. Henry M. Bossert; Twelfth volunteer cavalry, Maj. Joseph A. Congden; Durell's Independent Battery D, of volunteers' light artillery.

The exercises attending the formal transfer of the monuments will take place in the Antietam National cemetery at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Jos. W. Hawley, late colonel of the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, will preside. Music will be furnished by the Carlisle Indian Industrial School band.

The transfer of the monuments to the governor of Pennsylvania will be made by Col. Hawley, president of the Pennsylvania monument committee. Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker, on the part of the state, will accept the monuments and will turn them over to the United States government for perpetual keeping. Deeds for the monuments have been made to the United States. Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver, acting secretary of war, will receive the monuments on behalf of the president of the United States.

The Pennsylvania battlefield committee is composed of Col. J. W. Hawley of Media, Pa., president; Col. Oliver C. Bosbyshell of Philadelphia, secretary; Gen. Wm. J. Bolton of Philadelphia.

The legislature of Pennsylvania appropriated $32,500 for the 13 monuments, $2,500 for each one. Of this sum $2,500 is set aside to pay the expenses of the commission.

Well-Known Manufacturer of Williamsport Expires in His Carriage of Heart Disease.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Sept. 16.—C. Fred Overhiser, a well-known manufacturer and a member of common council of this city, died in a sudden and sensational manner this afternoon. Entering his carriage he drove down town and transacted some business, stopping at his office where he wrote his will and left it exposed on his desk. Shortly thereafter he was observed driving past his residence, his strange appearance drawing the attention of the family, who were startled because he did not stop. They ran out to the vehicle and found him sitting upright, holding the reins, but dead.

Death was due to heart disease, and his action just previous indicated that he expected the end. He was 51 years old.

WEIRD SERVICE SEEN IN TIBET

Extraordinary Chanting by the Monks—White Mice Run About Lama's Feet.

CANDLES' REEK SUFFOCATES

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Lhassa, dated September 9, gives a striking description of a visit to the Buddhist cathedral there during the service. The correspondent says:

"The monks have extraordinarily deep, devotional voices, reaching deeper tones than any western bass. The voice of 1,000 monks resembles the drone of a subterranean monster, musically plaintive—the voice of the earth god praying for release to the god of the skies. In the inner temple are three enormous images of the Buddhist trinity, set with jewels from foot to crown. In the upper story, in a place we called 'hell,' some lamas were worshiping the demon protectress of the grand lama. The music here was harsh and barbaric. On pillars and on the walls were displayed every freak of diabolical invention in the shape of scrolls and devil masks. The obscene object of this worship was huddled in a corner, a dwarfish abortion, hideous and malignant enough for such rites. All about the lama's feet ran little white mice, searching for grain, with which they are fed daily. They are scrupulously reverenced, as in their frail bodies the souls of previous guardians of the shrine are believed to be reincarnated. Some of the rites were conducted in absolute silence. As we watched from a latticed window some acolytes looked up, but the monks sat like stone figures, apparently oblivious of our presence. The reek of candles was almost suffocating. 'Thank God I'm not a lama!' said a subaltern at my side as we clattered out of this unholy atmosphere of dreams."

PENNSYLVANIA IS SUED.

Pottery Company Claims Train Blocked Work of Firemen and Plant Was Burned.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 16.—The George C. Murphy Pottery Company today filed a suit in the United States circuit court at Cleveland against the Pennsylvania Company, operating the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railway, for $105,000 damages. The pottery company's plant in this city was totally destroyed by fire on the night of April 4 last, and the plaintiff claims that the loss was due to the interference with the local fire department by the railroad company. Eighteen insurance companies, in which the pottery was insured to the aggregate of $34,000, are made party defendants.

The petition alleges that the pottery would have been saved by the firemen but for the fact that a long freight train was standing upon the railroad track, which kept the fire companies from getting at the blaze for 15 minutes.

Relief Club to Have Entertainment.

The members of the Relief club are planning a dance and bazaar, to be held during the early part of November. As yet no definite plans have been made for the affair, nor has the place been selected, but is expected that with the return of the various members who are still out of town, arrangements for the proposed entertainment will be rapidly completed. The funds in the treasury have been depleted by the many cases of sickness which the club took charge of during the hot months. There have been numerous cases of typhoid fever and at one time seven cases of measles were being cared for by the club. The girls are preparing to rent several rooms in the district between the parishes of the Epiphany and St. Agnes' churches, which will be the beginning of their proposed settlement house. In the club rooms, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Heyl, a sewing school will be conducted for the children. Miss Pauline Donnelly, the former president, who has been abroad all summer, is expected home during the latter part of this month.

The prospective bridegroom is a son of Homer Wright of Cliff street and is the Pittsburgh representative of the Werner Printing and Lithographing Company of Akron, O.

Pale. Thin

Pale cheeks, white lips, and languid step tell the story of thin blood, impure blood. Doctors call it "anemia." They recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Ask them and they will tell you just why it makes the blood so rich and red. $1.00. All druggists.

Anemic people are almost always constipated. Their liver is sluggish. They have frequent attacks of sick-headache, nausea, biliousness. Just one of Ayer's Pills each night will correct these troubles.

25 cents. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Farms.

"FAYETTE FARMS."
We are now ready to offer our friends a choice five-acre farm in our new plan of "Fayette Farms," located near Bridgeville, Allegheny county, Pa., at a price less than they will have to pay for an ordinary lot in any of the nearby suburban towns.
This section has the best future of any adjacent to Pittsburgh; while it lies in the heart of the celebrated Chartiers valley, yet it is beautiful upland, with level surface and magnificent views.
The railway service is unsurpassed. Thirteen trains each way via the Panhandle make the trip between Bridgeville and Pittsburgh in 25 to 35 minutes; and the Wabash proposes to run plenty of trains each way in less than 15 minutes.
After a thorough search, this property has been selected by us as the most available for country homes for people engaged in business in the city, and we guarantee all freedom from the annoyance of crowded street cars by giving our patrons the choice between the two finest railways in the world. We want you to go and see these farms.

OBSERVATORY HILL,

STEEL STOCKS AGAIN CLOSE AT A STILL HIGHER LEVEL

After a Period of Liquidation on the New York Exchange Reading and Corporation Issues Lead an Advance—Local Stocks More Active.

Recovering from a flood of liquidation, when all efforts to support prices seemed futile, the New York stock market yesterday under the leadership of the steel shares closed above the level of the preceding day.

Early efforts to support prices of stocks seemed to prove without any effect and there was a time when the market seemed to be abandoned to the liquidators. But the selling diminished largely at the lower level and encouraged the friends of higher prices to renew their supporting tactics. The news did not offer a clear explanation of these varying operations.

The grangers and Pacifics were under heavy pressure during the first half of the session in spite of the reactionary movement of grains. The weather reports from the grain regions were of higher temperature and failed to bear out the forecasts of the development of another cold wave in the northwest. Yet the market sank to a lower level, with Pennsylvania the sole reliance for support of prices. That stock ultimately gave way with the rest of the market. It was at a disadvantage, with reports in circulation of a contemplated strike on the part of some of the trainmen on the western lines of the system.

The extension of the strike among employes of the United States Steel Corporation in the Mahoning valley bore on these stocks and forced them a point under Thursday night, with sentimental effect on the whole list. The steel stocks, however, resumed the leadership of the recovery in the market later, sharing with Reading in that respect.

The market was much quieter than on the day before or on any day this week, and lacked the vigor of movement in either direction which has been a recent feature. Colorado Fuel made a further dip and was an influence in the early depression. Amalgamated Copper rose in face of the general declining tendency without other explanation than a sharp rise in the price of copper in London. A reduction in the rate of the dividend distribution on International Pump was without effect on the stock.

A feverish advance in the Toledo, St. Louis & Western stocks was nominally accounted for by a story that it was to be included with the combined Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and Pere Marquette in a scheme of absorption by the Erie.

Railroad gross earnings for the first week in September make a favorable comparison with the corresponding week of last year, the rate of increase for roads thus far reporting reaching 4.18 per cent. The rising rate for money seemed to disturb speculative sentiment for a time, but its influence decreased during the day.

The currency movement up to Thursday night shows a loss in cash by the banks of upwards of $6,000,000, the loss to the sub-treasury alone accounting for $5,182,000. The liquidation in the stock market during the week is expected to affect the loan item of the banks, but the usual uncertainty prevails regarding the complexion of that item of today's bank statement.

The strength developed in Steel preferred and Reading induced a substantial recovery in the whole market. The closing was irregular, but above last night's level.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,475,000. United States old 4s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

The day was an active one on the local exchange. The total sales amounted to 4,464 shares of stock. In Crucible Steel common there was evidence of profit-taking, no less than 1,255 shares changing hands. The stock showed a net loss of ⅛ for the day. The preferred, with 275 shares traded, advanced ¼, closing at 41. The Fireproof issues were fractionally lower. Manufacturers Light and Heat advanced ¼, closing at 35¾. Pittsburgh Coal common was weaker, closing at 13½, while the preferred, with total sales of 690 shares, advanced ⅝ to 61⅝. Pittsburgh Stove & Range preferred dropped three points to 14 on the sale of 100 shares. The local sales of U. S. Steel common amounted to 500 shares and the close at 18 showed an advance of ⅝. The preferred advanced to 69 at the close on the sale of a small block, a rise of 1⅛. On the bank call two stocks were dealt in, each with a decline. Franklin Savings & Trust dropped two points to 50 and Industrial National bank at 122½ showed a decline of 2½ points.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The heavy dealings in the issues of the United States Steel Corporation in the past 10 days, with an almost uninterrupted advance in prices, has caused the starting of numerous explanations. The first of these is that a prosperous year in 1905 is being discounted. That this is to some extent true seems certain. One that appeared within the past two days is that the corporation has opened negotiations for the absorption of the Pittsburgh Steel Company and the Lackawanna Steel Company, but the lessons already taught the big steel concern that the best way to suppress an excess of capacity over demand is to create that amount of competition does not tend to approve of this guess. Still another report is that the management is considering the resumption of refunding operations in the way of converting preferred stock into sinking fund bonds. One well-remembered "take-off" of the former conversion syndicate would not make such a plan popular at present. In explanation of the dealings in the common stock the rumor has been started that the corporation is considering cutting the common stock issue in two. The only certainty about the situation is that the stocks, both common and preferred, have gone to a point that would seem to indicate more significance than pool manipulation.

The movement that has sent the steel stocks higher is palpably of New York origin. Local traders have done nothing more than follow the metropolitan lead in their dealings and is has been repeatedly stated that two Pittsburgh brokerage firms were caught short of the short and hurried to cover.

Times out of joint are conductive to troubles between stockholders and management in corporations. The announcement yesterday that the stockholders' protective committee of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Company is trying to secure proxies to use against the present board shows a condition which is more or less like that in two Pittsburgh concerns, the Crucible Steel Company and the American Window Glass Company. In the Window Glass concern, the dispute seems to be more over an individual who but a short time ago was adjudged the most able manufacturer in his line.

The New York bank statement today is certain to be technically unfavorable, but its effect has been discounted throughout the week. It will be shown that the banks have lost to the sub-treasury over $5,000,000. Money on call touched 2 per cent during the week, the highest of the present season.

The break in Colorado Fuel and Iron has been explained as a failure of a pool to secure profits after it had forced the price up several weeks ago. The demand for the stock was found to be more limited than had been expected.

A table, which has just been published, shows that, as compared with the lowest prices touched this year, the 20 most active stocks have advanced an average of slightly more than 20 points. The highest average price at which these 20 stocks sold was 129. This price was touched in September, 1902. The lowest average price since was 88.80. This price was touched in September, 1903. The decline amounted to 40.50 points. Since then these 20 active stocks have advanced an average of 21.28 points, or slightly more than one-half of the decline.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Oscar and Thomas Braniff, wealthy business men of the City of Mexico, have entered into an agreement with the United Mining and Development Company of New York for the development and operation of valuable silver, lead and copper mines in the state of Queretaro. John Thompson and E. Gibbon Spilsbury, president and chief engineer of the New York company, have left for the States to perfect the organization of a company with a capital of $3,000,000 gold. It is proposed to spend $500,000 in development work and the purchase of American machinery. Among the shareholders of the United Mining and Development Company who will be stockholders in the new company are John F. Wallace, the engineer at the head of the Panama canal work; Rear Admiral Melville, M. S. Browning, the manufacturer of Ogden, Utah, and Joseph Quincy, former mayor of Boston.

A permanent ore chute has been developed in the New Haven mine on Raven hill, Cripple Creek, and the recent development goes to prove that it is a big proposition. The first ore ever opened in the 200-foot level has been encountered at a point about 50 feet from the shaft, and it is of such a high grade that the lessees are not only making big money, but the company is deriving a good income from the royalties.

Upon the acquisitions made by two experienced prospectors, who have been scouring the region penetrated by the San Pedro Railway Company, will be founded, the present week, the "Salt Lake Route Exploration Company," its capitalization to be confined to $90,000, the number of shares to 900 of the par value of $100 each.

The mining reporter of the Cripple Creek Star writes that there are 12 hills in the district on which mines are producing ore. Bull Hill leads the list with 52 producers; Gold hill is second, with a total of 43; Battle mountain has 32, Raven hill 23, Beacon hill 18, Ironclad eight, Globe five; Womack four, Squaw mountain five, Gurnot three, Galena and Copper mountain one each.

The new mining camp at Hematite, Col., situated about 10 miles northeast of Salida, in Chaffee county, is the scene of considerable excitement owing to recent gold discoveries. Cripple Creek and Colorado Springs mining men are hastening to the district to investigate. Some have already returned after securing locations, and all of them express themselves well satisfied with the outlook.

The recent development work in the 200-foot level in the New Haven mine on Raven hill has progressed so far that the statement is warranted that a permanent ore chute has been encountered. The new find is the first ore to be opened in the level. They are breaking the rock seven feet wide and the screenings of it all go so high that the lessees are all making good money and the company will derive a good income from the royalties.

The average price of silver for the whole of August was 57.8 cents an ounce, compared with 58.09 cents in the month of July and 57.05 cents in January.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—There was a sharp advance in the London tin market that seemed the result of speculative operations, with spot closing at £127 10s and futures at £128. The local market followed the advances in a moderate way and closed at $27 70@27 87½. Copper also was higher in London, with spot quoted at £57 15s and futures at £57 15s 3d. Locally, the market was steady and unchanged with Lake Superior quoted at $12 62½@12 75; electrolytic at $12 50@12 75, and casting at $12 37½@12 50. Lead was unchanged at £11 16s 3d in London and at $4 20@4 30 in the local market. Spelter was also unchanged in both markets, closing at £22 10s in London at $5 10@5 20 in the local market. Iron closed at 50s 3d in Glasgow and at 43s 3d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $13 75@14 25; No. 2 foundry northern at $13 25@13 75; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $13 50@13 75.

LARGE DEAL IN LAWRENCEVILLE

Negotiations Are On for the Sale of the Protestant Home for Incurables.

BENEFITS OF NEW CAR LINE

A new offer has been submitted, it is said, for the property of the Protestant Home for Incurables, in the Eighteenth ward, and negotiations for its sale may be closed within a short time. The property includes about 14 acres and extends from Forty-fifth to Fifty-sixth streets, between Butler and Celadine streets. The frontage in Butler street is about 525 feet, and the average depth is 1250 feet. The north end of the property is level and a small part of the south end, on top of the hill, is also well adapted for plotting for lots. On the tract is erected a four-story brick building. The land is considered worth about $5,000 an acre for lot purposes, and with the building the property would figure at something like $90,000. Last spring the home received a good offer for the property and began to look about for another site. Property beyond Wilkinsburg is reported to be the choice of the officials of the home providing the present deal for the Lawrenceville holdings goes through.

New Car Line Is Welcomed.

The letting of the contract for four miles of electric street car line to connect West View and Bellevue, announced yesterday in The Gazette, was welcomed by many property owners and real estate brokers who have watched this section with interest for years. Within this loop which will thus be formed there is some of the best frontage to be found around the two cities. Nothing but a lack of adequate street car facilities has held the property back thus long and with the starting of the new road next spring, a speculative boom in this district is looked for. The new line will also add much to the value of property along the eastern line of Bellevue, which is now a half mile from the street car line. By making a loop line it will relieve the traffic on the present Bellevue line and also afford the residents of a large part of Allegheny the opportunity to go to Bellevue direct, instead of having to transfer at Ohio street, in Allegheny, as now.

The buyer of the McKelvey frontage in Sewickley, sold some time ago, proves to be George Lawson, a North side business man. Mr. Lawson has already started to improve the large preparatory to building a number of good houses. Several feet are being cut off the north side of the property is being terraced along River and Chadwick avenues. Three Pompeian brick houses, to cost $7,000 each, will soon be started.

Good Sale in Braddock.

U. G. Williams of the Turtle Creek Savings and Trust Company has sold to F. Weintraub the Braddock corner, property 25x132 feet in the south side of Braddock avenue, west of Ninth street, Braddock, for $24,250. The lot is improved with a two-story brick business block which rents for about $85 a month.

Henry Hartman has got title from the Shaw estate to a tract of 8.5 acres in the Eighteenth ward, the price being $20,000. The land is situated a short distance west of the Morningside road and adjoins William Adams' holdings. It was bought for an investment and will be plotted if a street car line is built through this district. Other property was given in part payment.

The possibility of a big apartment house on the William Witherow lot in Forbes street, near Morewood avenue, may still become a reality. When Mr. Witherow sold the property some time ago to a local attorney, the story of an apartment house to be erected was generally discredited, as one other similar proposition announced last year had fallen through. But a company of New York capitalists are now considering the proposition and may decide to build on the lot this fall. The location, among some of the finest homes in the city, makes such a project decidedly interesting.

More Brokers Start Business.

A new real estate firm, to be known as Lappe & Kumer, has opened offices at 218 Fourth avenue. The members of the firm are A. J. Lappe and H. J. Kumer. Mr. Lappe is a member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange and has been a leading broker in the city for years. Mr. Kumer has been in the banking business 19 years, having been formerly associated with the German National bank, and later with the Peoples Trust Company on the South Side as cashier. In addition to doing a general real estate, mortgage and insurance business, the firm will make a specialty of bonds and investments of all kinds.

Bond street: George B. Kelley sold for Mrs. M. Brinker to a local business man, a frame house on a lot 25x130 feet in the south side of Bond street, near North Highland avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $4,500.

Holmes street: John Sykes sold for Peter Yanson to Anthony Leshinak, an improved lot, 20x100 feet, in Holmes street for $1,700.

Boquet street: William S. Glazier sold to George W. Young an improved lot, 31x175 feet, in Boquet street, near Frazier street, Fourteenth ward, for $3,200.

Shakespeare street: H. K. Porter sold to J. P. Saunders an improved lot, 100x115 feet, in Shakespeare street, Twentieth ward, for $6,500.

Alder street: Ann J. Ferguson estate sold to Ida S. Beaumont an improved lot, 27.5x121 feet in Alder street, Twentieth ward, for $7,000.

Building permits were granted in Pittsburgh yesterday as follows: To St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal congregation for a brick and stone parsonage at Morewood and Center avenues, to cost $7,500; to Harry G. Porterfield for a brick veneered house in Kentucky avenue, $6,500; to Dr. J. F. Shafer for an automobile barn in Dunmboyle street, $3,800; to W. G. Heins, four brick store rooms in Homewood avenue, $6,500.

CHEESE PRICES GO UP; CANTALOUPES LOWER

Poultry Is Wanted—Oranges Are Hard to Get—Hay and Oats Are Higher.

The local cheese market has been looking up for some time and quotations are advanced on Ohio and New York creams. The demand is satisfactory and offerings are none too liberal. Butter is steady and eggs continue strong and are badly wanted. Poultry is in good request, especially heavy springers and hens. There was no change in groceries yesterday, flour holding on firm without advancing. Sugar is ruling as active as ever.

The produce market has been pretty quiet during the past three days. At this season of the year there are few changes in quotations as a rule. However, cantaloupes declined sharply yesterday; receipts were about 10 cars, making a total of about 40 cars in the yards. Demand is fully good and the stock will last three weeks more.

Peaches seem to be wanted considerably; receipts yesterday were 10 cars, making a total of about 20 cars on hand. Vegetables are pretty steady, but the tendency on most of these products is downward. Huckleberries and elderberries are still on the market and command the same prices that they did two weeks ago. Oranges are nearly out of the market but bananas are plentiful. Grapes are now cutting a figure and receipts are ample.

Hay advanced yesterday. No. 1 timothy is offering to trade outside the city around $13. Oats are quoted higher and are wanted. Straw is in good demand, according to reports yesterday, although the opposite is usually true of straw at this time of the year. Corn is rather dull, especially ear.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania, 22 cars hay, 10 cars oats, 5 cars feed, 2 cars corn, 1 car straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 6 cars oats, 3 cars hay, 1 car straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car hay, 1 car feed.

IRON MARKET SLOW IN RESPONDING TO CONDITIONS

Current Business Is Not Keeping Pace With Improvement in Financial Circles.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The weekly pig iron report of Rogers, Brown & Co., summarizes the situation as follows:

Surprise is expressed in more than one quarter at the apparent tardiness of the iron market in responding to the improved conditions in financial circles and better sentiment prevailing generally. While the foundations in iron are firmer and the feeling generally more hopeful, it cannot be said that the current business has yet felt much if any impetus. Buyers are not seeking to contract ahead very much, and are ordering in as small quantities as possible for their current needs. There are enough furnaces eager to keep their yards clear to prevent any improvement in prices.

On the other side of the account it can be said that the calls for deliveries on current contracts are more frequent and urgent. There is evidence that consumption is increasing with the foundries and mills. Furnaces are backed up, generally speaking, better than they have been for months, and it would not take many more orders to create the conditions for an advance. Advices from abroad tell of a distinctly better feeling in the iron and steel markets of Great Britain, where depression has ruled for a couple of years. Sales are heavier and prices firm. The German trade is also active. This has a bearing upon our export business, which is reported as steadily improving.

Want to Charter a Mission.

Application will be made in the county courts shortly for a charter for the Jacks Run Mission Sunday school, an offspring of the Bellevue Presbyterian church. The little school is situated in Ross township and was started three years ago by several prominent members of the Bellevue church. It will be known as the Jacks Run Presbyterian Sabbath School.

WHEAT PRICES BREAK ON HEAVY LIQUIDATION

Warmer Weather and Lower Foreign Prices Were Also Important Factors.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—A break of 2c occurred in wheat prices here today as a result of heavy liquidation due to warmer weather and to lower prices in foreign grain markets. The market closed almost at the lowest point. Corn was down 1@1¼c. Oats were a shade higher and provisions unchanged to 5@7½c lower.

From start to finish the wheat market was characterized by extreme weakness. A belief that the present bull campaign had reached its zenith apparently prevailed quite generally in the pit and as a result the market was subjected to heavy realizing sales throughout the session. Warmer weather in the west and northwest was probably the most influential factor affecting the market. The improvement in wheat conditions together with lower cables caused liberal selling at the opening and initial sales were made at a considerable decline from yesterday's closing quotations. December being down ¼@¾c to ⅞@⅞c at $1 14¾@1 15⅛. May opened ⅝@⅞c to ⅞@⅞c lower at $1 16½@1 16⅝. A slight rally occurred soon after the opening on covering by shorts, the May option advancing to $1 18¾. The rally was only momentary, however, the market soon weakening again under free offerings. Weakness of wheat markets in the northwest was a powerful influence in the situation during the latter part of the day. A decline of 4c in cash prices at Duluth and a sharp break in values at Minneapolis seemed to presage a more liberal country movement in that section. A report of a St. Louis trade journal was construed as bearish, the announcement being made that weather conditions were extremely favorable for seeding operations, and that a large acreage was to be sowed. Before the declining tendency was checked prices were fully 2c below the high point of the day. December sold off to $1 13 and May to $1 14⅝. Final quotations on December were at $1 13¾@1 13¾. May closed at $1 14¾@1 15. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 46,000 bushels. Exports for the week, according to Bradstreets, were equal to 936,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 952,900 bushels, compared with 1,057,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 574 cars, against 424 cars last week and 579 cars a year ago. Prospects of better weather, continued large primary receipts and the slump in wheat were the factors that accounted for a break of 1c in the price of corn. The opinion seemed to prevail that the corn crop was practically out of danger. Longs were liberal sellers throughout the entire day. December opened ⅛@¼c to ⅛@¼c lower at 51¾@52c, sold between 50⅝c and 52⅛c, and closed at 51⅛c. Local receipts were 505 cars, with 38 of contract grade.

In spite of the weakness of wheat and corn the oats market held steady. The volume of business was light, trading being confined mainly to local traders. December opened ¼c lower at 32¼@32⅝c, sold up to 32¾c and closed at the top. Local receipts were 112 cars.

Influenced by the weakness of corn and by the continued liquidation of October holdings the provision market had an easier undertone. Trading was quiet. At the close January pork was down 2½@5c at $12 75. Lard was off 5@7½c at $7 10@7 12½. Ribs were unchanged at $6 67½@6 67½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 84 cars; corn, 308 cars; oats, 139 cars; hogs, 11,000 head.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The Commercial Bulletin will say on Saturday: The demand for wool is as acute as ever. Large manufacturers continue their operations, having acquired goodsized blocks of territory and medium fleeces during the week. There has been considerable speculation in scoured wools between dealers and close to 5,000 bags of the same changed hands at prices showing a liberal advance from those of a few weeks ago. The market for all grades is very firm. Fractional advances in greasy territories are reported and the tendency of all quotations is steadily upward. Stocks and selections are getting poorer and deliveries this week are over 2,500,000 pounds in excess of the receipts.

The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 31, 1903, according to the same authority, are 160,104,666 pounds, against 165,936,650 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 256,365,527 pounds, against 226,846,824 pounds for the same period last year.

BUSINESS ADVANCE IS SLOW BUT POSITIVE

Strength of Securities Indicates Faith of the Financial World—Good Prices Prevail.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Industrial and commercial progress is slow, but none the less definite. Low temperature and some injury to crops proved the only adverse influence of the week and this has little effect upon manufacturers and traders, who have started to prepare for increased business. Buyers of drygoods, clothing and millinery are notably active in placing orders, and other staple lines also feel the effect of gradually expanding confidence. Even if the official crop estimates of September 1 have to be moderately reduced because of bad weather since that date, there is full compensation to growers in the enhanced prices, and the strength of securities indicates the faith of the financial world. Many mills and furnaces have resumed because of new orders or adjustment of wage scales, and prices are steadier in most cases, with a general advance in footwear. It is not unusual to hear fall trade spoken of as fully equal to last year's, although collections are not as prompt as they were at this time in 1903, yet there is occasional complaint and earnings in September were 5 per cent larger than a year ago.

It is not yet possible to report any material expansion in the demand for steel products as a result of new price lists. Disappointment has been experienced by those who looked for an immediate rush of orders, yet the business is undoubtedly coming forward, several departments preparing for activity in a manner that denotes great confidence in the future. Several large orders for foundry and forge pig iron have been placed, while other contracts are still pending.

Evidence that buyers are becoming apprehensive regarding the scarcity of cotton goods tends to encourage the feeling that the mills will soon be called upon for liberal shipments. Yet the present condition of this industry is no stronger. In the woolen division there was decided improvement in dress goods, and fair duplicate orders were received in other lines. Footwear manufacturers are still receiving supplementary orders for late fall shipment and plants are in full operation, as a rule, while producers are securing slightly higher prices. At the easier terms there has appeared a liberal demand for Chicago packer hides, fully 100,000 being sold during the week. No recovery in price is noted, however, and foreign dry hides are barely steady. Leather is selling more freely, all lines showing improvement, except glazed kid, of which the output is being curtailed.

Failures this week amounted to 224 in the United States, against 219 last year, and 21 in Canada, compared with 19 a year ago.

Bradstreets tomorrow will say:

"Wheat (including flour) exports for the week ending September 15, aggregate 935,834 bushels, against 1,965,621 last week, 1,903,083 this week last year, 5,415,322 in 1902 and 5,849,574 in 1901. From July 1 to date the exports aggregate 15,336,117 bushels against 53,-104,251 last year, 53,953,065 in 1902 and 69,-696,753 in 1901. Corn exports for the week aggregate 439,158 bushels, against 474,231 last week, 787,167 a year ago, 460,508 in 1902 and 611,258 in 1901. From

MITCHELL'S VISIT STRENGTHENS MEN

German Soft Coal Miners Now Feel Powerful Enough to Go on Strike.

OPERATORS ARE ADAMANT

By MALCOLM CLARKE.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—It looks as if the visit of John Mitchell, the great American labor leader, is to be followed by a strike of all the coal miners in the soft coal district. It is not thought that the leader of the American coal miners, who successfully carried through the great strike in the United States some years ago, has directly done anything to encourage his brethren in this country to strike, but it is nevertheless a fact that his very presence among these workers resulted in a large increase in the membership of the union and the strong feeling of solidarity among the miners, and ever since the men first learned the extent of their power they have been preparing for a strike and looking for an opportunity.

This has now come, as a miner has been summarily discharged by the mine owners for making a socialistic speech. The miners have now sent a demand to the owners that the man be reinstated or a general strike will follow. The owners declare that they will not be dictated to by their men, and that, although the time is very well chosen by the miners for a strike, as the visible supply of mined coal is very small and winter is approaching, they will rather face a strike now and have the question settled as to who is to be the master than keep on waiting and fearing a strike which everybody knows must come.

FEARS NIAGARA MAY GO DRY IN 3,500 YEARS

Brooklyn Scientist Gives Reasons for This Calamitous Possibility at Geographic Congress.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The International Geographic congress met here today. Prof. Grove Karl Gilbert of Brooklyn spoke on the formation of Niagara Falls and the gorge. He deprecated the use of the great water power of Niagara for utilitarian purposes, and expressed the hope that the natural beauty of the great cataract would ever be saved.

At the end of the glacial period, Prof. Gilbert said, the land was tilted as a result of the retreat of the ice. If this tilting continues Lake Erie will in the course of time find another outlet and Niagara Falls will be dry. This change would be wrought in possibly 3,500 years.

The scientists left for Chicago tonight, where another meeting will be held. From there they will go to St. Louis, hold another session and see the exposition.

KAISER BUILDS UP HIS FLEET

Organizing Adjunct to the Navy. Places Officer on Hamburg-American Board.

PEOPLE MAY NOT BE PLEASED

By MALCOLM CLARKE.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Little by little the kaiser is organizing a strong fleet of auxiliary cruisers for the German navy, which will be of great value in case of a war. Both the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American Steamship companies are obliged to place all their largest and fastest vessels at the disposal of the government should a war break out; but, not satisfied with this the kaiser, according to an official announcement in today's papers, has placed a naval officer, Commodore Von Grumme, on the board of directors of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company.

In doing so he says that it is done to show his great admiration for this, the largest steamship company in the world, which has done more to extend German commerce than any other concern in the country, but it is a great question whether the people of Hamburg will look at the appointment in this light. The citizens of Hamburg and Bremen, the two great free and independent German cities, have always been proud of their privileged position within the empire and, as it is certain that the directors of the steamship company had never asked the kaiser to appoint any navy officer as special director, it is safe to say that they will not easily forgive what they undoubtedly will consider an intrusion.

Commodore Von Grumme has for many years been the kaiser's favorite adjutant and will be remembered by many Americans, as he accompanied Prince Henry on his trip to the United States.

WANT CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL

Pittsburgh Diocese Officials Planning to Establish Such an Institution in This City.

Plans for the establishment of a Catholic high school for the pupils of the parochial schools of the local diocese are being considered by the Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, bishop of Pittsburgh, and the diocesan school board. The Rev. Thomas Devlin, pastor of the Holy Cross Catholic church, South Thirty-fourth street, has been appointed superintendent of parochial schools. A site for the building is being looked for in Pittsburgh. When the cathedral property in Bellevue was purchased, the portion fronting in Dithridge street was considered as possibly available as a site for a high school.

A high school for parochial school pupils is not a new project. Other institutions were, however, considered more necessary than a Catholic high school and while these were being founded and paid for the parish schools were being raised to a higher standard. In the meantime pupils graduating from the parochial schools were being sent to the public high school.

At the opening of the present school year the parochial schools reported an attendance of 17,000 pupils. The establishment of the high school will not likely take place till after the new St. Paul's cathedral in Bellefield is completed. It is probable that one of the Catholic brotherhoods, which devotes all their time to teaching, will furnish the teachers for the boy's department of the new school.

The loss, including contents, will reach nearly $10,000. Less than one-fourth is covered by insurance.

M'ADOO IS SHOCKED AT CRIME IN GOTHAM

Murders and Burglaries Are Common and Attacks on Women Quite Frequent—Must Be Stopped.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Commissioner McAdoo was shocked today when he received a record of crimes committed in the city during the month of August. The list included 440 felonies of the higher grades of crimes, 24 of which were murders and 258 were burglaries.

"It is an outrage," said the commissioner, "that women should be attacked so frequently in a city like New York, and I will strain every effort to see that my men perform better and more efficient service.

"I have just issued an order to all my police captains that they must make a daily report to me on what they do in their precincts. I want to know how often they go out on patrol and what surveillance they place over their men. Hitherto the reports of the captains have not been satisfactory, and I am altogether displeased with the way things are running. Now, with these daily reports I will be able to keep careful tab on every police captain in the greater city and know whether or not he is exercising the care he should in the command of his precinct."

I went to sleep that night and awoke next day much relieved and I have gotten entirely over the Asthma. It is now nine years since I was cured."

Mr. W. Sererus, Cavalier, N. D., says: "I was troubled with asthma for 20 years, about 8 years ago I started to use your Asthma Cure, and have not had an attack for six years."
